Go See Alaska.
And Stop in Chicago.
How to Tax Real Estate.
A 74-Year-Old Heart.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

SEE ALASKA, and, at the same time, see the whole United States. Go through the Panama Canal on a big boat and see what men can do when they use a nation's power. Or travel by rail, studying the cities of the country, or take your car, which goes everywhere and stops where you choose, or fly, and see the world from above.

SEE ALASKA, a magnificent empire far away in the northwest. See what Seward bought for the United States for $7,200,000. A purchase that was called "Seward's Folly." They took small change like $7,200,000 seriously in those days.

But it was profitable "folly." Alaska has yielded $419,791,000 in gold, more than fifty times Alaska's cost alone. The Juneau Empire, which ought to know, estimates that Alaska has been worth to the United States two thousand five hundred million dollars, after substracting the cost price. The self-supporting reindeers alone will more than pay for Alaska.

MANY RECENT arrivals are in Alaska, exploring, searching, prospecting, "washing" gold, and many more are on the way as Juneau celebrates the 67th anniversary of Alaska's purchase with a new gold rush.

You can find many things better than gold in Alaska, rich land, for one thing, beautiful, romantic home sites, and water power that will be valuable forever, unlike the gold mine, that runs out.

Those that have youth, energy, time to spare, and enough money to take them there and back, might well make that Alaska trip, even though they should find nothing to add to the contents of their pocketbook. A trip across this broad continent and up and down in it will improve any American.

IF YOU go to Alaska from anywhere east or southeast of Chicago, don't fail to see the wonderful "Century of Progress" Exposition that will soon open for the second season.

However you go, and whenever you go to the Pacific Coast, don't fail to see all of that coast, from the northern boundary of Mexico to the southern boundary of Canada.

You can go by rail or automobile all the way from San Diego on the south to British Columbia on the north. Your automobile will take you more than a thousand miles along the edge of the Pacific Ocean, on the most beautiful road in the world, with which no other can even feebly compare.

AND REMEMBER that the Pacific Ocean is the important ocean, destined in future to be as far in importance above the Atlantic as the Atlantic is now above the Mediterranean. The latter once was the center of everything, while the Atlantic was feared by mariners that had no compass, and the Pacific was not even known to the western world.

BIG NEW YORK CITY will re-assess its property, to learn what its over-assessed real estate is really worth. Little of it would sell now for more than half the amount on which the city collects taxes. Just how Mayor LaGuardia will manage to get along on taxes collected on an honest basis, if they are so collected, is hard to see.

"In your tax affairs, don't deal with fixers."

Hitherto, a man who thought he paid too heavy taxes had no chance of a fair hearing, unless he went to see a fixer, always a lawyer, of course, because lawyers, according to law, can engage in practices that would mean the penitentiary for others.

The fixer was supposed to get your assessment cut down, for a substantial sum. He divided that sum with the grafting politician that helped to make his fixing successful.

IN HIS poem beginning "dear friend, thou art lost," Heine reminds his friend that fuersten haben lange arme, "princes have long arms."

Samuel Insull, of Chicago, learns that Uncle Sam has long arms also, and can reach out far to get what he wants.

Mr. Insull thought himself safe on his chartered Greek tramp steamer, riding at anchor under the walls of Istanbul, on the little strip of water that separates Europe from Asia.

But Uncle Sam reached out his long arm, and Mr. Insull is arrested by the Turkish government, and unless the Chicago utilities magnate is able to perform some new wonder, his arrest probably means the last active chapter in his career.

Mr. Insull is seventy-four years old, a man of intense pride, nourished and increased by success, through years of unquestioned domination. It will be hard for a heart seventy-four years old to stand the strain that will be put upon him.

TWO HUNDRED thousand gathered in Rome to cheer Pope Pius at the end of a solemn ceremony, establishing and confirming miracles performed by Don Giovanni Bosco, enrolling his name in the calendar of saints.

A humble priest of Turin, in comparatively modern times, Father Bosco took the side of the miserable and poor so violently that he narrowly escaped being confined in an insane asylum, as a lunatic.

Included in the great crowd that witnessed the appearance of Pope Pius, as he gave to all his blessing from the balcony of St. Peter's, were twenty European princes, among them Um-

SCULLY HIT IN DAMAGE SUIT ROW

City Solicitor Called In Conflict Over Big Verdicts Loss

City Solicitor Cornelius D. Scully was called on the carpet by Council today as a result of the controversy between the City Law Department and Common Pleas Court over the trial of damage cases against the city.

Council asked for an explanation of the way in which the department had handled cases brought against the ctiy by the Pitsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company and the Westinghouse Airbrake Company.

In the warehouse and transfer company unit, Judge Elder Marshall criticized the city for putting inexperienced lawyers on the case.

Councilman William A. Magee, himself a lawyer, said today:

"No new lawyer can try a case of this kind. It's not the sort of a case that a lawyer can try cold. I think Scully used poor judgment."

Councilman Thomas J. Gallagher defended the Law Department. Solicitor Scully was to appear later.

The warehouse and transfer company had won a verdict of $151,335 against the city, and the Westinghouse company a verdict of $173,600.

COUNTY PUSHES WORKS LOAN

Appointment of a delegation of prominent Allegheny County residents to learn in Washington what action can be expected on the county's application for a public works loan was planned today by the County Commissioners.

It was learned the Commissioners plan to appoint today or tomorrow members of the Public Works Authority who will have charge of the county works projects. It was believed Commissioner C. C. McGovern plans to ask Joseph C. Trees, state PWA head, to serve on the authority. It was learned Commissioner W. D. Mansfield will submit the name of former Mayor John S. Herron. The choice of Commissioner C. M. Bar was unknown, but there was speculation that he may name Press Dowler, an architect.

In moving that a delegation go to Washington to learn the status of the loan, McGovern said it should include at least one person who may be a member of the authority. Among prospective members of the delegation he mentioned were Trees, Walter Rosenbaum and A. H. Burchfield.

The Commissioners extended 15 days the period of employment of engineers and others preparing for operation of the authority.

Bank Pay-off, Freeing Billions Held Assured

Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The McLeod national bank payoff bill will soon become law, according to Representative McLeod (Rep.), of Michigan, its author.

After weeks of hearings the House banking and currency subcommittee is prepared to report the measure today and begin the legislative drive to release more than 1,000 million dollars frozen in closed banks. Its favorable report is assured.

BENEFITS MILLIONS

Calling the measure "the best method of controlled inflation yet suggested," Representative McLeod said:

"More than 10 million people will be benefited by this bill. It will free from closed Federal Reserve member banks 925 million dollars and from all national banks far in excess of 1,000 million dollars.

"It is the only fair thing for the government to do.

"The bill authorizes the RFC to assume the assets of closed national banks at their face value. The money will be loaned for 10 years at 4 per cent interest. The government loses nothing, and every county, city and state in the country will reap untold benefits.

"Markets will boom. Mortgages and municipal bonds will become valuable. Many persons are today on relief rolls while their funds are held in the vaults of closed banks.

"The government has led people to believe that it was responsible for the funds in national banks. It now has a moral obligation to make that belief good.

BANKS RESPONSIBLE

"Most of the people who lost money through bank closings are now being penalized for their thrift. The gross unfairness of this is apparent.

"I hope the committee reports the bill without any changes. To accomplish what it intends it is necessary for the measure to provide for 100 per cent payoff.

"The banks are responsible for 100 per cent of the money deposited in them.

"There must be no discrimination in the payoff. If the bill should be made less than a 100 per cent bill, it is necessary to give every depositor the same percentage of his deposits no matter how much or how little he has in the bank.

"There is just as much responsibility toward the man with $10,000 as the man with $10 in a closed band, or vice versa."

TURKS DEAF TO INSULL PLEAS

In Tears as Tribunal Bars Last Avenue To Liberty

ISTANBUL, April 3.—(AP.)—The last door to the possible escape of Samuel Insull from extradition to the United States was slammed shut today.

The white-haired fugitive was refused the right of appeal from the decision of the third penal tribunal upon which the Turkish cabinet's decision to extradite him was based.

Thus it was determined definitely that he must remain here until he is transferred to the custody of United States government agents.

M. Kena, public prosecutor, explained that the third tribunal's decision that he could legally be extradited constituted merely a statement of fact and was not a verdict. Hence, he said, no appeal could be entertained.

LAWYERS MOBILIZE

The announcement was made amid an extraordinary mobilization of legal strength for a finish fight in Insull's behalf. Greek lawyers rushed here from Athens. Others were retained in Istanbul.

Despite the apparently insurmountable odds, they had prepared to battle to the last ditch against both the arrest of the weeping Chicagoan, held today in the hospital room of the House of Detention under what is called "house arrest," and his actual extradition.

Turkey considers the Insull case closed. After authorities had said Insull would be denied the right of appeal, the court made it final by definitely ruling against any new move.

'COME AND GET HIM'

After Insull had been lodged in a little one-windowed cell, the American government was invited last night, in effect, to "come and get" him.

Although he was granted liberties not often accorded other prisoners—because of his 74 years and his ill health—Insull found his plainly furnished quarters a cheerless place.

The only furniture in the cell to which he was assigned yesterday was a bed, a table and a chair. The House of Detention is situated between the Mosque of St. Sophia and the Blue Mosque of the Sultan Ahmed.

Insull wept openly as they took him away from the hotel in which he had been held under police surveillance after his formal arrest yesterday.

For dinner last night he had curds, two eggs and mineral water—contrasting with the champagne and caviar of his first evening ashore.

U. S. Hastens Legal Steps For Insull's Return

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(INS.)—State Department officials today moved swiftly to enact the final legal steps which will place Samuel Insull, former Chicago utility magnate, definitely in the hands of the American government.

Arrangements were made with the aid of the Department of Justice to cable a presidential warrant authorizing a representative of the American government to take Insull into custody.

Rumania Bans Insull Envoy

CONSTANTZA, Rumania, April 3.—(INS.)—Mme. Coyomoudjoglou, wife of a Bagdad merchant and a close friend of Samuel Insull, was refused permission to land when she arrived today, intent upon providing a Rumanian haven for the indicted American.

It had been reported Mme. Coyomoudjoglou planned to meet Mme. Lupescu, sweetheart of King Carol, to urge her to induce Carol to allow Insull refuge in Rumania.

Fortune Hunters Pursuing Widow

ERIE, April 3.—(AP.)—Besieged by offers of matrimony since winning $30,000 on a Canadian sweepstakes ticket, Mrs. Hannah Watterbury, Boston (Mass.) widow, has summoned her son home to protect her.

11 HURT AS MINE RIOT ENDS

By J. J. KULAS
Staff Correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 3.—Tumult and rioting in Fayette's coal fields had ceased today as the great army of miners resumed work in the pits.

But in the wake of the brawls and bloodshed which marred yesterday's celebration of the thirty-sixth anniversary of the granting of the eight-hour day there were 11 riot victims in Uniontown Hospital, one so critically injured that he may die.

Included in the list of hospital patients is a woman, Mrs. Daniel Harshman, 37, of Footedale, beaten over the head with a gun in a riot at Footedale.

QUIT RIOT SCENE

It was early this morning before the last of the thousands of miners and their wives and children who had gathered here yesterday straggled away to the mine villages, leaving this scene of rioting and gunfire.

Other disturbances had been reported from surrounding vil-

Refuses to Allow Removal of Son To New York

International News Service.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 3.—A mother's love and hope, nourished on the simple faith that God will protect her son, today thwarted efforts to take 7-year-old Benny Hendricks to New York City where great doctors could continue the grim battle with death to save his frail body from turning into stone.

Tragedy is not new to Mrs. Theresa Hendricks, Benny's mother. Five years ago her husband was killed in a mine accident. With her eldest son at her side to interpret as she spoke in Polish, she told International News Service:

"If they can't cure him at the hospital in Wilkes-Barre, I'll take him home with me.

"I couldn't let him be taken to New York. I wouldn't be able to see him then like I do now."

MOTHER TERRIFIED

Mrs. Hendricks seemed terrified. She was afraid, she said, they might harm her boy in New York.

The widow expressed complete confidence in Dr. H. Alexander Smith, head of the orthopedic ward, who is treating Benny here.

Dr. George B. Dorff, noted New York specialist, who came here by airplane at the request of the New York American but was denied permission by Dr. Smith to examine the boy, said he was planning to return to New York tonight.

BENNY SECLUDED

Benny, meanwhile, was kept closely secluded in the children's ward. Gifts and letters have been arriving for him daily from all sections of the country.

The ossification process has already solidified his back and he is unable to turn his head without turning the entire body. Benny's arms from the elbow down appear normal.

Physicians predict only two fates for Benny. One is death. The other is a slowly ebbing life in a body of stone.

(Little Benny, his body turned to stone, may live many years. Read about those famous ossified men—two still living today—and also about a 24-year-old Ohio State University student whose case is similar to little Benny's. See Page 9.)

RIVERA TARGET; SUSPECT NAZIS

International News Service.

MEXICO CITY, April 3.—Working on the suspicion that Nazi sympathizers were responsible, police today sought gunmen who fired two shots into the bedroom of Diego Rivera, famous Mexican Communist artist.

Rivera, whose paintings in Rockefeller City, in New York, caused widespread comment which resulted in the removal of some of them, told police he had received several threatening letters from pro-Nazis who resented his Hitler mural in Rockefeller City.

The bullets entered through different windows of the painter's home, flattening against the wall. They were dum dum bullets.

Commission Calls Service Companie To Reduce Profits

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, April 3. — The Pennsylvania Public Service Commission on its own volition today undertook a campaign by which it hopes to force every utility company in the state to reduce its rates to a point where the net return will be only 6 per cent instead of 7 per cent as at present.

By a unanimous vote of its six members the commission today adopted a resolution establishing 6 per cent as a fair and reasonable return for utilities as long as present economic conditions prevail.

Representatives of public service companies earning more than 6 per cent on the value of their property, under terms of the resolution, will be invited to meet with the commission in informal conferences to revise rate structures to conform with the newly established return.

4,200 COMPANIES

Among companies affected by the order are those furnishing telephone, light, heat, water, gas and transportation service to the general public.

Annual reports of all the nearly 4,200 utility companies in Pennsylvania under the commission's jurisdiction were filed by March 31. The resolution instructed the commission's Bureau of Accounts, Rates and Statistics to base the studies on which the new rates will be fixed on these 1932 reports.

The commission said that where informal conferences failed to produce the desired results further action will be taken.

SUPREME COURT CITED

Declaring the commission felt it should take judicial notice of prevailing economic conditions, the resolution cited a United States Supreme Court ruling as

Lillian Russell Ring Again in Court

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—The three-year-old case in which Mrs. Dorothy Russell O'Reilly Calvit, daughter of the late Lillian Russell, is attempting to obtain possession of a $50,000 ring from Mrs. Dorothy Benjamin Caruso Holder, widow of Enrico Caruso, came up again yesterday in court.

Justice Alfred Frankenthaler reserved decision on the application of Mrs. Calvit for an order which would require Mrs. Holder to submit to an examination before trial.

First April Shower Tardy, But Brewing

April's first shower in Pittsburgh isn't due for at least another 24 hours, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman. Meanwhile the weather will continue dry with moderate temperature, despite the presence of clouds.

A rainstorm has been reported in the West, but won't reach the Pittsburgh territory for another day, the weather man said.

Sally Eiler's Mate Tells Of Kisses in Suit

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—(AP.)—Blonde Sally Eilers of the films smiled encouragement at her husband, Harry Joe Brown, producer and director, as he told in court of his romance with Marjorie Whiteis, another actress, who is seeking $100,000 for breach of promise.

Known on the screen as Marjorie Gay, Miss Whiteis seemed to hang on Brown's words. She finally wept.

To a jury of seven women and five men, Brown, having denied promising to marry Miss Whiteis, said they met in the summer of 1928 and were estranged in the summer of 1929.

He said:

"We just stopped, there was no quarrel. We had quarreled a few times before, though."

Miss Whiteis wept some more.

He was asked:

Pressed for details of the romance, Brown said later:

"I kissed her—not as a habit but once in a while."

"Did you call her affectionate names?"

"What do you mean, affectionate names?"

"Well, dear, for instance."

"Yes, I called her dear."

"Did you call her honey?"

"No! Not that wishy-washy word!"

Miss Eilers laughed. Miss Whiteis wept anew.

"Did you call her sweetheart?"

"Yes, but I call all the girls around the lot sweetheart. It doesn't mean a thing."

Brown said he lent Miss Whiteis money "on two or three occasions He testified:

265 Boys Safe as Fire Sweeps Reformatory

Fire early today destroyed three school buildings and damaged the roof of the main school building of the Allegheny County Industrial and Training School for Boys off the Perry Highway, near Warrendale.

The school is popularly known as Thornhill.

Supt. D. L. Rees was awakened by a telephone call from an employe at 4 a. m. Through his window he saw flames sweeping over the two manual training shops and a schoolroom building and threatening the main structure.

Mr. Rees called firemen. Volunteer units responded from Wexford, Perrysville, Ingomar, Highland Station and Valencia. Later two Pittsburgh companies sped 14 miles to the scene.

The smaller buildings beyond saving, firemen concentrated on saving the main school building. Equipment was carried out.

Two hundred sixty-five boys, students of the school, remained in their cottages during the fire. Supt. Rees said there would be no classes for a week pending repairs to the big building.

N. Y. MOVES FOR BROAD INVESTIGATION OF UTILITIES

'REFORM' BILLS BATTLE WON BY LEHMAN

Senator Thayer Denies Improper Hook-Up With Power Firm

ALBANY, N. Y., April 3.—(AP.)—New York's Legislature apparently was moving today towards a sweeping investigation of virtually every phase of public utility operation in the Empire State.

Resolutions calling for the investigation were introduced last night with strong backing in both parties. The Democratic leadership pressed for immediate action in accordance with the expressed wish of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman. A Republican resolution declared a statewide demand existed for a full investigation.

THAYER INQUIRY

The Senate Judiciary Committee is ready to go ahead immediately with a separate investigation of letters said by the Federal Trade Commission to have been written by Senator Warren T. Thayer, Chateaugay Republican, to the Associated Gas and Electric Company. The writer of the letters asked about being reimbursed for expenses in a village campaign and expressed the hope his work in the Legislature was "satisfactory."

Thayer "indignantly" denied last night that he had ever been improperly influenced by any utility company. He formally invited a Senate inquiry.

The Judiciary Committee today reported Thayer's resolution proposing an investigation of himself. Adoption of the resolution by the Senate was expected later in the day. It is expected that public hearings will be started soon.

The general investigation proposed by leaders of both parties is intended to go much farther. If it is voted, a joint committee for the Senate and Assembly will inquire into rates, business practices and financing of every utility in the Empire State.

LEHMAN REQUEST

Gov. Lehman's specific request for a thorough probe into the legislative activities of any company also is incorporated into this plan.

Lehman won a victory at last night's session when the Senate Public Service Committee reported out his 11-point utility "reform" program. Officials and stockholders of the electric and gas companies lost a long and bitter fight to kill the Lehman bills in committee. They protested that the program is "ruinous."

As a result of the committee's action, the Lehman bills are on the Senate calendar today for the first time since the Governor began fighting for them early in 1933. Their purpose is to legalize municipal power plants and to give the Public Service Commission stronger control over rates and holding companies.

Norris Hints Power Trust Lobbying Hits Congress

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Discussing the Thayer revelations, Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, asked in the Senate:

"How many other key men does the power trust have in the New York Legislature and other legislatures all over the United States?"

He said the disclosure before the Trade Commission that Warren T. Thayer, New York State Senator, had received compensation from the Associated Gas and Electric Company had caused him to speculate "if the people are wondering whether some of their key men are not planted in the Congress of the United States." He said:

"There is not a state capitol in the country where the same sort of tactics is not used either by the Associated Gas and Electric Company or some other great member of the power trust."

At the same time, letters were introduced at the trade commission's investigation which purported to show the Edison Electric Institute had co-operated last year with propaganda activities of the Associated Gas and Electric Company against municipal ownership.

Transit Head Tells Council of Survey

Council's inquiry into the present activities of the City Transit Commission has brought them an invitation from Chairman George S. Davis to visit the commission's rooms on the ninth floor City-County Building, and see the work on a transit survey done with federal assistance. According to Davison, the transit question will probably be a very live one in Pittsburgh for some time to come.

the basis for its action. The ruling:

"A public utility is entitled to such rates as will permit it to earn a return on the value of property which it employs for the convenience of the public to that generally being made at the same time and in the same general part of the country on investments in other undertakings which are attended by corresponding risks and uncertainties."

The commission declared it had given long study to the new ruling before acting and had taken into consideration the rate of return investors may expect in present times upon securities of all types of business.

INVESTORS' POSITION

The commission took the same stand as did the United States Supreme Court in the position of investors in connection with rate reductions. It quoted from the Supreme Court decision as follows:

"By investments in a business dedicated to the public service, the owner must recognize that, as compared with investments in private business, he cannot expect either high or speculative dividends."

The motion offering the resolution for adoption was seconded by Commissioner P. Stephen Stahlnecker.

PLOT CHARGED TO BANKS

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Edward W. Backus, former president of the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company, told the Senate Banking Committee today that a number of banks headed by the Chase National of New York conspired to consummate a 70 million dollar "steal" of his concern.

Backus said a receivership of the company was forced in 1931, though it was solvent, by officials of the Chase bank, including Albert H. Wiggin, and the First National Bank of Boston.

He asked the committee to make a thorough inquiry to protect thousands of investors and workers in the company.

NEW TAX BILL FACES CHANGE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Amendments that would radically rewrite the 330 million dollar tax bill appear likely to keep the Senate busy for the rest of the week.

Chairman Harrison, of the Finance Committee, had the right of way at today's session in bringing forward the committee alterations that added about 72 million dollars in estimated revenue to the 258 million dollar measure passed by the House.

After that the field will be open for individual amendments, of which about 15 will be pushed forward. If all were adopted the income tax rate would be increased by 50 per cent and taxes on salaries and bonuses above $75,000 would reach 80 per cent.

DR. WIRT RAPS NRA AS PERIL

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The NRA has not created purchasing power, but has destroyed it by artificial price controls, Dr. William A. Wirt declared today in the second installment of his pamphlet, "America Must Lose."

Dr. Wirt is the Gary educator whose recent charge that "Brain Trusters" had told him President Roosevelt was "only the Kerensky" of an American revolution and would be followed by a Stalin created a furore in Congress.

Dr. Wirt today reiterated his opinion that recovery began April 19, 1933, the day America stopped pegging the dollar in foreign exchange. He added:

"Our NRA has not stimulated business, but stimulated people who can artificially control prices to raise them and destroy our ability to trade.

"The NRA has been destroying our 'purchasing power.'"

Scots Celebrate New Work on Liner

GLASGOW, April 3.—(AP.)—A kilted band playing "The Campbells Are Coming" today headed a march of 400 men to resume work on the giant Cunard liner "No. 534" on which construction had been stopped for two and a quarter years.

Brooklyn Man Hurt Near Ebensburg, Dies

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 3.—Gerald Sirch, 24, of Brooklyn, N. Y., died today, the result of injuries sustained Saturday when his automobile collided with a truck on the William Penn highway, near Ebensburg.

HERMIT SLAYING LINKED TO HEX

International News Service.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., April 3.—Police today pointed to strangely similar circumstances in the slaying of Aaron L. Day, 57-year-old recluse, in the mountainous section north of the city, and the "hex" killing of Mrs. Susan Mummey, in Ringtown Valley, Schuylkill County.

Albert Shinsky, of Shenandoah, 24-year-old jitney driver, has already confessed killing Mrs. Mummey to break a "hex" or "spell" he was convinced she had cast over him. The woman was killed by a "pumpkin" ball fired through the window of her home.

Day was killed by bullets fired through the kitchen windows of his home by a slayer believed to have hidden himself in a tree.

Unclaimed newspapers in a rural delivery mail box were the only clues by which police could fix the date of the slaying. A pocketbood which Day always carried was missing.

INDICT WARDEN IN PRISON PROBE

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Warden Joseph A. McCann, of Welfare Island, was indicted yesterday on a charge of criminal negligence. The penalty for conviction is $500 fine and a year in the penitentiary of which he is chief.

General Sessions Judge Corrigan received the indictment. The warden is to be arraigned before him today.

The indictment charges the warden failed to safeguard prison property, failed to segregate diseased inmates, allowed convicts to carry cell keys, and permitted traffic in contraband articles. Seventy-five witnesses testified to McCann's methods.

The indictment came from developments following the raid Correction Commissioner MacCormack made on the prison two months ago.

HOUSE CLEARS WOODRING

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—A report to the House holding above reproach the actions of Harry H. Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War, in connection with the purchase of $7,500,000 worth of Army airplanes was adopted unanimously today by a military affairs sub-committee.

The report also contended certain army officials for years had been ignoring the intent of Congress and the law by purchasing airplanes without competitive bidding.

Brewery Granted New Trial in Suit

Judge Elder W. Marshall today granted a new trial in the case of Peter Athas, of Columbus avenue, against the Fort Pitt Brewing Company. Athas recently won a verdict of $45,000 against the company for injuries received in 1927 when he was alleged to have been hurled from a ladder which was struck by a truck owned by the company.

EXCHANGE BILL PASSES FIRST HURDLE

Whitney's Request 'Shelved' Under House Action

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Stock market control legislation emerged successfully today from its first test in the Senate Banking Committee.

A motion by Senator Gore (Dem.), of Oklahoma, to eliminate the first section of the bill, outlining its purpose as a defense against attacks on its constitutionality, was rejected without a record vote after a warm discussion in executive session.

Meanwhile, the House Interstate Commerce Committee voted for "a statutory formula for margins." It also was studying the Fletcher-Reyburn measure.

Chairman Fletcher, of the Senate Committee, said he hoped to get the bill out of committee this week, and set Thursday for an all day session in an effort to speed action.

4 FIRMS RAISE AUTO PRICES

DETROIT, April 3.—(AP.)—Automobile price increases predicted several weeks ago were under way today with announcements by four companies of additions ranging from $25 to $130 on various models.

The companies announcing increases were Plymouth with an upturn of $35 on its standard model; Dodge with $45 on all types; Chrysler with an increase ranging from $40 on standard models to $130 on its higher priced types, and Studebaker with increases of $25 and $50 on two models.

While none of the General Motors divisions nor the Ford Motor Company were included in the announcements the belief in trade circles apparently is that several other manufacturers soon will announce upward revision of their price schedules.

The Studebaker increases were erroneously reported in yesterday's Sun-Telegraph as $125 and $500. The correct figures are $25 and $50.

WIRE CODE BAN ON BOYS ASKED

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—A request that boys under 16 be barred from employment as telegraph messengers was made to NRA today by Miss Grace Abbott, head of the children's bureau of the Labor Department.

Miss Abbott's testimony continued the public hearing on a proposed telegraph code, which yesterday developed a split between officials of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

Western Union declined to propose a code while Postal pressed demands for stringent control of competitive practices in telegraph, cable and radio communication.

Miss Abbott said a survey by her bureau showed that of 11,000 Western Union messengers and 5,000 Postal boys in the country, one-fourth were under 16, one-half between 16 and 18, and the remainder over 18.

RAIL SOLUTION SEEN NEAR

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—(AP.)—W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, sees solution of the railroad's problems in study of the question "along broad and comprehensive lines in co-operation with the co-ordinator." He said in the company's annual report:

"Railroad management is confident that such a study as contemplated in the emergency railroad transportation act will result in a regulatory policy that will insure them equality of opportunity to engage profitably in any kind of transportation service desired by the public."

Joseph B. Eastman, federal co-ordinator of transportation, is making a study of the nation's various transportation agencies and their problems.

Doctor's Slayer To Ask New Trial

READING, April 3.—(AP.)—Frances Sepse, 27-year-old convicted slayer of Dr. Paul Hess, will not be brought into court tomorrow to receive the life sentence voted her by a jury March 17. Defense attorneys announced last night they have changed their minds about waiving motions for a new trial. They added they will file a brief and list of exceptions based on the trial, during which the woman refused to testify in her own defense.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

MUG-WUMPS

WASHINGTON, April 3.

Mr. Roosevelt's Democratic congressmen are doing a lot of cloakroom growling these days about the Mug-Wumps.

That is the new name they have for the Brain Trusters, the Anthony Advocates and all the social-minded advisers surrounding the White House.

It sounds bad, but all it means is one who "belongs to a political party and reserves the right to independent action." That description fits the advisers better than anything they have been called previously, and they have been called a lot. However, it is an old political word and has accumulated some sinister implications, such as a hint of radicalism in its long career.

The Democratic congressmen, particularly a number of Southerners, offer the word in its most obnoxious sense.

More than anything else it shows the inner situation which has arisen between Congress and the White House.

RESISTANCE

The congressmen say they have been getting a lot of mail from home during the last few weeks, which has changed their minds about many things.

This mail has been continuously laudatory of the President, but increasingly critical of his advisers.

It has unquestionably encouraged Congress recently to resist some of the tendencies of the New Deal. At least it is the excuse Congressmen offer privately for the sharp overthrow of the President on his veto of the veterans and pay cut restorations. Off the floor they say that if the administration is going to 'throw all that money away on CWA" it can afford two hundred millions or more for the veterans and the government employes. Also "he is just listening to the Mug-Wumps; what do they know about politics?"

Those arguments had more influence than anything said openly in the debate.

COTTON

The same feeling was noticeable in Senate action on the Bankhead Cotton Control Bill. What the Senate did to that bill was a thinly concealed affront to the Wallace-Tugwell group sponsoring the measure. As passed, it would not control anything, except Wallace and Tugwell.

An amendment was inserted exempting the first six bales for every farmer. There are roughly about two million cotton farmers. The exemption therefore could theoretically apply to twelve million bales. Only thirteen million bales were produced last year.

In practice the exemptions would be much less because the bigger farmers produce the most cotton, but the example is striking proof of what the Senators thought about the AAA.

The AAA boys will have considerable difficulty getting the bill back in workable shape.

HINTS

In other smaller things, there has been a similar undercurrent of feeling. It seemed to be present in a much milder way in the general demand for revision of the original stock market bill.

It also is a likely explanation of why some Democrats were so eager to sponsor an investigation of the Brain Trust on the slightest excuse.

SILVER

The next thing on which an investigation is likely to break out in a serious way is silver.

Silverites are making the most of the undercurrent and are passing the word around that Mr. Roosevelt is being badly advised on that subject. Blame is being placed on Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and Profs. Warren and Rogers.

It is rather thin propaganda, but it is making headway in the Senate. There will be no surprise if the Senate takes the meaningless Dies Bill and tacks the important Wheeler nationalization scheme on it as an amendment.

That would not mean much more than another affront. Mr. Roosevelt would veto the plan even if the House approved, and it could not pass over a veto.

MANEUVER

When you boil all this sentiment down, you will see it does not exactly constitute a congressional revolt against the administration. It has the elements of a political maneuver, rather than a rebellion.

The Democratic Congressmen do not want to revolt against Mr. Roosevelt. He is still too popular for that. No attacks are being made on him, and most of the attacks on his advisers are indirect.

The movement has two purposes in one:

To make political hay for the coming elections out of such things as veterans, pay cuts and silver, and—

To blame it on the Mug-Wumps.

NOTES

Senator Wheeler has told newsmen he has insufficient votes to pass his silver amendment, but he has told the silver people victory is assured. What he told the silver people represents his best judgment . . . Louis Howe has been operating as acting President since Mr. Roosevelt's departure. Congressmen consult him as they would the President on what should be passed and what should not be . . . The recent wage increases by steel motors and other leading industries will do more to defeat the labor organizing movement than all the other activity by opponents of those measures. The increases dovetailed so perfectly that some observers here believe they were planned with a purpose . . . Next comes the CCR. It is being organized as the reserve corps of the CCC. Nearly 200,000 lads who have left the CCC are being invited to enroll in the new organization. So will the 300,000 now in the CCC upon their retirement. That reserve corps will have military possibilities. Also political ones.

TRIP EXTENDED BY ROOSEVELT

MIAMI, Fla., April 3.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt sailed into new southern waters today, determined to continue his happy vacation cruise into next week.

His ship was pointed south late yesterday after a consultation with congressional leaders had assured him there was no need for his return to the capital this week.

With the word "all well and happy," the yacht Nourmahal proceeded to its new base today, in the vicinity of Elbow Key Light, Cay Sal Banks.

The President's two elder sons, James and Elliott, were en route to his fishing grounds from here by naval plane.

Ship Flies Red Flag In New York Harbor

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—The red flag of Soviet Russia fluttered in the warm sunshine of New York Harbor yesterday for the first time in 17 years.

The Kim, an all Russian ship from stem to stern, tied up in Brooklyn, bringing a mixed cargo of 6,400 tons, including Russian wines, cement, nickel and chalk.

RUSH AIR MAIL BILL TO HALT SOLOMEN

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Prompt enactment by Congress of permanent air mail legislation will obviate any necessity for opening bids on April 20 for temporary contracts, it was indicated today.

While officials were loath to comment on this phase of the case it was made plain consideration would be given to the advisability of calling off temporary contracts in the event air mail legislation was enacted within the next week or two.

Officials declared the call for temporary contracts was legal, despite assertions of Representative Kelly (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, and other members of Congress that the bids were being called illegally. Postmaster General Farley said:

Meanwhile, a movement to "take aviation out of politics" got under way with Senator McCarran (Dem.), of Nevada, member of the Senate air mail investigating committee, and Representative Wood (Dem.), of Georgia, member of the House Postoffice Committee, leading in the effort.

Woods introduced in the House, with minor modifications, a bill presented in the Senate by McCarran which would create a federal aviation commission of five members, to rule commercial aviation as the Interstate Commerce Commission regulates railroads.

Companies whose air mail contracts were canceled would be allowed to carry mail under the McCarran-Wood bill.

The commission would have power to fix passenger and express rates, interlocking directorates would be prohibited, and the commission would have power over consolidations.

Probe of Air Lines' Stock Sales Dropped

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(INS.)—The Senate banking committee today voted to end its inquiry into heavy sales of stocks in nine aviation companies just prior to cancellation of their air mail contracts by Postmaster Gereral James A. Farley.

The action was taken on motion of Senator Kean (Rep.), of New Jersey, who has made the original motion to institute the investigation by Ferdinand Pecora, committee cousel, many weeks ago. Kean explained:

"I have been informed that this inquiry would cost $100,000, that its results would be doubtful and that it might have no value to the public, hence, I move that it be discontinued."

Pecora then told the committee that there were no "clues" indicated on the face of 60,000 reports on air stocks transactions made by the New York Stock Exchange. To persist in the probe, he said, would require examination of thousands of persons in all parts of the nation, involving employment of many assistants at a huge cost.

AIR LINES STUDY MAIL BIDS HERE

Efficiency of the air mail service was questioned by aviation leaders here following announcement by Postmaster William M. Turner that bids were invited for air mail contracts on 18 routes throughout the United States. Bids must be submitted before noon, April 20, and will be opened at the Postoffice Department in Washington.

Officials of the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., said it would be several days before it could be decided what action that company would take on the bidding. The Pennsylvania Air Lines, Inc., also is studying the question, according to C. Bedell Monro, vice president. This company formerly carried mail between Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Washington. The north-south route here has been extended to include Detroit, he said. A new program of the company provides for a 60 per cent cut in the number of trips daily on this route.

Officials of other air lines in this section of the country today said they were studying the announcement of bidding, but that it would be some time before it would be definitely decided what action would be taken.

Hoover Continues Trip to California

"I first came through Wyoming 47 years ago on an immigrant train en route to Oregon from Iowa."

Queen Mary Rallies From Cold's Effects

LONDON, April 3.—(AP.)—Queen Mary was reported today to be recovering satisfactorily from the cold which forced her to remain in her apartment in Buckingham Palace and to cancel arrangements for accompanying King George to the Kempton Park races.

Link Johnstown Firm In Utility Propaganda

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Secret correspondence between power ring executives, betraying anxiety to avoid giving testimony before a New York legislative committee investigating rates in 1930, had been made public today by the Federal Trade Commission.

The letters, all placed in evidence, also disclosed widespread propaganda activities of the Associated Gas and Electric System to combat movements for municipal ownership in Pennsylvania and in the territory served by the Federal Tennessee Valley Authority.

One letter, written by Hobart Benson, publicity man for the Associated and addressed to Leo Clavin of the Pennsylvania Electric Company in Johnstown, Pa., said of the drive against municipal ownership:

"We will probably be doing more and more work along those lines and consequently would appreciate receiving information direct from the field."

Airliner From Here Flies To N. Y. in 83 Minutes

New York today was more or less of a suburb of Pittsburgh. For a new airliner, on a regularly scheduled passenger flight, flew the Pittsburgh-New York trip in the record-breaking time of 1 hour and 23 minutes.

It was the Douglas luxury airliner, put into service by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. Pilots John A. Collings and H. G. Andrews took off from the county airport at 3:30 p. m. yesterday and dropped the big ship onto the Newark Airport at 4:53 o'clock. The scheduled flying time, 105 minutes, was cut 22 minutes.

An average of 222 miles was maintained on this first scheduled flight. And at one time the plane was making 275 miles, spurred on by a 40-mile tail wind.

R. W. Robbins, president of the T. W. A., announced that, if the airmail contracts had not been cancelled, the company had planned to have 11 schedules through Pittsburgh by this time.

BOBBE ARNST WEDS LAWYER

LARCHMONT, N. Y., April 3.—(AP.)—Breathless and excited, Bobbe Arnst, the dancer, arrived 25 minutes late yesterday for her marriage to Robert Cavenaugh, Chicago attorney.

She explained that a shopping trip had delayed her. Miss Arnst, former wife of Johnny Weismuller, screen and aquatic star, wore a brown straw hat, mink coat, white crepe dress, but no stockings.

After the ceremony in the home of Janet Velie, an actress and friend of the bride, the couple said they would honeymoon in New York for about a week before going to Chicago, and, perhaps, later to the West Coast.

Miss Arnst said she was 24 and gave her name as Robert Leone Arnst. Cavenaugh said he was 30. Miss Arnst's marriage to Weismuller ended in divorce in Los Angeles in 1933.

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Former Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, a central figure in the Seabury-prosecuted legislative investigation of 1932, died today at Fifth Avenue Hospital. He was operated upon recently for appendicitis.

He was removed from office of Sheriff of New York County by then Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt when he failed to explain satisfactorily the possession of bank deposits in excess of $350,000.

It was under the pressure of Samuel Seabury's inquiry and demands for his removal that he revealed the famous "tin box" episode of the inquiry—that he kept his savings in a "wonderful tin box."

Farley was the first Tammany Hall official to be removed by Roosevelt.

Seeks Fingerprints Of Ritzy Residents

CHICAGO, April 3. — (INS.) — Police Chief William O. Freeman today appealed to every resident of swank suburban Evanston to have his or her fingerprints taken for Detective Bureau records.

The prints of children and babies will be particularly valuable, Freeman pointed out, "just in case anything happens."

Dillinger Hunted In South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 3.—(AP.)—State highway patrolmen were rushed to Blaney, about 20 miles from here, today to investigate a report that a man with a machine gun in an automobile had been seen there.

Magistrate J. D. Watson, of Blaney, telephoned he felt the man might have been John Dillinger.

MARY MINTER'S TEMPER BARED

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—(AP.)—When Mary Miles Minter, former motion picture star, assertedly lost her temper in a dress shop she nearly wrecked the place, Hilda Desey, part owner of the establishment, charged yesterday in demanding a disturbance of the peace complaint.

Miss Minter declared at her home a dress had been made from material she left at the Desey shop, but it had been sold to someone else when she called for her garment.

M'LEODS ASKED TO WHITE HOUSE

An invitation to the White House today was in the hands of Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm McLeod and their daughter, Margaret Alden McLeod, of Bellefonte street.

The McLeods will visit the White House April 21. The occasion is a Harvard class reunion.

CAFE HELD UP ON NORTH SIDE

Two men armed with guns held up the Brass Rail Restaurant at 610 East Ohio street at 5 a. m. today and escaped with $40 from the cash register.

Divorcee Killed By Window Plunge

CHICAGO, April 3.—(INS.)—Mrs. Margaret Van Pelt Hess, 31, an attractive brunet, was killed today when she leaped c. fell from an upper-floor window of a North Side apartment hotel.

Mrs. Hess was reported to be a sister-in-law of Benjamin Franklin, wealthy Cleveland merchant. Friends said she had been despondent over the death of her 18-month-old child and her divorce from Norman Hess.

Relatives Share In Three Estates

Three wills disposing of estates with a total valuation of $17,500 were filed for probate today. Mrs. Catherine Tanney, of McKeesport, willed $6,500 to her granddaughter, Mayme Coyne Connelly. Estelle E. Wible, Bellevue, willed $6,000 to Alice Durning Watkins. The five children of Albert V. Workman, of Duquesne, are to share equally in his $5,000 estate.

Girl's Sister Claims Prince as Own

International News Service.

LONDON, April 3.—

"It musta been two other guys!"

That was the impression given in a Daily Mail dispatch from Lapland today concerning the reported engagement of Prince Bertil, third son of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolph, of Sweden, and Miss Christina Brambeck, Stockholm society girl.

Following close upon official Stockholm court denials of such an impending engagement, the Mail's Lapland correspondent today reported a telephone interview with Margaret Brambeck, sister of Christina, saying the reports should have concerned her—Margaret—and not Christina.

Margaret, vacationing in Lapland, said she and the Prince did not intend to become engaged now.

STOCKHOLM, April 3.—(AP.)—A statement was issued by the royal family today denying reports of an engagement between Princess Ingrid, daughter of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden, and Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark.

GIRL VANISHES AFTER SCOLDING

Her Easter dress and hat, unworn, wait the return of Lillian Connors, 16, who disappeared from her home, 1511 Quince way, Palm Sunday. Helen, in the ninth grade at the Forbes School, ran out of her home late Palm Sunday dressed in a green flowered evening dress and coatless after her mother had scolded her for attending a party earlier in the evening.

Helen, who is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 100 pounds and has dark, shoulder-length curly hair, had told her younger sister, Anna Mae, 14, that a thin blonde woman and a dark-haired woman had been coaxing her to "be a pal of theirs" and they would "give her all the pretty clothes she wanted." It is these women Mr. and Mrs. Connors believe are keeping their daughter away.

MOST SCHOOL STRIKERS BACK

BENTLEYVILLE, Pa., April 3.—Most of the Bentleyville students were back in their classrooms today, according to an announcement of school officials, but some still continued their strike.

Authorities said no steps were being taken to woo the recalcitrants back to the halls of learning.

'Baby Stars' Signed As Unit for Film

HOLLYWOOD, April 3.—(AP.)—The 13 "Wampas baby stars" of 1934 were signed as a group yesterday by B. P. Schulberg for a film production with Cary Grant, Carole Lombard and Edward Everett Horton.

Three of the group will be selected later for permanent contracts with Paramount, it was announced.

MOTHER-TO-BE FONDLES DOLL

International News Service.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 3.—Little Francisca Aniles Perez, 10 years old, fondled a doll today and contemplated with big, dark eyes the women attendants at the Salvation Army rescue home who continued their instructions in the care of babies.

The doll in the arms of Francisca is slated to be replaced in about a month by her baby, which probably will make her the youngest mother in America.

Records here show a few scattered instances of girls becoming mothers at the age of 12, although it is comparatively common in India at 7 or 8.

Francisca, according to the hospital attendants, is looking forward to having "a real, live baby to play with instead of a doll."

She says the father of the baby is Jose Noriega, who is in San Quentin Prison. Superior Judge T. R. Thomson, who sentenced Noriega, says the girl's birth certificate shows she was born October 28, 1923. She testified against the accused man in Fresno.

'RACY' TABLOID AGENTS HELD

Three men charged with distributing obscene literature were held for further hearing today by Magistrate J. W. McGowan in Central Police Court as a sequel to city detectives' action yesterday in seizing between 11,000 and 12,000 copies of an out-of-town weekly.

Detective Thomas Morgan told Magistrate McGowan that he had been assigned to investigate the distribution of the publication following complaints of school authorities that the racy tabloid was producing an unwholesome effect upon the minds of children.

Morgan told of arresting Charles Rodgers, of 705 Lockhart street; Morris LeBorwig, of 1207 Gibbons street, and George Bonder, of 1206 Forbes street.

At the hearing LeBorwig admitted he was manager and distributor of the publication for this district and Bonder admitted his place was the headquarters.

The hearing was continued until Thursday on request of detectives, who say they plan to consult District Attorney Andrew T. Park in an effort to get an injunction to stop its circulation.

'Runaway' Sisters Held for Hearing

Missing from their home at 1250 Rush street, North Side, for six weeks, two sisters were arrested by Woods Run police in a house three blocks away early today.

The pair, Elizabeth Dennys, 19, and Stella Dennys, 20, were held as runaways for a hearing in Morals Court.

Forger Sentenced To 6-Month Term

Chester C. King, 40, was sentenced by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson to serve six months in jail, when he pleaded guilty to stealing and forging a government check for $13.98, which had been sent John Miller, an extra employe at the Pittsburgh postoffice during the Christmas rush.

DOCTORS TO A MASSACRE HUNT

BREMERTON, Wash., April —(AP.)—Physicians of Western Washington were called upon today to aid in the search for the slayer of four men and two women at a Bremerton house party late last week.

Assistance was sought from medical offices when Luke S. May, Seattle criminologist, deduced that one of the killers was seriously wounded in the terrific fight the victims put up as they were beaten, slashed and shot to death.

On broken bits of bottles strewn around the house, May found bloodstains, hair and bits of clothing from someone other than any of the six victims. The killer probably needed and found medical attention, May said.

The Seattle underworld was investigated on reports that Fred Balcom, one of the victims, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flieder, at whose home the tragedy occurred last Thursday night, had altercations with someone while negotiating for buying an interest in a Seattle beer parlor.

POPE EXTENDS HOLY YEAR

International News Service.

VATICAN CITY, April 3.—Pope Pius XI today issued a bull extending the holy year for another 12 months.

The holy year, which began April 1, 1933, in celebration of the Nineteenth Century of the death and resurrection of Christ, was formally concluded in an elaborate ceremony in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday.

The 12 months' extension will begin next Sunday, and will be effective throughout the world.

Funeral at Export For Rev. J. F. Snyder

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., April 3.—The body of the Rev. Jacob F. Snyder, who celebrated his 100th birthday 10 days ago, will be taken tomorrow to the Emmanuel Reformed Church at Export for funeral services.

The aged pastor who died Sunday at the home of his son here, was pastor of the Export church for 35 years. Burial will be in the Versailles Cemetery, McKeesport.

Prince Officiates At Stone Setting

LUSAKA, Rhodesia, April 3.—(AP.)—Prince George today laid the foundation stone of new government buildings in Lusaka, destined to become the new capital of Northern Rhodesia.

The capital will be transferred from Livingstone, which is considered not central enough for the white population of the self-governing colony.

Gloria Swanson To Go on Stage

HOLLYWOOD, April 3.—(AP.)—Gloria Swanson, the screen actress, left last night for New York where she will make personal theater appearances. She will return here in about 12 weeks to star in "Three Weeks," a screen adaptation of which is being prepared by Zoe Akins, scenarist.

Jean Nash to Take Son, Acquitted, to France

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Andrew Donaldson Kirwan, 23, acquitted of murder on the high seas, will shortly be on those seas again, this time under the affectionate care of his mother, Jean Nash Dubonnet, who is taking the boy back to her French villa.

It took a federal jury only 30 minutes to clear Kirwan yesterday. He had been charged with stabbing Gilliam Sessoms, middle-aged government employe, in an argument over religion aboard the Dollar liner President Garfield.

The youth took the verdict more calmly than his mother or grandparents, who crowded around embracing him when it was announced. Mme. Dubonnet, though obviously overjoyed at the not unexpected verdict, did not lose control of her emotions.

The only witness put on the stand by the defense was M. Dubonnet, noted wine merchant, who testified that the hunting knife with which Sessoms' wound was inflicted was used by his son in fishing and to pare fruit. It was acknowledged that the knife was in Kirwan's hands during the argument, but it was the defense's contention that the stabbing was accidental, and due to a sudden lurch of the ship. Both men had been drinking. The only witness testified that he did not see the wound inflicted.

M. Dubonnet explained that his stepson, who is partly paralyzed, was too clumsy to use an ordinary pocketknife.

Released as Kidnaper, Man to Face Aviatrix

International News Service.

YUMA, Ariz., April 3.—R. C. Dowling, accused by Marjorie Crawford, pretty aviatrix-actress, of having "kidnaped" her in an attempt to force her to marry him, today was released from the Yuma jail when Los Angeles officers failed to appear to take him into custody.

Dowling had agreed to accompany them back to Los Angeles without extradition, but when they did not return to the jail this morning, Chief Polhamus freed Dowling without further ceremony.

Dowling continued to deny the charges of Miss Crawford, asserting that she accompanied him willingly to Yuma.

Despite his release, Dowling met the Los Angeles officers and agreed voluntarily to return to California with them in an effort to clear up the case.

140 PAYROLLERS PLACED ON FURLOUGH

Public Works Director Leslie M. Johnston today gave in to Council and announced that 140 employes of his department will immediately be placed on a stagger furlough system.

Until today Johnston had flatly refused to install the stagger system in his department unless forced to do so by Council.

The furloughing of the 140, all of whom occupy minor positions, means that each will lose approximately a month and a half's employment during the remaining nine months of the year.

JOHNSTON POUTS

Only Saturday, Johnston had pouted:

"I won't do it."

He claimed the furlough system would ruin the efficiency of some of the Works Department bureaus.

Meanwhile, Council President Robert Garland's resolution putting the full responsibility for payroll reductions on city department heads will be up for debate in finance committee today.

While a number of Councilmen are known to agree with Garland that it is up to the directors to prune out the "deadwood" on the payroll, at least one, W. A. Magee, has declared that Council failed to take up its own responsibility in passing the salary ordinance in its present condition.

EMPLOYES PROTEST

Garland's resolution calls on the directors to make amending ordinances from time to time.

Council has received a protest signed by three employes in the Bureau of Engineering stating that about 50 men in that bureau will work only three and one-half months of the remainder of the year if the salary ordinance is carried out as it stands.

The protest was signed by Norman A. Robinson, John R. Clark and Raymond J. Cochran and was addressed to Councilman John J. Kane.

RIVAL, ENEMY HELD IN KILLING

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 3.—Two men were held in the Westmoreland County Jail today charged, state police said, with the slaying of Mike Kelly, 37, of Vandergrift, whose body was found early Sunday near the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in East Vandergrift.

They are Guy Polito and Bruno Musatanya, both of Vandergrift. According to police, the two were the last persons to be seen with Kelly before he was found with a bullet in his chest and another in his back.

In addition, police said, Musatanya and Kelly were rivals for the affection of an 18-year-old North Vandergrift girl, Helen Holop, and Polito and Kelly were known enemies. According to police, Miss Holop told them one of the men had told her several days ago that Kelly would be dead within a week.

berto, the crown prince of Italy; the King and Queen of Siam. Also French, Belgian, German and Austrian princes, those from France not "authentic" since the French Republic recognizes no princes.

ONE HUNDRED years ago, Marpiya Wicasta, meaning "man-of-the-sky," camped with his band of Sioux Indians, built a council chamber, caught fish, and watched the white men creeping in, on the spot where now stands the heart of Minneapolis.

"Man-of-the-sky's" descendant, whose prosaic name is Victor E. Williams, will sue somebody or something to get back that valuable land on the edge of the lake, or, if not, he wants fifty million dollars damages. He may settle for less.

In any case, it makes you think about the value of real estate if you keep it long enough, and sometimes if you don't keep it very long.

Also, statisticians remind you that if the Indians who sold the whole of Manhattan Island for fifty dollars had put out their fifty dollars at compound interest, they would have more money now than all the billions that Manhattan land is worth now.

Rubbers and Rabbits

HOWARD THURSTON SISTIE BUZZIE MRS. ROOSEVELT

Magician Thurston at the White House Easter Monday egg-rolling and rabbit-pulling—'cause didn't Mr. Thurston pull those nice rabbits from Master Buzzie Dall's collar? MORITZ ACTS AS MAGISTRATE

Theodore L. Moritz, the Mayor's secretary, today began his duties as an emergency police magistrate. He emulated the example of his boss, Mayor McNair, by discharging the first three drunks who faced him in Center Avenue Police Court.

Disposing of his magisterial duties, Moritz went home, slightly ill. The Mayor later commented:

"I guess he can't take it as well as I can."

Magistrate Moritz held Thomas Cristabal for court on a charge of operating a lottery, freed 12 persons charged with writing numbers, and fined a Negro woman on a drunkenness charge, in Center Avenue Police Court.

He was confirmed yesterday by Council after the Mayor, who has himself been substituting, explained there was a shortage of magistrates.

COUNCIL DROPS SUSPICION LAW

The suspicious persons ordinance, the use of which enabled police to make wholesale arrests on suspicion of a crime, has been repealed by City Council.

An ordinance to be used in place of the old measure has been introduced by Councilman Walter R. Demmler, who sponsored the repeal. It legalizes the arrest of persons found violating the public peace, engaged in disorderly conduct, drunkenness in any public place, creating riots, gambling, street begging and several other offenses.

The old ordinance allowed police to arrest on suspicion. Civic groups have protested from time to time that police were abusing the power given them and were not making specific charges. Mayor McNair has favored the repeal of the old law.

Eddie M'Closkey Witnesses M'Nair's 'First' Cigar

With Mayor Eddie McCloskey, of Johnstown, Pa., as a witness, Mayor William N. McNair smoked a cigar last night—his first in three months.

The event which signaled the end of the Mayor's annual three-month cigar "fast" was held in a downtown restaurant to the delight of more than 200 diners.

The Mayor said he always quits smoking in January to the beginning of April to prove to himself that he can really quit the weed.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON PARROT LAW

A new parrot ordinance, which spares the lives of birds which have been in Pittsburgh since 1932, and have not been in contact with imported birds since that time will be up for discussion in health committee of Council today.

Designed to control psittacosis, or parrot fever, the ordinance prohibits the importation of birds of the psittacine family, and requires a report to the Health Department from all owners of such birds.

Owners of birds which become sick must notify city health authorities who are empowered to destroy ailing parrots. The penalty for violating the ordinance would be a fine of from $50 to $100 for each offense or a jail sentence of 30 days.

The original ordinance submitted to Council by the law department decreed death for all parrots, but protests from owners brought modification.

Plainclothesmen Told, 'Get Uniforms'

The new police inspectors will be permitted to select their own plainclothes officers, it was indicated by Assistant Police Supt. Andrew Charles in his spring inspection yesterday at South Side Station.

He ordered the entire force of plainclothesmen to obtain uniforms immediately. As there has been no intimation that the plainclothes force would be dispensed with, it was believed new men would be hired.

Brother Who Taught Tod Sloan Killed

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Cassius Sloan, 67, brother of the famous jockey, Tod Sloan, who died recently in California, was killed yesterday by falling from a stepladder at his home.

Familiarly known as "cash" Sloane, he is said to have taught his brother Tod how to ride horses.

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES

ATTORNEYS SAY MAYOR'S PAY CAN'T BE CUT

Expert legal opinion today contradicted Mayor McNair's assertion that City Council has the power to cut his salary, and a leader in Council declared that "no one should stand on a technicality at this time."

The salary controversy returned to the surface of City Hall's political waters when the Mayor—himself an attorney—made it clear he would not follow the lead of Council in voluntarily taking a pay cut.

LEFT TO COUNCIL

He insisted that any slash in his salary should be made by Council, stating:

"They have full power to do it under the city charter. It reads 'not more than $15,000 a year,' doesn't it?"

Attorneys today pointed out that McNair was referring to the act of 1927 which reads:

"Section 1—Be it enacted that the salary of the mayor of cities of the second class of this commonwealth should be fixed by the council of said cities in a sum, not to exceed $15,000 per annum, which salary shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected."

Of several attorneys interviewed by the Sun-Telegraph, none upheld the Mayor's technical stand. Others, although refusing use of their names, said the Act of 1927 was perfectly clear in its meaning.

COUNCILMANIC "GESTURE"

Insisting that his identity be concealed because he had "formally closed the matter," one Councilman pointed out that the "real reason" for members of Council voluntarily returning part of their salaries to the city was a gesture of sacrifice. He continued:

"The money involved is paltry when compared with the city's budget, but it's the principle involved that counts. It would show that everybody is in the same boat and that a sacrifice should be made all down the line in city government.

"It cannot be questioned that Council is without the authority to cut the Mayor's salary."

All members of Council have said they would return one-eighth or more of their salary to the city.

'Clean Up' Campaign For West Elizabeth

West Elizabeth Council last night adopted a motion setting April 10, 12 and 17 for a "clean-up" campaign to beautify the town. Members delayed action on an ordinance fixing the tax for Sunday baseball and football games.

GARLAND URGES ANTI-CRIME BUREAU

Two new developments affecting the Police Bureau are up for consideration in Council.

1—Councilman John J. Kane would amend his Police Research Commission ordinance to include outside experts.

2—A new organization known as the Protective Division is proposed to do crime prevention work.

Kane, who has urged the appointment of a commission to investigate alleged graft in the Police Bureau, will ask to amend his ordinance to allow outside experts such as Maj. Lynn G. Adams, of the state police, to act with the investigators.

'NOT TO SHIRK DUTY'

It is not the intention, Kane declared, that Council shirk its responsibility in facing the police problem. Council should take part in all public hearings conducted by the commission, he declared. Pointing out Council's broad powers in calling witnesses, he said:

"Council should resolve itself into an investigating body to sit with this commission and use its powerful weapon of subpena to aid the commission in rendering maximum public service."

The new protective division for the Police Bureau is described in an ordinance presented by Robert Garland and favored by a number of social agencies. Its object is crime prevention.

HEADED BY INSPECTOR

It is not to include other jobs than those now in the budget. It is to be headed by an inspector who will have qualifications that will make him eligible for membership in the American Association of Social Workers.

Under him will be several units, each in charge of a captain who must also qualify as a social worker. One of the units will be a women's division which will supervise dance halls and other centers of recreation. It will be commanded by a woman captain.

City Economy Survey Planned By Business Men

The Western Pennsylvania Branch of the National Economy League is organizing a large committee of business executives to carry forward its proposed efficiency survey of municipal government.

A meeting has been called for Wednesday at the Union Trust Company board rooms to plan further steps.

The survey is to follow closely the ideas used in Baltimore, where the city borrowed employes from industries to check on the running of various departments and suggest improvements and economies.

Notable progress in reducing city expenditures has been claimed in Baltimore. Economy League representatives believe that similar progress can be made here. J. M. Williams is secretary of the league. The plan has been approved by Council and the Mayor.

City Council has approved four bond issues totaling $4,660,000 to tide the city over present financial emergencies and to install new city services.

These include $2,500,000 to cover the deficit, $1,050,000 to finance incinerators, $210,000 to improve the North Side Market and $900,000 for the floating debt.

CITY MAY TAX SUNDAY SPORTS

An ordinance licensing Sunday baseball and football games has been introduced in City Council.

Games are limited to the hours between 2 and 6 p. m. Sunday. Where 50 cents or more admission is charged, a license fee of $50 per game is set up by the city. Where the admission is 25 to 50 cents the fee is $25. From 10 cents to 25 cents admission, the fee is $10 and where the admission is less than 10 cents or nothing at all, the city would collect $1 a game.

The penalty for each violation is placed at $10 fine or five days in jail.

COUNCIL ACTING ON 2-JOB HOPES OF SMITH

The decision whether Safety Director Ralph E. Smith gets two jobs hangs in the balance in City Council today.

The Mayor's dismissal of W. Edgar Reed from a $5,000 job on the Traction Conference Board and the appointment of Smith to the vacancy will be up in the Service and Surveys Committee.

Indications now are that Reed will be removed, although he is known to have a few votes among the Republicans in Council. But as to Smith's confirmation, that is another matter, and one in extreme doubt.

He has said that if he gets the job he will remain as safety director, which would give him a total salary of $13,000. It is considered unlikely that even the Democratic bloc in Council will unite to vote Smith a double job.

The Walter R. Demmler resolution, which would have forced some concessions from the Pittsburgh Railways Company before renewing the Traction Conference Board agreement, perished yesterday in Council by a vote of four to three.

Three Republicans and William A. Magee voted against three Democrats. Nothing now stands in the way of a two-year extension of the agreement by the Public Service Commission.

District Salesmen To Meet Saturday

The Tri-State Commercial Travelers' Association will hold a meeting at the William Penn Hotel at 2 p. m. Saturday. All traveling men are eligible to attend.

Trains to South Air-Conditioned

In order to keep their trains cool, comfortable and clean, the Seaboard Air Line Railway has air-conditioned the "Southern States Special" and the "New-York-Florida Limited," both year-round trains. This new service will mean a journey free from dirt and dust, officials said, and added that just as the Seaboard's winter "Orange Blossom Special" was the first and only air-conditioned train to Florida from New York and Washington, these two will be the first and only air-conditioned trains operating on an all-year-round schedule in the South.

ROYAL WEDDING OF JAP GIRL CANCELED

TOKIO, April 3.—(AP.)—The projected picture-bride marriage of the Ethiopian Prince Lij Araya and Miss Masako Kuroda, daughter of Viscount Hiroyuki Kurado, has been canceled and, despite official denials of interference, vernacular newspapers had surmised today that the match had run afoul of powerful forces of international politics.

The Addis-Ababa (Ethiopia) correspondent of the Tokio newspaper Nichi Nichi reported that the foreign minister of Ethiopia had announced the marriage plans had been called off, quoting the prospective bridegroom to the effect that the machinations of "a certain power" had interfered.

The foreign minister, according to the correspondent, said he notified Ethiopia's minister in Rome concerning the cancellation of the marriage plans from which the vernacular newspaper conjectured that Italy disliked the prospect of Japanese penetration in Ethiopia in view of Premier Mussolini's recent declarations of Italy's mission in Africa.

The family of Viscount Kuroda asserted that it was ignorant of cancellation of plans.

Both the foreign office and the imperial household of Tokio declared they were never in any way concerned with the marriage project nor with its reported failure, although it has been known that the household officials did not favor the Ethiopian union for the daughter of a Japanese peer.

Two months ago it was officially admitted that Tokio had queried indirectly through the Japanese Embassy in Paris concerning Prince Lij Araya's standing.

11 IN HOSPITAL AS MINERS END RIOTS

lages, but the most serious outbreak of the day occurred when five shots rang out as Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Governor, was addressing the mass meeting here.

Mrs. Pinchot had said:

"I'm for the union because I'm an American."

Then the shooting started. Several hundreds joined in the ensuing general riot, but Mrs. Pinchot kept on speaking to the other thousands at the mass meeting.

FIREMEN CALLED

Sporadic rioting continued in Uniontown streets throughout the night. Unable to quell a series of fights, police called the fire department.

Water was sprayed on the miners. The rioters slashed the hose and beat several of the fire fighters.

The violence was attributed to ill feeling between the United Mine Workers of America and members of the Independent Brotherhood.

VICTIMS IN HOSPITAL

BOSSAK, JOE, 28, of Edenborn, probable fracture of the skull and severe body contusions; condition critical.

SAXON, STEVE, 29, of Footedale, shot in left leg.

VERGA, JOHN, 39, of LaBelle, contusions.

MURPHY, MARTIN, 75, lacerations.

CHAMBERS, JOHN, 45, of Footedale, shot in arm.

HANNOCK, STEVE, 33, of Alicia, contusions.

ESTLICK, CHARLES, 21, of Hopwood, lacerations.

ZAGAT, ANDY, 24, of Uniontown, lacerations.

Westmoreland Miners Strike; Peace Predicted

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 3.—Frank Hughes, president of District No. 3, United Mine Workers, predicted that the holiday of 800 miners in the district would end today upon distribution of copies of a new work agreement.

Miners have been skeptical over the reported signing of an agreement establishing a seven-hour day and a $5 minimum wage scale, effective April 1. Hughes said copies of the agreement were rushed to the mines for distribution.

Many local mine leaders invaded District No. 3 headquarters here today to discuss the situation with U. M. W. officials. They claimed that an insufficient number of copies of the new agreement had been received and asserted miners demand posting of the wage scale before ending the holiday.

5,000 Miners Swell Ranks of Strikers

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 3.—Approximately 5,000 miners in the western part of District No. 2 refused to return to work today after yesterday's mine celebration.

Rochester and Pittsburgh mines at Yatesboro and Helvetia and Clearfield bituminous mines at Rossiter, Commodore and Clymer, were affected by the strike movement, which spread through Indiana, Armstrong and Jefferson Counties and reached as far as St. Mary's, Elk County. The men insisted they have not been notified officially by union leaders that a new wage agreement has been adopted.

Union leaders expect to have the holdouts back to work tomorrow.

Mrs. Pinchot Braves Mine Disorder Threat

HARRISBURG, April 3.—(AP)—Persons close to Gov. and Mrs. Pinchot last night said the Governor's wife went to Uniontown to speak yesterday despite repeated warnings that opponents of the United Mine Workers of America would "shoot up" the miners' meeting.

It was said that state police protection for the meeting was requested several days ago in view of the reported threats, but that Mrs. Pinchot insisted she would speak as scheduled, and that she requested the troopers not be sent.

3,000 to Benefit By Loan to B. and O.

BALTIMORE, April 3.—(AP)—Approximately 3,000 employes of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad have been given another eight-hour day of work as the result of a large loan and increased railroad business.

Approval of a $5,000,000 loan from the Public Works Administration by the Interstate Commerce Commission was announced yesterday.

STEWART WILLE

TIBBETT LIKES CODE IDEA

Although he would like to join a singers' union, Lawrence Tibbett, famous Metropolitan Opera star, who sings tonight at Syria Mosque, doesn't think an NRA code would help them much.

Art, he says, isn't like the coal mining industry. It's almost impossible to regulate hours and wages.

But he admits that he would like to have a code to keep him from singing two operas in one night.

So he has to make up for lost time by singing both "Emperor Jones" and "Pagliacci" in Boston Thursday.

Women Claw 2 Men Defying Soup Strike

CAMDEN, N. J., April 3.—(AP)—A crowd estimated by police at 2,500 today surrounded the Campbell Soup Company plant, where a strike is in progress, and police said that only six employes other than foremen and the power house crew entered the grounds.

Two workmen who attempted to break through the crowd were attacked by 15 women who clawed their faces, pulled their hair, tore their clothes and carried off hats and lunches before police could rescue the men.

Bad Order Freight Cars Show Increase

Class 1 railroads on March 1 had 295,582 freight cars in need of repair or 14.9 per cent of the number on line, the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association announces. This was an increase of 8,654 cars above the number in need of repair on February 1, at which time there were 286,928 or 14.4 per cent.

UNION DOUBTS BILL'S BENEFIT

The League for Social Justice, at the behest of the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union, yesterday issued a statement in which it was claimed that labor could be hampered in its efforts to organize under the federal Wagner labor disputes bill.

Interpretation of the bill was given in an address before the Hungry Club by Dr. Carl R. Daugherty, assistant professor of economics, University of Pittsburgh.

The league pointed out that the only benefit to be derived from the bill is its clear definition of the right of labor to organize without coercion or intimidation from employers, but that this right always has been defined in Section 7-A of the Industrial Recovery Act.

RYAN PAROLED AFTER FINE

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 3.—Martin Ryan, miners' leader, was fined $100 and costs and paroled for one year by Judge Davis W. Henderson today on a charge of assault and battery.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Henderson said:

"Since your conviction I have been importuned by many people in the county to impose a severe sentence on you, not really so much because of the charge against you but because of the feeling which may be entertained against you on some other matter.

"I also have been importuned by an equally large number, if not a larger number, to extend you leniency."

Ryan, who held up settlement of the Fayette coal strike for several days last fall, was convicted of assault and battery on John Malloy in last November's election at Grindstone. George Buklovich, convicted on the same charge, was fined $50 and costs and paroled for a year.

Firemen Called In Cemetery Blaze

Firemen from two companies at noon today fought a grass fire which threatened to mar the tombstones in Lincoln Cemetery, old Negro burial ground, in Bedford avenue, behind Greenlee Field.

HARVARD DEAN RAPS WAGNER LABOR BILL

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP)—The Wagner Labor Bill was characterized today by Wallace B. Donham, dean of the Harvard Business School, as a measure which, if passed, "will surely delay and may prevent recovery."

Donham, testifying before the Senate Labor Committee, said the trade union movement had not yet earned the adherence of vast numbers of workers. He declared:

"Instead of being given such adherence by the fiat of government, it should be freed from objectionable restraints and left to earn the respect and cooperation of groups of workers not now convinced of its capacity to serve them well."

RACKETS PREDICTED

Rapid organization contemplated by the bill, he said, would result inevitably in bad leadership of both employes and employers. He added that racketeering, already a "serious danger" to the labor movement, would increase.

Donham decried the idea that this is a "last chance opportunity" to put reforms on the statute books, and said changes were being pushed through with what appeared to be "a conscious effort to divert attention from the real subject under consideration."

The country is not ready, he said, for a series of measures leading directly to some form of Fascism or Communism.

The Harvard dean had a good word for company unions, which he described as organizations cooperating in efforts toward more efficient production which had permitted the American people to enjoy the present standard of living. He added:

"The compulsory organization of labor under the organized labor movement, and the abolition of company unions has never been debated before the American people.

IOWAN MAKES PROTEST

S. J. Galvin, chairman of the executive committee of the Iowa Manufacturers' Association, disparaged what he termed a bill that would place the barrier of the "walking delegate between employers and employes in small plants where even the "boss" is called by his first name.

The Wagner bill would outlaw employer-dominated company unions and would make permanent the National Labor Board.

FAIRMONT COAL DIGGERS STRIKE

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 3.—(AP.)—No mines were operated in the Fairmont fields today, bituminous operators and representatives of the United Mines Workers having failed to reach a wage scale agreement in conference here yesterday.

No disorders were anticipated, although officers reported picket lines on duty at every mine in the region.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Operators of the smokeless coal fields of Southern West Virginia today signed a new labor contract with the United Mine Workers.

The contract, providing for a seven-hour day, a five-day week and a basic daily wage of $4.60, is to run for one year, but the operators are hopeful that the piece rate scales embodied in it will be reopened by order of the recovery administrator. The former basic daily wage was $4.20.

WEIR WILL GIVE TESTIMONY ON WAGNER BILL

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel Company, and Earl F. Reed, its general counsel, will be leading witnesses this week before the Senate Committee on Education and Labor in hearings on the Wagner labor bill, it was announced today by Senator David I. Walsh, chairman.

Reed is listed to appear on Thursday and Weir will be the star witness at Friday's hearing, according to the committee's schedule.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Frank K. Nebeker, noted prosecutor of the Wilson administration, has been chosen to act as senior counsel in the government's injunction proceedings against the Weirton Steel Company.

Congressional action will be required to make him eligible, as there is a prohibition against any attorney who has a client pressing a claim against the United States from appearing for the United States.

As counsel for the Cherokee nation, Nebeker has several suits pending in the Court of Claims.

He confirmed a report that the government planned to employ him in the Weirton proceedings in the Federal District Court at Wilmington, Del. The government is seeking to restrain the company from alleged interference with collective bargaining.

STERN, AUTHOR OF BALLADS, MOURNED

By JAMES CANNON
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Old-timers in Tin Pan Alley today closed their pianos, bowed their heads, and mourned the passing of Joseph W. Stern, composer of "My Mother Was a Lady," "The Little Lost Child," and other song hits that took the country by storm in the 1890's.

Broadway's young piano pounders, their heads filled with torch songs and hot breaks, never heard of the old man who died Saturday. But his name was familiar to everyone who frequented the theaters and music halls of the Mauve Decade.

Stern's hits, sentimental ballads with simple music and naive lyrics, were as different from the sob songs of today as day is from night. "My Mother Was a Lady" contained the famous phrase that has become the stock-in-trade of every third-rate comedian:

"And you would not dare insult me, sir, if Jack were only here!"

HARD-BOILED ERA

In the offices of Desylva, Brown and Henderson, mass producers of modern hits, a song plugger said today:

"It's too bad. The world is so hard-boiled nowadays, or thinks it is, that audiences have nothing but ridicule for those grand old songs of the nineties. Take 'My Mother Was a Lady,' for example."

The musician sat down at the keyboard and his fingers picked out the melancholy, nostalgic strains of the music. He said over his shoulder:

"It's a swell tune, a real hit, the kind of song that lives forever in the minds of those who heard it and hummed it and whistled it and sang it in the old days. The only time you hear it now is when some would-be clown in burlesque or vaudeville makes fun of it. I haven't heard it sung straight in years."

FIRST WITH SIDES

Stern had been out of the music business for a score of years before his death, and lived quietly in a suburb. "The Little Lost Child," his first hit, was said to be the first song number ever to be accompanied by lantern slides, which encouraged the audiences to join in the chorus.

It was the first publication of Joseph W. Stern & Co., and was an instant success. So was "My Mother Was a Lady," which followed. The business grew to be one of the most prosperous on Broadway. Known as "The House of Hits," it put out such smashes of the period as "Whisper Your Mother's Name," "She Was Bred in Old Kentucky," "You're Not the Only Pebble On the Beach," "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and "Sweet Rosie O'Grady."

Man Finds Job, Excused From Jury Duty

Diamond cutting is a rare craft—in fact Clarence Frick, of 2817 Shawhan avenue, has been excused from jury service because he's the only diamond cutter in these parts.

Edmund A. Easter, 913 Sixth avenue, Coraopolis, found Judge W. Heber Dithrich in a jovial mood when he, too, appeared for jury service yesterday. Noting the man's name, the Judge remarked:

"You are a day late, aren't you?"

Judge Dithrich excused him from jury duty when Easter explained he had just found a job after two years of unemployment.

Skinny? Add 5 lbs. of Alluring Curves This Quick New Way!

Read how new mineral concentrate rich in "FOOD IODINE" is building up thousands of nervous, skinny, rundown men and women

Here is a new way to add 3 to 8 lbs. in 12 days or it doesn't cost you a penny. Thousands of skinny, scrawny, rundown people have tried it and are amazed at this astounding new natural way to win back health and weight. Yet these results are not unusual. Doctors know how vitally necessary are natural food minerals often so woefully lacking in even the most carefully devised fresh vegetable diets. Unless your system gets the proper amount of these minerals, many of them needed in only the tiniest quantities, even the best food fails to nourish you, fails to build rich, red blood, firm flesh and sturdy muscles. This lack of mineralization results in the failure to digest starches and fats in the normal diet. It makes no difference whether your appetite is good or bad, your food is converted into poisonous wastes instead of firm flesh and tireless energy.

Food specialists, however, have only recently discovered a marvelous source of practically every single mineral essential to body needs. It is known as Kelp-a-Malt, a pleasant, easy to take vegetable concentrate, made from a luxuriant sea plant from the Pacific Ocean, combined with diastatic malt extract, in delicious, pleasant-tasting tablets. It provides in easily assimilable form virtually every food mineral needed for health and strength.

Supplies Newer Form of Food Iodine

But most important of all, Kelp-a-Malt is the richest known source of the newer form of food iodine—natural iodine not made from iodides or other chemicals which oftentimes prove toxic, but the same iodine that is present in small quantities in spinach and lettuce. It is the lack of this iodine which experts in nutrition say is our foremost national health problem.

Six Kelp-a-Malt tablets provide more food iodine than 486 pounds of spinach, 1,600 pounds of beef, 1,587 pounds of lettuce. Three Kelp-a-Malt tablets contain more iron and copper for rich blood, vitality and strength than a pound of spinach, 7½ pounds of fresh tomatoes—more calcium than 6 eggs, more phosphorus than a pound and a half of carrots—sulphur, sodium, potassium and other essential minerals.

Only when you get an adequate amount of these minerals can your food do you any good—can you nourish glands, add weight, strengthen your nerves, increase your vigor, vitality and endurance.

Try Kelp-a-Malt today. Contains no yeast—doesn't cause bloating. Two weeks are required to effect a change in the mineralization of the body. At the end of that time, if you have not gained at least 8 pounds, do not look better, feel better and have more endurance than ever before, the trial is free. 100 jumbo size tablets, which are 4 to 5 times larger than ordinary size tablets are, but little. Get Kelp-a-Malt today.

'STONE' BOY, 7, MAY LIVE TO RIPE OLD AGE

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The possibility of life without motion, consciousness in a body that has turned to stone, faced little Benny Hendricks, the 7-year-old Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) boy, whose tissues slowly are ossifying.

For, although his disease is an extremely rare one, especially in children, there have been cases of ossified men who have lived to ripe old age in a petrified condition.

THREE IN CIRCUS

Three ossified men were circus exhibits over a period of 25 to 35 years, and one at least is still "packing them in"—he will be in Robert L. Ripley's Odditorium at the World's Fair when it opens again.

The earliest was recalled today by Dexter Fellowes, the circus press agent, who said:

"Back in 1893, when I was with Pawnee Bill, we had an ossified man named Bass, either William or Jonathan, I forget which. He was completely hard—all over—and one of his arms was so stiff you could use it like a handle, to lift him up.

"He was in his forties then, and had been in that condition since early youth. Seemed happy enough. Never sick. You could pick him up like a little brown jug."

LIES RIGID ON TABLE

Roy Bard, the man who will be at the fair next summer, is 50 years old. He began ossifying when he was 25, according to advices from Chicago, when he was working as a telephone lineman. There seems to be something in strenuous physical life that is connected with myositis ossificans, to give the disease its proper name, for football players, cavalrymen and infantry soldiers are the three categories in which most of the cases have been found.

Bard weighs 125 pounds, has never had a pain or temperature, has normal heart, kidneys, liver, lungs and stomach, but has to lie rigid on a table. He has been doing it for a quarter of a century.

ONLY LIPS MOVE

"Ossified Harry" Overduff, of Dubois, Pa., is the third famous circus stone-man. He was at the fair last year under the Ripley banner. He is 68 years old, and for 33 years has been ossified. All he can move is his lips.

Ripley's representative here said:

"He talks very distinctly, and is an intelligent man. I haven't been in touch with him lately, but I remember every detail about him. He was a coal miner, before the stiffness began.

"He only weighs 70 pounds now, and his flesh is as hard as a rock. He can support a weight of over 800 pounds bridged between his forehead and his knees. He eats regularly, and says he has never been sick since the ailment started. He seems happy and joyful at all times. He just can't move."

Auto Driver Fined, Shoots Self in Cell

DEDHAM, Mass., April 3.—(AP.)—A simple automobile law violation for which he was fined $50 was a serious matter to Fred White, 39, of Boston. He shot and critically wounded himself in the Dedham Jail yesterday while being surrendered by his bondsmen. He had been given until this month to pay the fine. Inability to do so meant a jail sentence.

Killed by Train

RAYMOND MARIANI, 12

ALBERT CODA, 12

2 BOYS KILLED BY TRAIN

Two sixth grade pupils of Immaculate Conception School, Edmond street, Bloomfield, were dead today, victims of a passenger train that struck them while they were collecting junk along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near the Millvale Avenue Bridge last night.

The boys, both 12, were Albert Coda, of 4755 Liberty avenue, and Raymond Mariani, of 720 Edmond street.

A railroad laborer, who witnessed the tragedy, told the deputies the boys walked from behind a box car on a siding and started across the tracks. They watched an out-bound accommodation train approaching, and walked into the path of the city-bound train.

'STONE' MALADY DISCOVERED IN OHIO YOUTH

By ALVIN L. KRIEG
International News Service.

COLUMBUS, O., April 3.—A case of body ossification, similar to that of the 7-year-old Pennsylvania boy whose body gradually is turning into stone has been discovered in a 24-year-old Ohio State University student and has been a subject of research and study for the last two months, it was revealed here today.

The case of the university student, whose identity was withheld, is under the observation of Dr. George N. Curtis, professor of surgery and surgical research at Ohio State.

Dr. Curtis revealed that the 24-year-old university student thus far has shown only symptoms of the strange malady, which in advanced cases virtually makes the victim a prisoner of his own body as it becomes petrified.

Discussing in an exclusive interview with International News Service today the experiments he has been making for the past two months, Dr. Curtis intimated that his tests have been resulting in some improvement in the student's condition.

Thus far, Dr. Curtis said, the tests with the college student have failed to show that the parathyroid gland is responsible for the malady, but the experiments are being continued along this line—not only with the parathyroid gland but with other internal secreting glands as well—to determine if there is any relation between them and ossification of the body.

These glands are known, Dr. Custis pointed out, to have an important bearing upon bone growth and because of that he is delving thoroughly into the possibility that they may also have a bearing upon the malady which, in the case of the Pennsylvania boy, is baffling outstanding physicians.

TEXT WRITING STARTED BY STUDENTS

Pittsburgh's foremost schools of education—its three universities—swung into active participation today in the Mount Rushmore National Memorial inscription competition.

Students of the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute of Technology and Duquesne University will submit their 600-word entries on nine specific episodes of the nation's history through their respective schools.

The presidents of each of the universities already were supporting the historical project by serving on the Pittsburgh Memorial Committee. This committee will judge the final entries from Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia for submission of the district's best to the national committee of which President Roosevelt is chairman. Dr. John G. Bowman, Dr. Thomas S. Baker and the Very Rev. J. J. Callahan, of Pitt, Tech and Duquesne, respectively, already publically lauded the national project.

Now they announce the appointment of a chairman in each school to receive the students' entries. Students will submit their entries as follows:

University of Pittsburgh — Submit to Prof. Percival Hunt, head of the English department, Room 219, Alumni Hall.

Duquesne University — Prof. W. J. Mathewson, head of English department.

Maybe from one of these thousands of students will come the text that will form the basis for the inscription which will be carved by the noted sculptor, Gutzon Borglum, on Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills of South Dakota. There is no need for the students to hurry their manuscripts. There is plenty of time before the closing date of this competition being sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers.

The texts must be based upon and include nine specific episodes in America's history. These are: 1—Writing of the Declaration of Independence. 2—Drafting of the American Constitution. 3—Purchase of Louisiana. 4—Ceding of the Floridas to the United States. 5—Entry of Texas into the Union. 6—Acquisition of California. 7—Settlement of Oregon boundary dispute. 8—Alaska purchase. 9—Building of the Panama Canal.

Read the Sun-Telegraph every day for instructive articles. The scholarship awards are worth the entrants' careful consideration of every detail of the nine episodes before writing.

VAST TERRITORY CEDED BY MEXICO

Purchase by U. S. Added Bonanza To U. S.

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth of a series of articles by Mrs. Woodhouse on the nine episodes in American history that are to be recounted in the Mt. Rushmore Memorial.)

By HENRY WOODHOUSE

By treaties entered into in 1848 and 1853 Mexico ceded to the United States the huge territory that comprises the states of California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, part of New Mexico, aggregating 529,189 square miles and extending the Pacific seaboard line to its present point.

A glance at the map published with this article will disclose the importance of this territory to the United States and the reason why this is one of the subjects to be commemorated in the 600 words inscription to be carved on Mount Rushmore, to secure the best text for which the Hearst newspapers are holding the nation-wide competition.

The first treaty, known as the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, because it was signed in that city on February 2, 1848, ended the war between the United States and Mexico, in which the American forces had been victorious and, commanded by Gen. Winfield Scott, had occupied the City of Mexico, the capital of Mexico.

WAR OVER TEXAS

That war had been the outcome of the refusal on the part of Mexico to recognize the independence of Texas.

The act declaring war against Mexico was passed by Congress on May 12, 1845, and was signed by President J. K. Polk on May 13.

Sixteen months later, after a series of brilliant engagements in which both sides fought with valor, Gen. Scott's troops, on September 13, 1847, captured the fortress of Chapultepec, and then marched into the Mexican capital.

GENEROUS COURSE

Instead of claiming the territories by right of conquest and requiring payments of indemnities from Mexico, as conquerors had always done, the United States followed a friendly, generous course.

It bought and paid close to $20,000,000 — an enormous sum in those days—for territory, which was so wild that Article XI of the Guadalupe hidalgo treaty actually provided as follows:

"Considering that a great part of the territories, which, by the present treaty, are to be comprehended for the future within the limits of the United States, is now occupied by savage tribes, who will hereafter be under the exclusive control of the government of the United States, and whose incursions within the territory of Mexico would be prejudicial in the extreme, it is solemnly agreed that all such incursions shall be forcibly restrained by the government of the United States whensoever this may be necessary; and that when they cannot be prevented, they shall be punished by the said government, and satisfaction for the same shall be exacted—all in the same way, and with equal diligence and energy, as if the same incursions were meditated or committed within its own territory, against its own citizens."

CENTURY'S MIRACLE

That wild country the United States took over and converted into industrial, peace-abiding states in less than a century!

The treaty provided that the United States shall pay $15,000,000 in gold or silver coin of Mexico, of which $3,000,000 was payable upon the ratification of the treaty, and $3,000,000 a year thereafter, with interest at 6 per cent per annum.

In addition the United States undertook to settle the claims that had been advanced against the Mexican government by Americans prior to the war for seizures and other causes.

The boundaries of the territory ceded by Mexico were defined in the treaty of 1853, as follows:

"Beginning in the Gulf of Mexico, three leagues from land, opposite the mouth of the Rio Grande, as provided in the fifth article of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo; thence, as defined in the said article, up the middle of that river to the point where the parallel of 31 degrees 47 minutes north latitude crosses the same; thence due west 100 miles; thence south to the parallel of 31 degrees 20 minutes to the one hundred and eleventh meridian of longitude west of Greenwich; thence in a straight line to a point on the Colorado River 20 English miles below the junction of the Gila and Colorado rivers; thence up the middle of the said river Colorado until it intersects the present line between the United States and Mexico."

RUSH FOR GOLD

The discovery of gold in the lower Sacramento valley, California, on January 14, 1848, and elsewhere thereafter, started a period of frantic emigration to California.

That necessitated establishing a government, and speeded the framing of the Constitution and the admission of California to the union, as a state, which took place September 9, 1850.

Nevada was admitted to statehood in 1864, Utah in 1896, New Mexico and Arizona in 1912.

There is drama, adventure and heroism on every page of the records of the evolution of the territory ceded by Mexico, from wilderness infested by Indians to rich representative states.

It all reflects that American quality which President Roosevelt characterized as:

"The pioneer spirit, the creative urge, which led our people to populate the various areas which from time to time came into our nation."

DANDRUFF Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it. Then, you destroy it entirely. To do this, get some plain ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c). No matter how much dandruff you have, this simple remedy never fails.

AWARD GIVEN SHORTCAKE RECIPE

Be a good hostess by enjoying yourself with your guests. Don't leave them half the evening with the excuse that you have "a few things to do in the kitchen." Seeing your friends should be a pleasure, not a task.

Not that Prudence Penny would have you do away with refreshments. She knows only too well the cozy atmosphere a bit of cake or sandwiches served with a cup of coffee will create. Yet you don't have a maid, is your wail, so what to do?

There are plenty of things that are delicious yet won't keep you fussing over foods while the rest of the crowd are enjoying themselves. One almost sure-to-be-a-hit-with-everyone suggestion comes from Sally Elliott today. Her prize-winning recipe is German style Strawberry Shortcake which needs only the slip of the knife at serving time. And how many of your friends don't get hungry-eyed at the mere suggestion of strawberry shortcake?

Whether or not you've already won a prize, Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will welcome your favorite recipes. Those she uses will be awarded either a $5 or a $1 prize. No recipes are returned.

Five Dollar Prize Winner

SALLY ELLIOTT,
1050 Woodberry road, New Kensington.
STRAWBERRY SHORT CAKE
GERMAN STYLE

Part I

Two-third cup butter or other shortening.
One egg yolk.
Two to four tablespoons water.
One and one-half cups flour.

Cream shortening, add egg yolk, water and flour. Make a stiff batter. Spread over bottom of cake pan. Pan should be about two inches deep. Bake to golden brown, 30 to 35 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Part II

Two egg yolks.
One cup sugar.
Three egg whites.

Beat egg yolks until lemon colored, add sugar gradually and stir 15 minutes. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Place quart of cleaned berries over cake when removed from oven (Part I). Pour mixture (Part II) over all and return to oven and bake at moderate temperature for 15 minutes to a delicate brown.

One 10-ounce can tomato soup.
One-half cup water or liquor drained from can of Chinese vegetables.
Three-quarter cup grated cheese (one-quarter pound).
One and one-half teaspoon salt.

Method: Break spaghetti into two-inch pieces. Cook until tender (about 15 minutes) in one quart boiling water to which one teaspoon salt has been added. Drain. Brown meat in one teaspoon drippings. Add onion, celery and Chinese vegetables and cook 10 minutes. Mix meat, onion, celery, Chinese vegetables and cooked spaghetti together. Measure the grated cheese by packing into cup. Add tomato soup, water or liquor from vegetables, grated cheese, salt and pepper. Place in buttered casserole and bake 45 minutes or simmer on top of stove 30 minutes. Bake in moderate oven in an eight-inch casserole or saucepan. This amount serves six.

Note: Chopped green peppers, mushrooms and cooked kidney beans may be substituted for the Chinese vegetables.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE

Three cups sugar.
Two tablespoons cocoa.
One tablespoon butter.
One cup condensed milk.
Three tablespoons corn syrup.
Two tablespoons marshmallow creme.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One cup chopped nuts.

Measure sugar and cocoa and blend well. Measure milk so as to have ready and also have the syrup handy. Measure butter and put in pan on the stove to melt. When butter is melted and a golden brown add milk, sugar and cocoa mixture, mix well and when it comes to a boil add syrup. Let boil till it forms a firm ball in cold water. Stir often but not continually, as it burns easily. When it is done remove from fire, add marshmallow and stir till melted, add vanilla, mix again, then beat thoroughly with rotary (Dover) egg beater. When sufficiently creamy and well beaten add nuts and pour in greased pans. Cool, cut and eat.

BELMONT SALAD

Arrange slices of pineapple in individual nest of small lettuce heart leaves; dispose over pineapple two sections each of grapefruit and orange freed of membranes and seeds, leaving an open space in center. Fill this space with Julienne strips of celery, French endive and blanched shredded almonds. Moisten with Chantilly mayonnaise. Sprinkle over each portion finely chopped pistachio nut meats.

Chantilly mayonnaise—

Prepare mayonnaise dressing, then add one cup of heavy cream whipped until stiff. Serve soon after cream and mayonnaise have been mixed.

MARCH MEETING LOAF

In the morning put together one cup of yeast (one yeast cake dissolved in one cup lukewarm water), one cup sugar, three cups of milk and flour enough to make a thick sponge. At night add one cup sugar, one cup shortening (one-half cup butter, one-half cup lard) and two cups currants. Add an egg and flour enough to stiffen. Let rise over night. The next morning knead and put in pans to rise. Makes four medium loaves. Bake same as ordinary bread about one hour.

MRS. J. HARPER ADAMS,

FRITZI'S HOME SAVED AGAIN

WATERBURY, Conn., April 3.—(AP.)—Fritzi Scheff's modest little cottage was saved for her again today, and this time definitely—just the day before the mortgage was to be foreclosed.

Three times the court had granted her an extension of the foreclosure date and each time she was unable to raise the money—$1,590—a sum that once her voice brought her in a week.

The last time she became a New York taproom hostess. But that, too, ended. The foreclosure date was April 3. She asked then:

"What will I do tomorrow, or two weeks from now? That's more than I can tell. But I'll find something."

And today she found it. The Home Owners Loan Corporation agreed to take over the mortgage.

3 Killed, 7 Shot As Troops Mutiny

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 3.—(AP.)—Col. Nicholas Tejeda, the assistant military commander of La Cebia Fort, mutined yesterday, opening fire against his commander, Gen. Rufino Solis.

Soldiers participated in the fight, three of them were killed and seven wounded. Both Gen. Solis and Col. Tejeda were seriously wounded.

Tammany Forces Will Oust Curry

NEW YORK, April 3.—(Universal.)—Tammany's executive committee needs only to vote to oust John F. Curry from Democratic leadership of Manhattan, it was disclosed last night after a secret meeting.

At this meeting, 17 Tammany leaders, already with most enough voting power to depose Curry, planned an unrelenting campaign against him.

GERMAN GROUP OPPOSED TO LEAGUE

The German-American Federation, representing about 148,000 residents of Allegheny County, born in Germany or of German parentage, has approved the stand of the Hearst newspapers in opposing the entry of the United States into the World Court or the League of Nations. Resolutions supporting the stand of the federation were adopted at a local conclave held recently in Homestead Turner Hall.

Attorney John F. Gloeckner, chairman of the legislative committee of the federation, presented the resolution which was certified by Reinhard Ullrich, of Pittsburgh, president of the local county unit. Similar action is expected to follow in conclaves of the federation in all parts of the state.

The resolution follows:

"We, the German-American Federation, representing the German and German speaking element in Allegheny County, do hereby establish our unalterable opposition to the entry of our government into either the League of Nations or its World Court, with or without reservations, and further we petition our federal government to keep the United States free from foreign entanglements and from meddling in the affairs of foreign nations and out of foreign conflicts and complications."

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph was lauded for its part in the campaign of the Hearst newspapers to obtain signatures of persons opposed to entrance into the League of Nations and World Court, in the April issue of The Grenade, the publication of the H. O. Diller Post, No. 169, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The publication calls attention to the fact that the Sun-Telegraph is conducting the drive in this district and that petitions are available at post headquarters. The Grenade further states:

"The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is to be commended for circulating this petition and also for the drive they are making in presenting the true side of the war with the action pictures that appear each Sunday in a section of the Sun-Telegraph. Europe probably will be in a war before many months. We sincerely hope that the United States remains aloof from any part of European entanglements. Sign this petition and then write a letter to your Congressmen and Senators and let them know how you feel toward the League of Nations or the World Court of the League of Nations."

GERMANY BANS CARNEGIE UNIT

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—The Hitler government has stopped the educational work of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace in Berlin, it was revealed in the annual report of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler as director of the division of intercourse and education of the endowment.

It was explained in behalf of the endowment that Carnegie officials had enjoyed most friendly relations with former German governments, but that lectures conducted under Carnegie auspices were stopped immediately after Chancellor Hitler came into power.

The reason for this action, it was added, presumably was that the whole work of the endowment was based upon free discussion of the international relations, so that it was contrary to the aims of the Nazi regime.

As the endowment desires to re-establish its work in Berlin, its officers have refrained from adverse criticism of the Nazi government's action.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

PETITION AGAINST PARTICIPATION In the LEAGUE of NATIONS and World Court

If you want to save America from European entanglements and keep your country out of foreign wars, and foreign wars out of your country, sign this petition:

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

We protest AGAINST the United States participating in the League of Nations or in the World Court of the League of Nations, with or without "reservations."

We petition our Federal Government to keep our United States "free from foreign entanglements," as the Father of Our Country wisely enjoined.

We urge our Congress at Washington to keep our government from meddling in foreign affairs, and to keep foreign nations from meddling in our American affairs.

As loyal American citizens, we ask our loyal representatives to keep our country out of foreign conflicts and complications and to keep foreign conflicts and complications out of our country.

NAME ADDRESS

Additional names may be added to this petition by pasting a sheet of paper hereto. PRESENTED through the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

Junior Patrol Mail Box

We hope some of our Junior Patrols will have baseball teams this summer, fellows!

How about it, captains? Have you enough members to organize a Junior team? If you will get a team together and practice, we will start a game exchange right here in the Mail Box. Just write and tell us what time you want to play, and about how old most of your players are, and we will put a notice in the Mail Box that you would like to play another Junior Patrol team. In that way, maybe we can start a league.

You know they call baseball the Great American Game. Well, that seems to be about right. There are millions of fellows playing baseball. Most of them are amateurs—that means they don't play for money. Baseball is a swell game. It's good exercise and it teaches a fellow the value of team play and good sportsmanship.

Here in Pittsburgh we have one of the best National League teams, the Pittsburgh Pirates. They have been in training out in the sunny West for several months now, but they will open their season soon, and start playing at Forbes Field, Oakland. We hope lots of our members will go to see them play, and watch how they do it.

DRAW A CIRCLE AROUND THE CENTER OF THIS FINE TOBACCO PLANT

These are the Center Leaves—the Mildest Leaves—the heart of Lucky Strike

As you can see from this picture—Luckies' fine, smooth quality doesn't just happen—for we use only the center leaves! Not the top leaves because those are under-developed—not ripe. Not the bottom leaves because those are inferior in quality—they grow close to the ground and are dirt-covered, coarse, sandy. We select only the center leaves—for which farmers are paid higher prices—for the center leaves are the mildest leaves—they taste better—then—"It's toasted"—for throat protection. And every Lucky is fully packed with these choice tobaccos—made round and firm—free from loose ends—that's why Luckies do not dry out. Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat.

POLITICS BLOW TO MERGING OF COUNTIES

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—Hampered by local pride and political patronage, a movement to consolidate counties is struggling to make headway in a score of states.

The farm-to-city trend of population and the recovery by states of title to tax delinquent land have caused tax burdens to rise in rural areas. These factors, plus increasing costs of government, have given vitality to campaigns for combining counties whose boundaries date back to the covered wagon era.

A survey showed today that about a dozen legislatures recently considered bills to merge counties having mutual economic, topographic, social and climatic characteristics.

NEBRASKA LAW PASSED

Nebraska enacted a law making consolidations easy but it has not been taken advantage of. So did Virginia. The Legislature in Wisconsin will have an opportunity next year to pass on a report by its tax committee which is conducting hearings along this line.

In Michigan petitions are being circulated asking for a constitutional amendment to permit county consolidations for a vote in November.

Idaho amended its constitution in 1932 to permit it as an economy move.

Local pride and politicians' fears of destroying jobs, and consequently their patronage, is blamed by sponsoring taxpayers organizations for the slow progress in this direction. They would re-align county boundaries as to wealth, transportation, geography, sociology and similar factors.

Their crusade started in Tennessee 15 years ago when James and Hamilton counties were joined. Only two years ago Georgia spliced three counties together reducing its total from 161 to 159.

An unlimited field has been given an Indiana commission on governmental economy in reporting next November concerning county tieups.

GOVERNOR'S VETO

Wisconsin's Legislature actually passed a bill calling for a referendum on merging Pepin and Buffalo counties, but Gov. Schmedeman vetoed it.

The Montana Taxpayer Association has indicated it will renew next winter its unsuccessful effort of last year to get legislative approval of such a play.

The last Wyoming Senate was in favor of amending the Constitution to make consolidation possible but the House killed it.

C. P. Newton, chairman of the Arkansas Corporation Commission, has proposed that the 75 counties be re-formed to coincide with boundaries of the 34 senatorial districts.

Several Tennessee newspapers have been advocating further county consolidation there. A proposal to merge three Delaware counties never reached the Legislature. In California there is a plan to ask the 1935 Legislature to change 58 counties into 15 districts.

In several instances two Virginia counties used the same official jointly, such as superintendent of county schools.

Alabama, Mississippi, Minnesota, Kansas, Washington and New Mexico legislatures throttled bills which would have merged counties within the past two years.

However, the special session in New Mexico April 9 is expected to consider a scheme to erase counties by setting tax valuation standards too high for some of them to reach.

C. OF C. SEEKS CONVENTIONS

A two weeks' campaign to bring conventions to Pittsburgh will be opened April 16 by the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by Alwyn Morgan, new head of the chamber's convention bureau.

Morgan said that 90 billboards will be posted with signs urging Pittsburghers to recommend their city as a "convention town." The Pittsburgh Railways Company will display signs in street cars free of charge, according to Morgan. Signs are also to be placed in retail store windows.

Morgan, who was formerly associated with the Cleveland Convention Board, expects to bring more than 100 conventions to the city this year. In 1933 there were 82 conventions.

The Best GRAY HAIR REMEDY IS MADE AT HOME

You can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy, by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained.

Barbo imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair, makes it soft and glossy and takes years off your looks. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. Do not be handicapped by gray hair now when it is so economical and easy to get rid of it in your own home.

FOUR LEAF CLOVER PATTERN 672

Two Pattern Pieces Make Choice Quilt

Lady Luck—who does not woo her? Who hasn't been delighted on finding a four leaf clover, certain that, if carefully cherished, it would indeed bring luck to its owner. How lucky then this quilt Four Leaf Clover must be, for it is made of that emblem itself. And every quiltmaker will see at a glance that it is a very fortunate pattern, for it is made of but two pattern pieces! It would be very handsome done in two green materials on a white background. Of course any two shades of one color would be effective and still show up the four leaf clover.

Pattern 672 comes to you with complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10 cents for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

Relieves the headache

-then braces you!

There are 5 medicinal ingredients in Bromo-Seltzer. It's a balanced compound. It not only quickly relieves headaches and other pains of nerve origin, but also actually refreshes you and makes you feel keener.

No wonder mere pain-killers aren't as effective. And you also take Bromo-Seltzer as a liquid. It works faster. It quickly relieves gas on the stomach, too.

Pleasant, dependable, and doesn't upset you. Keep a bottle handy all the time. Insist on the one and only "Emerson's" Bromo-Seltzer. The familiar blue bottle has been a standby for over forty years.

State Lacks Funds To Pay Rent Relief

The use of state relief funds to buy shelter is impossible because of lack of money, according to Eric H. Biddle, executive director of the State Emergency Board. In a letter to City Council, Biddle points out that the request sponsored by the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board for the payment of rent is beyond the state's available resources.

Child's Clothing Fired by Youths

SHARON, Pa., April 3.—William Fabian, 8, of Cottage way, is recovering in Buhl Hospital from burns sustained, according to police, when two older boys poured gasoline on his clothes and set fire to him. The youngster's life was saved by Fred J. Keister, Elm avenue, Spanish War veteran and former alderman, who extinguished the flames. The older boys are being sought by police.

Nurse to Take New Position at Reading

Miss Gertrude Sutherland, for 12 years associated with West Penn Hospital's School of Nursing, Pittsburgh, will become director of the nursing education department of Reading General Hospital, Reading, Pa. this week. Miss Sutherland was appointed to the post by the Department of Welfare.

Hazelwood, Glenwood Protest Robberies

Declaring that there has been an alarming increase in holdups and robberies in the Hazelwood and Glenwood districts, the Hazelwood-Glenwood Community Association has asked City Council to grant them a hearing. In a letter to Council, they charge a lack of co-operation by city officials and a scarcity of police.

School Cow Passes Test, Is

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 3.—Mabel, a cow owned by St. Vincent's College dairy farm, did appreciate blood tests as a precaution against tuberculosis.

When George Edison, farm hand, attempted to make the test, Mabel protested forcefully, and crushed Edison against a stanchion in the stable. He suffered two broken ribs.

RADIO FEATURES

Light Opera Presented On WCAE

A new series of programs bringing to the air the greatest operettas of the past and present, sung by the outstanding stars of stage and radio, is inaugurated over an NBC-WCAE network tonight at 10 o'clock.

With Gladys Swarthout, Theodore Webb and Frank McIntyre, of the old vaudeville team of McIntyre and Heath, in the leading roles, and Nathaniel Shilkret's orchestra in the pit, tonight's performance is a full-hour microphone version of "The Vagabond King."

* * *

Conrad Thibault, Lois Bennett and Harry Salter's orchestra in a new series of broadcasts beginning over KDKA at 8:30 p. m.

* * *

E. W. Smith, vice president in charge of Central Region, Pennsylvania Railroad, speaks to the KDKA listeners tonight at 7:15, on the Pittsburgh Varieties program.

STRAUSS WALTZES

Waltzes and other toe-enticing tunes of the Viennese composer, Johann Strauss, comprise the concert of popular classics played by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra over WJAS tonight at 9:30.

* * *

* * *

* * *

* * *

Leo Reisman, Wayne King, Ben Bernie and Ed Wynn follow one another at half-hour intervals from 8 until 10 tonight, on WCAE.

* * *

Dutch Haid, who conducts the "Listeners' Corner" on WWSW week-days at 8 in the morning, is raising a fund to send 40 undernourished children to a fresh air farm near Kittanning.

Big Season Ahead for Listeners

By AIRCASTER

Some time ago I opined that the customary spring fadeout of the bigger and better programs wouldn't occur this year,—that swell programs would continue through what used to be considered a slack season.

Just to keep me honest, I suppose, the radio solons are beginning a spring splurge this week.

There are on the slate for the next few days no less than 13 new features, probably the biggest of which is an excursion into musical comedy on a grand scale.

Beginning tonight, WCAE brings the local listeners a full-hour radio version of "The Vagabond King," with Gladys Swarthout in the stellar role, supported by Nat Shilkret's orchestra.

Earlier in the evening, KDKA inaugurates a new motorcar program, a sister show to the WCAE feature heard on Saturday nights. It will feature Lois Bennett, Thibault and Harry Salter's orchestra.

And Morton Downey returns to CBS this evening at 6:45, a spot which Paul Gannon capably fills on the local outlet, and will continue to fill.

MOUNTAIN DISH

Thursday night, KDKA joins NBC in a new serial written by Lulu Vollmer of "Moonshine and Honeysuckle" fame. It's called "Grits and Gravy," and is another story of mountain folk.

An old Mid-West feature starring Dorothy Lawrence, The Cadets Quartet and Clarence Wheeler's orchestra over CBS Thursday night at 10:30.

On Friday night, "Stories That Must Be Told," by Fulton Oursler, editor and novelist, are inaugurated over KDKA at 10:15.

Jack Benny, Frank Parker and Don Bestor's musicians begin a new series on WCAE Friday night at 10:30.

GLOBE TROTTING

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

A few days ago we all celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Rev. Jacob F. Snyder, of New Kensington. Mr. Snyder was listening in, as he always did, while the announcement was made of special festivities arranged in his honor by his friends and former members of his spiritual flock.

Yesterday the Sun-Telegraph printed the notice of his death. It brought to mind the letter he addressed to friends shortly before his hundredth birthday celebration, held March 24. Mr. Snyder wrote that he might not be here to celebrate his birthday, but that he wanted his friends to celebrate whether he was here or not.

He pointed out that instead of mourning his death, should he leave before the party date arrived, his friends should give thanks and celebrate that he was permitted to be so long with them.

* * *

A lady listener from Mobile is among the Globe Trotters. She first became attracted to globe trotting when she heard about the Alabama wildcat. She has been "mad" at me ever since. Doesn't think I did the right thing by the great state of Alabama. They have no wildcats that recite poetry.

Lady, I apologize, and you are welcome to come here and tell us all about Alabama. And if that wasn't a wildcat—?

* * *

Mr. Ichter and Mr. Rocca have had an argument, one of the friendly variety. They have differed over the date of the composition of "O Sole Mio."

I refuse to answer. I've got two friends now in there and the best I can get is to lose one of them. No, sir. Anyway, it is an old Italian folksong that may have been composed at anytime.

Seibel Discusses Plays, Players

The Globe Trotter broadcasts over WCAE-WJAS at 12:15 and 2:15 p. m.

"Aircaster," as usual, has no idea what he's going to talk about over WCAE and WJAS at 6:30 p. m.

SPEAK UP, SISTERS!

Glances Into the Realms of Domesticity and Romance

By MARION BRUNOT

Beggar Given Shirt Asks For Collar Button

Do you draw back your skirts, and tell him to be on his way? Do you give him one icy glance and shut the door in his face? Or do you help him just a little, preaching him a 10-yard sermon with "the better than thou" as the chief theme?

Some of us enjoy the stiff upper lip where the world's unfortunates come in. We like to spiel the tale of how we have been GYPPED, at one time or other. Wasted a whole quarter. We will not do it again. No sir ee!

Recalling the blind man, who wasn't blind at all. The one-arm man, who all the while had that other arm pasted to his body. The wily old woman who was a mendicant by day and a tiarraed lady at night. Or again the sister who died in a cold attic room hugging her bag of gathered gold tightly, the gold that had come to her in cups on crowded thoroughfares.

Just where do you belong, sister? Do you belong to the type that can say "no" with all the righteous fervor of an Apostle Paul. Or do you pass out the sheckels and then wish you hadn't.

DISCUSSING BEGGARS

There were four of us sitting before roaring logs. Outside the blasts of winter beat against the windows. The arc lights were veiled in snow, and zero was dangerously near being recorded on the frosted thermometers.

We were discussing beggars. There have been so many of them lately.

"You ought to get Janey to tell you about her experiences," teased Janey's husband. "Tell Marion about Billy Billings."

Janey looked apologetic, and wavered slightly.

And the man of the house continued:

"Well, you see, no matter who comes to our front door, he gets an audience. We can come home at any hour here and find Janey sympathetically listening to all sorts of eerie tales of misadventure.

"The afternoon Billy Billings came, Janey answered his knock, and without any preliminaries, a rosy faced, tallish man said:

GIVES A SHIRT

"'I need a shirt. Look at this one. Filthy, I say.'

"And Janey seeing his dirty linen, and all agog with her desire to help, invited him into the living room, and told him to wait until she returned from upstairs. Down she came shortly carrying one of my shirts which had a slight tear near the collar band.

"'Thanks,' said the stranger, 'I'm Billy Billings.'

"'And I'm ——— ———,' said my wife, and for all I know, they shook hands on it.

"Billy Billings retired into the shadows of our rear room, and soon returned wearing my shirt, and carrying his soiled one.

"'You don't have a collar button,' he inquired.

"And my wife was awfully sorry. But she didn't. Also as Billy began enlarging upon himself, she was worried. For she feared I soon would be home. And she wasn't at all sure I would be as glad to see Billy Billings as she was. And when she said somehting along this line, he didn't seem to hear, but went on talking. And finally I did arrive."

LAST OF BILLINGS

Here Janey broke in:

"And you ought to have seen the look he gave that poor man," she said. "It was a look that passed him right out of the front door, meek as Moses."

And she sighed, as she watched the flames leap up toward the open chimney.

"And that was the last of Billy Billings. And I was out a shirt that could have been mended."

And the man of the house laughed genially.

Speak up, sisters. What is your opinion of this sort of hospitality? Do beggars grip your heart? And do you remember, no matter when you see them, that, after all, we are all mendicants of some kind? It may not be the material things we ask for. But the things of the heart. The ones belonging to the spirit. How of them?

And does Janey know all this? And as she sits, protected, before her fire, and with her books and pictures about her, is that why she is kind to these strangers whom she quaintly calls "gentlemen?"

It was Goethe who said that in every human being he saw pictured what he, himself, might have been.

Do Not Belittle Success Achieved by Others, Says Fay King

TO REFUSE TO SEE MERIT IN THE SUCCESS OF A CONTEMPORARY IS TO BE A HUMAN OSTRICH

FAY KING

By FAY KING

No one should resent the success achieved by a competitor. There is room for all who have ability.

This would be a deadly dull world if it were possible for only one person to succeed in each line.

Success may be the same, but each person has reached it in his own way. The public is great and generous in its appreciation. Each may please and win patronage and applause.

To resent the success of another in one's own line is ridiculous. For, in our turn, we admire equally many who succeeded in some other line.

If you cannot see merit in a "rival" can you judge fairly of your own ability?

Madge Hears Details of Unsuccessful Chase

Fortunate it was for me, I fancy, that Marion and the other members of the "trailing party" hurried through their midnight supper and returned to the front veranda, where my father had watched jealously to see that I drained every drop of the hot milk he had brought to me. I do not think that otherwise I could have endured in silence the waiting for Junior and Roderick to return.

But when they came trooping back from the kitchen, gayly assuring me that they had left Katie's domain exactly as they found it, I forced myself to find respite in listening to their account of the futile pursuit of Mary and Noel.

GLAD OF ESCAPE

"They certainly were slick," Bob said. "We tried to trail their tires, but they went directly to the main road, and it was impossible after that. We got almost to Patchogue, inquiring of everybody awake along the route if such a nifty car had been seen, and then we awoke to the probability of their rushing over to Riverhead and taking any one of the routes out from there; or they could even have stayed at one of the North Shore hotels. Of course, we're not saying anything about double-crossers or people of that ilk, but we're thinking a lot.

He sent a burlesqued glare at Marion and Ronald, who returned his look defiantly. I spoke quickly, for I did not know what touch of pique might lie beneath the implied accusation — incidentally, the truth— that Marion and Ronald had connived at the unmolested escape of the bride and groom.

"In one way I'm not sorry they got away," I said. "If there'd been a chance of your catching them, Avis Arlen would have gone with you, and—"

I hesitated, and Carolyn finished the sentence for me.

"And that wouldn't have been so good; not so good, at all," she said, sapiently nodding her curly head.

"I'm glad they got away without Avis Arlen getting in any more of her stiletto work," her brother acquiesced.

"By the way, where is the fair Avis?" Bob asked. "I can't see her going for a moonlight drive to the beach without some man hitched fast to the rumble seat."

I was glad of the semi-darkness, for I was conscious—and furious at the knowledge—that my cheeks were involuntarily flaming as I answered him.

"She did have a man all to herself," I said, trying to make my voice insouciant.

"Who?"

"What man?"

MAJOR SHANGHAIED

The excited exclamations tumbled from the lips of Ronald, Bob and Carolyn. Marion's comment was slower but more effective.

"But there was a rich, handsome and attractive bachelor left behind," she said. "Don't tell me, Auntie Madge, that she shanghaied Major Grantland into taking her to the beach?"

I found my lips twitching at the aptness of her phrase. "Shanghaied" was exactly the word to describe the method by which Avis Arlen had secured Hugh Grantland's escort for the drive. But, of course, I could not admit that to the laughing young things surrounding my couch.

"Fie, fie!" I said, with smiling reproof. "That isn't a nice word to use in connection with Avis. Major Grantland did take her to the beach in his car, but he certainly wasn't 'shanghaied' into doing it."

Marion whirled and pointed an accusing forefinger at me.

"You can't tell me that Major Grantland asked her to go with him," she cried.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

The Diet Is a Factor in Good Teeth

It is probable that the children of this generation, when they reach adult life, will be spared many ailments and chronic disorders suffered by their parents and grandparents. Today medical science firmly believes in and practices preventive medicine. This will result in health and vigor. For this reason, doctors urge periodic visits to the dentist to prevent rather than cure ailing teeth.

Dr. Copeland

Despite the advancements in human knowledge, there are multitudes who continue to neglect mouth hygiene and fail to take the necessary steps to insure healthy teeth. Though this negligence is usually pure thoughtlessness, it leads to a great deal of unnecessary suffering. Most of us really know that neglected teeth are the root of many evils and that healthy teeth insure strong and sturdy bodies.

Contrary to popular belief healthy teeth are not acquired by simply brushing them twice a day and visiting the dentist twice a year. Too many neglect proper dental care and only visit the dentist when severe pain cries out that something is wrong. There are thousands and thousands of persons with genuine dental trouble who have never had their teeth X-rayed. Yet, it is often impossible to determine the health of a tooth without an X-ray picture.

Many fail to realize the importance of the diet in maintaining healthy teeth. It is known that foods rich in lime, phosphorus and vitamin D produce strong teeth and bones. Failure to take sufficient amounts of these important elements, leads to soft and, pretty soon, to decayed teeth.

How can these vital substances be obtained?

Fortunately, certain common foods contain an abundance of these precious elements. For example, milk will give you an adequate supply. All these elements are found in vegetables, fruits and eggs, but not as abundantly as in milk. It is for this reason that a daily quart of milk is advised for every growing child and at least a daily pint for every adult.

Vitamin D, so essential to the building of strong bones and teeth, is found in certain natural foods, such as egg yolk, milk and cod liver oil. In addition, direct sunshine on the body helps supply this vitamin. The value of sunshine as an aid in the prevention of weak bones and teeth is demonstrated in the prevention and cure of rickets. The child who is exposed to adequate amounts of sunshine, never shows signs of rickets.

I cannot overstate the importance of proper diet for developing strong healthy teeth. The expectant mother should include a liberal amount of these valuable foods in her diet. This will assure the baby of good temporary teeth as well as strong, permanent teeth. Abundant fresh air, sunlight and a nourishing diet, will strengthen the child and adult against the "stress and strain" of life.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. P. H. Q.—My 20-month-old baby has had eczema for some time. I have tried to change her diet without much success. She is teething. Would this be a factor?

A.—The fact that the baby is teething would be apt to be a factor under the circumstances. The diet and elimination are important. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Fashion Flashes

By ALICE ALDEN

Well suited is the damsel who fares forth in a new dinner suit of black moire. The long, slim skirt and tight little jacket with huge revers are well set off by a blouse of palest pink net.

On your toes isn't so fashionable now that low-heeled shoes are so perfectly styled. A new low-heeled evening shoe of black crepe is a sandal and has pipings and linings of silver kid.

Luxury lingers in the folds of a lovely cape of white fox dyed a deep blue. This is arranged so that it fastens around the waist. There is a matching muff of the blue fox. Nice with coat frocks, coats or suits, and can be worn with evening things too.

A theater party revealed a very lovely evening wrap. This was of white mat velvet, full length and fitted, with large sleeves very full at the elbow, but with a tight cuff from elbow to wrist. The cowl neckline had blue fox posed very low in back and coming loosely over the shoulder to the neckline.

The little brown hen would look in surprise if she could know how her shade of brown is being used by designers. This shade of brown is used for a beautiful wool crepe coat, with a belt made entirely of clear amber discs. The coat has a draped neckline and scarf in one. The sleeves, full at the elbow, fit into a long tight cuff.

You've heard no doubt about the new fad, using no powder and giving the skin a polish with a chamois skin? Nothing to it. The advocates of this new wildness are those lucky dollies who have soft, dry, velvety skins that don't need powder. The average complexion is lubricated. Nature does that so one's face won't flake and blow away. A shine is no help. We are of the opinion that the powder pad is not to be retired from service, but will go on fulfilling the mission for which it was designed.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

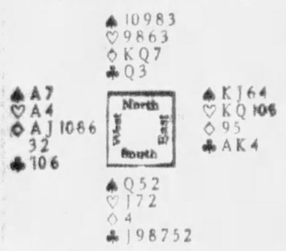
By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Deceptive Honors

When a bridge player reaches a contract of six and the player at his left holds the King-Queen of the chosen trump suit, the latter, even if his hand is destitute of other honors, does not appear unduly optimistic if he doubles, particularly when the bidding has clearly indicated that the Ace is in the hand of the Declarer and hence the King and Queen appear as certain to make tricks as any cards in the deck. However, this does not always work, as a player in New York learned the other day, when he saw what he believed to be two certain trump tricks change as if by magic into one.

West, Dealer.

East and West vulnerable.



The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ◇	Pass	2 ♡ (1)	Pass
4 ◇ (2)	Pass	4 ♠ (3)	Pass
4 NT (4)	Pass	5 ◇ (5)	Pass
6 ◇	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—Unquestionably East has a strong hand. However, in view of his short suits and indifferent fit with the diamonds, the most probable game contract would appear to be notroump.

2—West, too, is slightly optimistic. The Jump Trump Rebid is designed to show a trump suit with not more than one loser. West must assume favorable distribution if this prediction of his is to be realized in the play.

3—The Jump Trump Rebid by West has forestalled the possibility of playing the hand at three notrump, so East now shows his second major suit, even though the values are slightly shaded.

4—Showing three Aces.

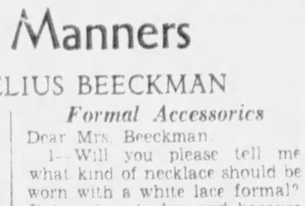
5—East reasons that if West has at least, as he has guaranteed with his Jump Rebid, a six-card suit with only one loser, then his holding of the nine and five is adequate trump support. In any event, at this point, as he must bid again and has bid very strongly heretofore, East of necessity must sign off.

The play, of course, is simple. All that it is necessary for West to do is to shorten his own trump holding down to three cards by ruffing spades and hearts, and at the eleventh turn to play to lead the Ten or Knave of diamonds, thereby forcing North to lead up to his tenace position at the twelfth trick.

Tomorrow's Hand

North, Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Just Girls

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I belong to a bridge club of girls between 16 and 17 years of age. We have collected dues right along and decided to have a good time with the money. A says it is not proper for eight girls to go to the theater and afterwards to a place to have dinner where there is dancing. B says that it is proper. Please advise who is correct.

SECRETARY

While it isn't exactly incorrect for a group of eight girls to dine together after the theater at a place where there is dancing, I don't believe that you will be very happy doing this, for it is bound to be conspicuous even in these informal days. And since you won't be able to dance there wouldn't be much point in going to this kind of place. In many other places you will find too that the management won't be especially cordial about having women come without escorts. And this can cause great embarrassment. So I suggest that you have your dinner party before the theater party.

Formal Accessories

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—Will you please tell me what kind of necklace should be worn with a white lace formal? It is cut quite low and because my neck is thin I think I should wear something.

2—Should flowers be worn on the shoulder?

3—Are gloves necessary, and should they be worn while dancing? S.

1. Pearls, whether real or "otherwise," are very lovely with white lace. Also you will be able to find effective combinations of pearls and crystals that will be charming. Or just crystals.

2—The new mode of wearing a row of gardenias across the neck of a frock might be a splendid solution for you, since your neck is thin. And this would solve both the necklace and the corsage problems at the same time.

3—Gloves aren't necessary, but you may wear them if you wish, of course. It usually isn't comfortable to wear them during dancing, but again this is a question of your own choice.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair
—With—
Patricia Pitt

Before I become lyrical about the three major events of yesterday, glorious, spring-like Easter Monday, I want to mention a coming event.

Mrs. Herbert A. Gidney, of Devonshire street, will give a tea Saturday afternoon in her home in honor of her daughter, Priscilla Bazley Gidney. The Gidneys announced Priscilla's engagement to Kenneth R. Kaiser, of Philadelphia, this past week-end.

The three events of yesterday were the operetta "Annina" at the Nixon, the Dobbs Ferry alumnae's annual luncheon at the Pittsburgh Golf Club and the Easter Monday subscription dance last night at the Edgeworth Club.

Spring Evening Wraps Make Season's Debut

Over her black chiffon low-backed evening gown, beruffled in a subtle manner, Mrs. Raymond Ford Moreland wore a cape of white ermine ending in front in a deep scarf. It was most effective.

A flame silk quilted hip-length circular cape was striking over Mrs. David M. Humphreys' white crepe gown. She and her husband have been back from their prolonged Bermuda honeymoon just a short time. Mrs. Humphreys is the former La Salle Dorrance. Her sister, Eloise Dorrance, was there last night, too, wearing a brief Chinese wrap of embroidered blue velvet over her blue crepe gown.

Others I saw in the large audience were Mrs. A. P. Woolfolk in purple crepe, Mrs. H. H. McClintic, Jr., Evelyn Evans, Mrs. George H. Love, Jane Sloan, Mrs. Kirkland W. Todd, Laura Oliver in pale green crepe with a matching jacket and a sash of deep yellow and Helen Ruth Deike, in copper taffeta.

The F. J. LeMoynes and the F. A. Leovys were there, and so were Mrs. J. J. Bissell, Lydia Irish, Mrs. John H. Ricketson III, Mrs. J. Hanson Rose, Mrs. A. Cameron Mann, the William A. Duckhams, Mrs. J. Z. Collier, the T. A. McGinleys, the Allen T. C. Gordons, the George S. Olivers, the Joseph Dilworths, the David McCargos, the junior C. L. Peirces and their Smith College-vacationing daughter Barbara and many others.

Sewickley Younger Set Attends Club Dance

All of Sewickley's younger school set and many of their elders by two, five and 10 or more years, too, were at the Easter Monday dance at the Edgeworth Club last night.

There were supper parties galore, many of them Dutch treat affairs, before the dance.

Farmington Student Jean Cameron Rose, daughter of the Roy Roses, entertained at a supper party, and so did young Elizabeth Dunsford, daughter of the Jan R. Dunsfords.

Mrs. Frank R. Stoner entertained, and Francis J. Torrance Baker sponsored a large Dutch treat party and so did G. H. Goldsbury. Also among Dutch treat organizers of last night were Mrs. Brooke Jarrett, Peggy Griffiths, Charles J. Ramsburg, Jr., Charles A. Woods, Jr., and Mrs. J. Scott Thornton.

Dobbs Ferry Alumnae Elect New Leaders

Taking advantage of the glorious weather of Easter Monday, the Dobbs Ferry alumnae, of which there are many in Pittsburgh, had their annual luncheon and election of officers yesterday afternoon in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

The retiring president, Mrs. James Chambers McKay, was chosen vice president.

Officers for the year also include: Margaretta Oliver, president; Analana Beeson, recording secretary; Elizabeth Curtin, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Malcolm Leech, treasurer.

The spring frocks worn to the luncheon were very smart. Pert Margaret Taylor wore a suit of blue crepe having a deep cape lined with the same blue and white printed crepe that fashioned the blouse, and her small turban of blue had a band of white around the face.

Wide Brimmed Sailor With Black Costume

Mary Gordon wore blue crepe, too, with a blue hat. Vardi Marshall looked particularly smart in black with a wide brimmed sailor of shiny black straw with a grosgrain ribbon. Analana Beeson wore a jacket dress of blue rough crepe having a blouse of bright red and white polka dotted crepe and her blue hat had a tiny cluster of blue, red and cream flowers in front.

A suit of black and white monotone tweed was worn by Mrs. Rhodes Quaile, and figured rose crepe by Mary Knox. Elizabeth Curtin wore brown, and Katherine Frazer's ensemble was of sage green wool in a homespun effect with a matching turban.

Virginia Frew Wright wore blue and white crepe and a blue hat and coat, and Mathilde Reed chose brown crepe with a brown hat and beige coat. I saw Mrs. A. K. Oliver, too, and Mrs. James Chambers McKay and Mrs. A. Verner Wasson.

Mildred C. Hanley Will Wed on Apr. 18

St. Henry's Church will be the scene of the wedding, Wednesday morning, April 18, of Miss Mildred C. Hanley to Karl A. Lauer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl A. Lauer, of Salisbury street.

The ceremony will be performed at a high mass at 9 o'clock and the Rev. Joseph E. Meyer, pastor, will officiate.

The bride is the daughter of John E. Hanley, of Abel street. Her only attedant will be Miss Abbie Sinkenbring, and the best man will be Sylvester Lauer, brother of the bridegroom-elect.

A breakfast at the home of the bride will follow the ceremony and then Mr. Lauer, Jr., and his bride will leave for a trip through the East.

Girls' Parents Make Known Betrothals

Two engagements were made known over the week end, one on Saturday of a New Castle girl and a Baltimore man, and the other on Sunday of a Wilkinsburg girl and boy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Colgan, of New Castle, at a dessert bridge in the New Castle Field Club Saturday, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Florence Colgan, to Franklyn Allyn Clary, of Baltimore, Md.

An early June wedding is planned. Mr. Clary is a graduate of Western Maryland College. Mrs. C. J. Cubbison, of Pittsburgh, a cousin of the bride-elect, was among the guests at the announcement party.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jellison, of Maplewood avenue, Wilkinsburg, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anne Grace Jellison, to Edward G. Voyek, of Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg, at a dinner in their home Sunday night.

Mr. Voyek is a son of Mrs. Antoinette Voyek, of Lagerwood, N. D. He is a graduate of the University of North Dakota, and a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Marcella O'Donnell Engaged to Marry

At an Easter party Sunday night given by Miss Inez Madden, of Oneida street, in her home, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Marcella O'Donnell, daughter of the late George and Annie O'Donnell, to David Roger Ferguson, of Kew Gardens, Long Island, N. Y., son of Mrs. William S. Fowler, of Brookline, Pa.

20th Century Women Hear Dr. Turner

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

In discussing "Patriotism in an Age of Social Change" before the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning, Dr. Ralph E. Turner, of the University of Pittsburgh, said patriotism is the most living and the most fundamental emotion in the contemporary world, an emotion without which a man is lost.

Four things have occurred, Dr. Turner said, which have caused social change, thousands of people uprooted from farm to city and from foreign countries to this one; economic insecurity, the development of mass literacy and unprecedented economic production. These demand a patriotic, enlightened understanding, for patriotism at its best serves human life, he stated.

In the early part of his discourse, Dr. Turner pointed out that emotional appeal is made on three bases—man is asked to act in terms of patriotism, charity and class consciousness. He then went on to show in what ways patriotism has played its part in the changing social order. A patriotic appeal is made to support old and existing institutions. A second, and one which seems anti-American to some persons but is followed in Italy, France and Japan, is for territorial expansion.

He termed the third line of appeal "national welfare"—social amelioration even when it entails self-sacrifice, as, for instance, under the NRA. A fourth and final appeal of patriotism is a demand for radical social change, illustrative of which Dr. Turner cited the Russians who term their program a form of patriotism, and the changes in Germany, India and Austria under the name of patriotism.

Helen Mossman to Marry E. A. Diebold, Jr., May 16

Of unusual interest in the Easter week engagement announcements is that of a Fox Chapel boy and girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Mossman, of Fox Chapel Manor, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Mossman, to Elmer A. Diebold, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Diebold, of the Pittsburgh Field Club road, Fox Chapel.

Their marriage will take place on Wednesday, May 16, in the home of the bride-elect.

Things I Never Knew About Drinking 'Til Now

If a drinker delays swallowing liquor about thirty seconds, he can drink twice as much as one who gulps it down. This gives the fumes a chance to escape through the nostrils. It is not the liquid, but the fumes, that cause intoxication.

Creme de menthe, though more potent, will sober one who has imbibed too freely of rye, Scotch or gin.

It's the mint that does the trick!

A proprietor often serves an array of expensive drinks to a party of friends to arouse the curiosity of strangers, because nine out of ten curious patrons will order that which they see others drinking.

Twenty drinks constitute a pint, but bartenders have been known to squeeze thirty drinks out of a pint flask, thus adding $1.50 more to the net profit.

Before repeal, the house would sooner buy a drink of rye than beer, because before-repeal beer cost twice as much as liquor.

Wine-drinkers who wish to inebriate themselves quickly may do so by mixing red and white wines; rye whisky and port wine, or gin and Scotch.

Every drinking establishment has the telephone number of a taxicab company. When a cab is needed, the boss, after obtaining the number, merely says, "Come over to Mike's place for a package." The word "package" is applied generally to a helpless drunk.

It is utterly impossible to obtain a drink in one place after imbibing too freely in another. Maybe it's jealousy!

Though cheese of any variety is recorded as the best absorbent, pickled herring or spaghetti are really the best.

A "geezer" is a drink of rye. A "stringer" is a pony of creme de menthe. A "bottle of ink" is heavy imported ale. A "powder" is a cup of black coffee. A "swank" is a person who drinks alone and refrains from barroom conversation. "Poison" is not a drink, but is applied to a boisterous customer who uses language that is not quite select. A "gawk" is an inexperienced bartender.

The greatest mistake a proprietor can make is to cut a bartender's salary, especially if said bartender is permitted to touch the register. It's impossible for an exact inventory because of every-changing prices.

Some proprietors will stick by the claim that they sell as much Rhine wine and seltzer as they do beer.

Bartenders don't mind your ordering lemon pop, because the profit is just as high as it is on liquor. The net profit on every bottle of soda pop is eight cents.

The New Deal bartender does not "accidentally" catch nickels or dimes in the bar-rag when he cleans off the bar. The old school bartender and the speakeasy variety made a habit of it.

Three-fourths hard cider and one-fourth vichy water is being sold today as "imported champagne," and the best judge of drinks can hardly tell the difence.

The word "blend" on a whisky bottle does not signify a lack of quality. The better places will eventually employ their own professional blenders just as they did before prohibition.

A blender will be as essential as a bartender just as soon as real aged liquor comes back, which will not be for some time, insofar as domestic whisky is concerned.

Those fancy decorations we used to see on the saloon mirrors were made with stale beer and not soap, as generally believed.

A dash of mulligan in a glass of beer will increase its potency if made properly. Real mulligan is not made of ale and red peppers. It is made of gin!

There is a general belief that a drinker can remain sober by taking a good slug of olive oil before the party. This is not so. The oil absorbs the alcohol, but, after it has completed its rounds of the human system, the alcohol still remains. And how!

Proprietors who hire barmaids instead of male bartenders make a big mistake. Men speak freely at bars—too freely, in fact, for a bar-maid to appreciate.

Some proprietors lose plenty of money and customers because they keep their wine stock standing up straight. The best of wine will turn sour if allowed to stand straight. It should lie flat.

Hiccoughs can be stopped immediately by drinking an eight-ounce glass of water through a handkerchief without stopping. This is also a practical sobering process.

One drink of anisette is equal to four drinks of rye, Scotch or gin, in potency.

During prohibition, Canadian rye was cheaper than domestic rye. Since repeal the situation has been reversed. Now it is "imported," and not smuggled.

Beer that loses its collar quickly may have as much quality and potency as brew that keeps its head. But the proprietor's brass pipes need cleaning! And you may tell him so.

Jeritza As a Fisher Maiden Wins a Venetian Duke To Friml Frolics

By GEORGE SEIBEL

After the Nixon nest had been empty during nearly the whole of the Lenten season, a gorgeously tinted Easter egg was revealed yesterday when the curtain rose upon Rudolf Friml's newest operetta, "Annina" has color, iridescence, eclat. It is the most radiantly costumed exhibition of several seasons. There are some dancers and some dancing that took the audience by storm. There are scenes whose rich and solid architecture was heightened by very effective lighting. And there was Jeritza, stepping from "Lohengrin" and "Tosca" into romantic opera—and building up a pleasantly melodious score to a grand aria at the climax.

So that's an inventory of "Annina," which is a tale of Venice in 1770 and 1934. Whoever devised the tale—Rowland Leigh, William Thiele and John Shubert are enumerated—took a little bit of Cinderella and a little bit of Mark Twain, and mixed it with the standard romance of three generations in which the heroine is influenced by the heredity of her great-grandmother.

Mr. Seibel

This tale has been embroidered by Rudolf Friml with music that is always ingratiating, sometimes entrancing, and occasionally distinguished. Now and then are echoes of Sullivan, more often of Wolf-Ferrari, and less frequently of Mozart in his lighter moods. Which is not saying anything against those three eminent predecessors of Rudolf Friml.

EVERY DAY IS FRIDAY

As a fisher maiden in old Venice, Jeritza sells her fish with a delightful accent, but presents a basket of them to the Duke of Orsano, who is going to give a magnificent fete that evening, which she would like to attend. As the Duke has designs upon a Senator's beautiful wife, the Senator takes Annina to the ball instead of his wife, and she wins the Duke.

Jeritza is arch and playful as the fisher maiden, but her arch playfulness is less convincing than her golden voice. Natural good humor is not enough to constitute a comedienne, especially when she is also supposed to be a romantic heroine. So Madame Jeritza is at her best when she sings—and she has some beautiful numbers in "Longing," in the finale of the first act, and in the "Palace of Dreams." Her voice has sweetness and power and dramatic intensity—and her personality is captivating—she even dances as few grand opera divas could. But in her lighter gambols she is less admirable—gambols are not her forte.

The Duke, who is the son of an American millionaire in 1934, is carried off with ducal grandezza by Allen Jones, who has a romantic personality and a romantic voice. The comedy of the book is presumably to be furnished by Andrew Tombes, but there is not much to furnish. About half a dozen lines are actually funny—most of the gags are conventional claptrap. Harry Mestayer as an ancestral beau with a mordant tongue delivered more laughs than anybody else.

LET US RECAPITULATE

A pair of dancers, Paul Haakon and Albertina Vitak, made the hit of the evening with some beautiful and airy ballet work. A pair of comedians, Jack Good and Margaret Lee, injected some eccentric hoofing and lovey-dovey comedy that proved diverting. To recapitulate the other points of "Annina," let us describe the book as medium-well-done, the music as now-and-then inspired, Jeritza as lovely to look upon and easy to listen to, the comedy as mostly moth-eaten, but the dancing as electric and the costumes as altogether superb and dazzling.

The carnival music of the first finale and the "Scandal Song" near the finish are outstanding bits of Friml's score. He might have done better if he had had a worthier text and lyrics. Yet he never falls into banality and mere noise like the members of the Tin Pan Alliance.

Burlesque in Variety Is 'Hot Stuff'

Comedy episodes, dancing, song and specialities are seen and heard in "Hot Stuff," playing in the Variety. The bill begins with a sketch, "The Magic Wand." Happy Hyatt, 400-pound comedian, Jack Ryan, "hoffer," and Tiny "Ginger" Huff, are featured in this bit of nonsense. Mary Joyce is the featured star of the show. She is a dancer. Reggie White, the "Tassel Girl," is in her seventh week of popularity. Miss Huff and Jeane Bodine are oriental dancers. "Hot Stuff" is a show filled with action.

HOLLYWOOD, April 3.—Hello! Although he didn't say it in so many words, one could "read between the lines," as it were, that George Brent, who returned to work and salary at the Warner Studio the day Ruth Chatterton announced their marital split, felt his marriage to Ruth and her demands had definitely interfered with his cinema career: That they would be divorced, and that he was "very happy."

Echoes From the Cabarets Of This Vicinity

By THE ROUNDER

Saturday night will see the opening of Eddie Hartner's Morado Club in Beaver Falls. Eddie has booked Ted Blake and his orchestra who played in the World's Fair "Street of Paris" last summer, to furnish the music at his new club, formerly known as the Club Casino.

Hartner formerly was connected with the Summit Club and with Towne Club.

The Bonnie half of the Bonnie and Lee team that will open at the Hi Hat Club, Fox Chapel and Freeport roads, Saturday night, is the daughter of the late Roy Jacques, founder of the Jacques School of Dancing. Although an expert dancer, she has set her heart on a stage career and will attend Carnegie Tech drama school.

Congrats and felicitations to Harvey Rosenberger, the chap who parks your car at the Show Boat, Wood and Water streets. He and Katherine McNichols were welded after a four-year friendship following his return from the Navy. It seems peculiar that the only marine job Rosenberger could find in Pittsburgh was on the Show Boat.

That Perzade and Jason rhumba team that opened with Eddie Peyton's new show Saturday night, came to the Steubenville pike joy spot direct from the Montmarte Cabaret, Havana, Cuba. Their interpretation of the rhumba is said to be the original, unadulterated rendition. Lillian Maye, who stopped the show with her hat dance the same night had to go to two encores.

Alpha Beta Chi Sorority will dance tonight at Gay Paree, Riverview Park, where there is an air of activity these days. J. H. Nash has let the contracts for an outdoor patio. This club is situated on the second highest peak in Allegheny County. He expects to have the patio completed in about a month. Nash has signed Jean Galbraith, who was runner-up in the Ben Bernie contest, as No. 1 with "Those Three Girls," and he is lining up several big shows for the near future. Good news for those who have been detoured through the park to get to the club is that the road from Perrysville avenue is being opened to two-way traffic.

HERE ARE THE THINGS YOU ASKED ME TO GET, KATHERINE
THANKS—
WHY, JOHN—THIS ISN'T THE KIND OF SOAP I USE I TOLD YOU TO ASK FOR RINSO
GUESS I JUST SAID "WASHING MACHINE SOAP". SORRY—DOES IT MAKE MUCH DIFFERENCE?
I'LL SAY IT DOES! RINSO GETS CLOTHES 4 OR 5 SHADES WHITER THAN ANY SOAP I'VE EVER USED IN MY WASHING MACHINE
THEN I'LL CALL UP THE GROCER TO SEND SOME RINSO—AND TAKE THIS BACK
I KNOW RINSO IS SAFE FOR COLORS—BUT I'D BE TAKING A CHANCE WITH THAT OTHER SOAP...
YOU CAN BET I'LL ASK FOR RINSO NEXT TIME!
LATER THAT EVENING
RINSO FOR DISHES, TOO?
YES... SEE WHAT NICE RICH SUDS IT GIVES! IT SAVES WORK... SAVES MY HANDS
Rinso
"Makes lots of rich, lasting suds," says Mrs. Mary Scanlon, 2002 Bedford Ave.
"IF THERE'S one gentle soap that soaks dirt out in a hurry, it's Rinso. And how white the clothes come—4 or 5 shades whiter than when I used to scrub and scrub for hours! Rinso's safe for colors, too. And it's a wonderful soap for dishwashing—a little makes lots of rich, lasting suds that are so easy on my hands!"
MRS. MARY SCANLON, 2002 Bedford Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.
In tub—in washer—in dishpan—Rinso suds are full of life, full of action. Makers of 40 famous washers ...the home-making experts of 316 leading newspapers... recommend Rinso. It is tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Wonderful for tub-washing; soaks out dirt—saves scrubbing—saves the clothes! Get the BIG household package at your grocer's today.
A PRODUCT OF LEVER BROTHERS CO.
I GIVE RICH, LASTING SUDS—EVEN IN HARDEST WATER!

In Which the Customers Do the Work.

"HE RECITED a line," writes Anthony Maddick, of Chicago, "that is frequently heard in these hard times. 'Darling,' he darlinged when they first met, 'I probably won't be able to take you anywhere for some time—but I can tell you're not the type of gal who pals around with a fellow just for the entertainment he may provide. My financial condition will never interfere with our friendship, will it?'

"Gloria was no different from other girlies. But what could she do after a talk like that? So she pouted and said:

"'Certainly not. I'll be glad to have you come and see me any time.'

"Aaron, the boy in the case, had a persuasive way with gals. He actually did come up to see her some time—and he made her like it, too. He saw her on a Wednesday evening and, when she unwittingly mentioned that she never went anywhere on Fridays, he took advantage of the opening and fixed himself for that night, too. And it went on and on along those lines.

"Somehow, Aaron made Gloria accustomed to these frequent dodgings. (They were too long to be called merely visits.) But the folks couldn't get used to it. In fact, they grew more and more resentful. So it came to pass that Gloria was told, loudly and often, that this new part-time boarder would have to find a new home for himself.

"It was at this crucial point that Aaron astounded everyone by taking Gloria out one night to the neighborhood picture house. That was the highlight of this romance—and it was a splurge that ended abruptly. For Aaron resumed his sitting habits the following night, and stayed that way

"Gloria's father determined to end this thing, once and for all. Pop hit upon a scheme that he was certain would shame Aaron into quitting the household once and for all. He marched into the sitting room and took out two dimes.

"'Here you are, Aaron,' said Pop in a voice of contempt. 'Here's the 20 cents you spent on my daughter for that movie show you took her to last month.'

"Aaron extended his hand for the coins.

"'Aw, heck,' he exclaimed. 'That's all right. I was in no hurry for it!' " . . .

"IT strikes me," writes Jerry Cooper, "that we've all been using the wrong word to describe a man who has two wives at the same time. Any man who is that greedy should be called a pigamist!" . . . .

* * *

"DEAR MARK:" writes Eli Hoffman. "There is a certain chap who, not oddly enough, drinks a great deal. What made his habit a little different was that, every time he drank, he became very magnanimous and insisted on paying off all his old debts.

"His wife grew worried. She didn't mind his drinking, but the paying off of those old debts was leading to the family's financial ruin.

"Finally, out of sheer desperation, she forced him to drink an alcoholic beverage that wouldn't have this debt-paying effect on him.

"She got him to drink French wines!" . . . .

"THIS really happened," insists Leonard Lyons, "some years ago. One of our distinguished Senators was invited to be guest of honor at a banquet tendered by a Swedish organization. As there were to be 3,000 potential voters at the reception, the Senator hastened to accept the invitation.

"The toastmaster introduced the Senator in flowing terms. The Legislator arose, bowed, and for half an hour made a most eloquent address. At the conclusion, to his surprise and disappointment, there was only a smattering of applause. He had spoken of the great links of amity that connected Sweden and America, those two magnificent nations. Yet only a handful of listeners applauded.

"The toastmaster announced that there would be but one more speaker, and this last man would talk in Swedish. And what a reception HE got! He, too, spoke for half an hour—but every few minutes, the audience applauded. The Senator joined the others in cheering the speaker each time. As a matter of fact, he led the cheering, although he couldn't understand a word of Swedish.

"He was till applauding vigorously when he bent over and whispered to the toastmaster.

"'What was that man talking about?' he asked.

"The toastmaster seemed astounded.

"'Why, Senator,' he replied, 'I thought you knew. He was translating your speech!' " . . .

* * *

"AFTER all is said and done, Mark," observes Al Schwartz, "there's one good feature about this New York taxi strike. If the drivers continue to fight and club each other, they'll actually begin to look like their pictures in the rear of the cabs!" . . .

Sir Guy Standing Goes In for Boxing

Hollywood's champion prize-fight enthusiast is the dignified and very British actor, Sir Guy Standing. The one-time Hannibal of "The Road to Rome" spends five nights a week watching his favorite sport. Experts or palookas, he likes them all. Monday night, he goes to the small Pico Arena, on Tuesday to the Olympic Auditorium, on Wednesday to the Santa Monica Boxing Club, on Thursday to Pasadena and on Friday to the American Legion Stadium in Hollywood.

Seems that Sir Guy has been an amateur boxer himself for many years. Even now, when his hair is graying, the actor does 10 short rounds every Sunday with his trainer, Percy Edmunds.

Catholic Unit Card Party April 24

Tuesday, April 24, is the date chosen for the annual spring card party at Council House of the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women. It will be a desert bridge party at 1 o'clock with cards at 2.

Mount Mercy Debating Team members will be guests of the Queen's Daughters of Council at the Council House next Monday evening, and will have as their subject, "Should the NRA Become Part of the United States Government?"

Other events planned by the Queen's Daughters for the month include a roller skating party Thursday evening, April 12, at SS. Peter and Paul Lyceum and an open meeting at Council House Monday evening, April 23.

A series of Saturday afternoon post-Lenten card parties at Council House has been planned. Mrs. Mary Fagan having charge of this week's party.

Conference at 'Y' Set for Thursday

Prefacing the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. national biennial convention in Philadelphia the first week in May, there will be an all-day conference at East Liberty Branch Y. W. C. A. on Thursday to study and discuss convention issues. Mrs. W. J. Gilmore, chairman of the Pittsburgh convention committee and promoter for this area, will preside.

Presentation of questions will be made by Miss Ida M. Allerton, second vice-president of the metropolitan board; Mrs. Burt T. Anderson, chairman of the metropolitan industrial committee; Mrs. Edwin P. Buchanan, chairman of the metropolitan public affairs committee; Miss Esther M. Hawes, metropolitan general secretary, and Miss Edith O. Sawyer, general secretary at Central Branch.

Missionary Workers To Meet Two Days

The annual meetings of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of the Pittsburgh Presbytery will take place in the Edgewood Church on Thursday and Friday, morning sessions beginning at 10 o'clock. The speaker for the home society is Miss Allie May Arey, of Cardenas, Cuba.

At the foreign society meeting on Friday speakers will be Miss Mary E. Moore, secretary of the young people's department, Board of Foreign Missions, and the Rev. Dr. A. K. Whallon, of Paoting, China.

Literary, Musical Members Meet

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Ben Graham, yesterday's meeting of the Literary and Musical Club was presided over by Mrs. Mary J. Cowley. Mrs. C. E. Parker, Mrs. Estelle Healy Close and Mrs. H. P. MacKown provided the afternoon's music and Mrs. Adelaide Cornell and Mrs. P. E. Meany, the literary portion of the program.

Mrs. Cornell spoke on "The American Consul and His Work" and Mrs. Meany's paper was on "Healthy Little Uruguay."

Vacancy Appointments Await Governor

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, April 3.—Gov. Pinchot, when he returns to the Capitol tomorrow, will find awaiting him recommendations for three vacancies which lie within his appointive power.

Mr. Shields

However, he is not expected to act before the primary on two, and may delay until after May 15 selections for all three places, including the vacancy on Common Pleas bench in Allegheny County created some time ago by the death of Judge Sylvester J. Snee.

The two selections almost certain to be held open until after May 15 are an insurance commissioner, a vacancy caused by the death of Charles F. Armstrong, of Kittanning, and a member of the Public Service Commission, caused by the death several days ago of George W. Woodruff.

* * *

Plans Go Astray In Judicial Lineup

At one time the Governor thought something of an agreement had been reached which would mean a quick appointment to the Snee vacancy. He had advice that it would be poor political strategy to delay, the theory being that he would be charged with playing politics with a judicial appointment.

However, the plans for haste went astray, and there has been no open criticism in Pittsburgh as the bench position has been unfilled. This has stilled trepidation in the minds of some Pinchot advisers—in Harrisburg—as to what if any recriminations there might be if a new judge is not appointed until after the primary.

It is understood reports have been returned by scouts sent from Harrisburg that the work of the Allegheny County courts is in good shape, and that the cost for such visiting judges as may be needed will not be greater than the salary requirement for a new judge.

* * *

Delay May Help Race for Senate

There are some in the Pinchot group who believe that an appointment now might take on a tinge more political than would one after the primary. They are not, naturally, blind to the fact that expectation may hold some aspirants in line for Mr. Pinchot for the senatorial nomination.

That, of course, is the cold politics of the situation—or don't politics have anything to do with the bench?

The Insurance Commissoner post is one which need not be filled immediately, so far as the work of the insurance department is concerned. Mr. Armstrong for many months before his death had been incapacitated by illness, and the work of the department really was administered by Charles H. Graff, of Armstrong County, his chief deputy.

Mr. Graff was on the ragged edge in the last special session of the Legislature when his cousin, Senator Peter Graff, voted against a motion which would have opened the way for the Senate to act on the Pinchot appointed members of the Public Service Commission.

* * *

Aide Not Slated To Get Appointment

There were some hot-heads in the Pinchot organization who insisted that Charles H. Graff should be summarily decapitated. But cooler counsel prevailed when it was realized that the insurance department, not the least embarrassing arm of the government to the Pinchot administration, would be virtually without direction.

Graff will not be named secretary, but he can run the department until the time arrives for rewarding some patriot who delivers for the Governor in May.

The Public Service Commission post is another that can be left vacant without causing much concern.

The tenure of Mr. Woodruff's successor is dependent entirely upon the result of the coming gubernatorial primary. Mr. Pinchot can guarantee the job only until January of next year, when a new Governor may have his own ideas not only about this place but four others on the Public Service Commission, confirmation of the occupants having been refused by the last special legislative session.

This uncertainty does not, however, detract from the magnetism of the job in the minds of some hopefuls, and it will be another nice plum to hand out to the faithful progressive who in the primary helps Mr. Pinchot rather than Senator David A. Reed.

'Black-Eyed' Bandit Sought in Holdup

A well-dressed bandit with a blackened eye and a blue steel revolver, who held up Hugo Hoeckstetter in his drug store at 1410 Monterey street, North Side, last night, was the object of a police search today.

Hoeckstetter said the man, about 26, entered his store, pulled a gun, took a $40 watch and $10 cash.

Relief Workers Seek Pay Boost

A request of 400 field workers of the County Relief Board, sent yesterday to George P. Mills, executive director, and other relief officials, will be answered this week, Mills said today. The field workers ask a minimum wage scale of from $90 to $150 monthly. A present salary is about $75.

MAYOR TO FIRE RECREATION WORKERS

'Egg-Roll' Falls Flat; McNair Peevish Over Games

Mayor McNair says he will fire the entire city recreation division at the first opportunity.

The Mayor is angry at the lack of a program for the entertainment of 2,000 youngsters who appeared at the Schenley Park band stand for the scheduled egg-rolling yesterday.

There was no egg-rolling because of a shortage of eggs and no program because, according to the Mayor, none was arranged by the city's recreational leaders.

"VERY, VERY ANGRY"

Returning to his office after the affair, the Mayor was very angry. He said:

"W. C. Batchelor and his whole staff were supposed to be out there and supervise the games. Some of them were there, but they just stood around. They couldn't even distribute ice cream to the kids. I had to do it myself."

As to politics, the Mayor said:

"They're a fine Recreation Bureau; a bunch of ward heelers. They'll be fired as soon as I get the chance. I'll prefer charges against them before the Civil Service Commission, if necessary. All the recreation people do is ride around in taxicabs."

EGGS DISAPPEAR

The Mayor was an hour late getting to the park yesterday, having been delayed at City Hall. With his arrival, the news went round that there was to be no band, the Civil Works Administration having canceled all musical projects.

A few minutes later came word that the eggs were missing. Bricks of ice cream were to take their place.

Any youngster who had been wise enough to bring an egg had the opportunity of getting the Mayor's autograph, or more likely the rubber stamp autograph wielded by Betty McNair and her assistant, Ruth Seely, 12, of 1439 Haldane street, chosen from the line of children to help. If they didn't have an egg, the autographs were inscribed on a sheet of white paper.

MAYOR DEMANDS GAMES

After the autographs, came ice cream, distributed by Miss Della Conwell, of the Bureau of Recreation, which partly consoled the children for the cast-aside egg-roll. Meanwhile the Mayor kept shouting:

"Why don't some of you recreation people start up a few games?"

But no one seemed to know just how to go about it, so nothing was done. Recreation Supt. Batchelor was absent.

Man Killed in Fall From Brewery Wall

Samuel Hanna, 50, of 2328 Sidney street, was killed late yesterday in a 14-foot fall from a wall while supervising the razing of an old brewery in Carson street, near South Thirty-third street, police said. Hanna suffered a broken neck.

BOROUGH PAY LOAN VETOED

For the third time this year Burgess Richard H. Lawry, of West Homestead, last night vetoed a resolution to borrow $10,000 from the Monongahela Trust Company of Homestead, to pay salaries to 17 borough employes who are now working out their sixth payless week. The councilmen then passed another resolution to borrow the same amount, which will come up at their next meeting.

Council set the millage for next year at 11 mills, an increase of 2 mills.

Much Ink Flows When Parisian Duelers Clash

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

The contests were closer than fighting a shark in a bathtub.

Everybody was insulted, nobody was hurt, honor was well diluted and the medals are still in the packages of popcorn.

The contestants were such bad marksmen they couldn't slap each other's faces in a telephone booth.

But when two Frenchmen get sore at each other they are implacable. They will fight it out until one of 'em faints.

NON-SKID TUBS TO BE SHOWN

Everything from square non-skid bathtubs to oil paintings of the "human side" of hospitals will be on display at the public exhibition of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania, opening next Tuesday in the William Penn Hotel.

The exhibit will be open to the public between 4 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. for three days, starting April 10.

Among the latest gadgets for making you comfortable in hospitals will be a square bathtub invented by a man in Cincinnati and claimed by its Pittsburgh manufacturers to be skid-proof.

The displays will run the gamut from "catgut" strings and anesthetics to the oil paintings by Miss Kay Bishop, of Sayre, Pa.

Howard E. Bishop, executive secretary of the association, said:

"While many of the exhibits will have little interest for the average man or woman, there are a number of absorbing interest to anyone. They show the refinements upon which good hospital care is based."

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. April 3.

You can't pass a park without seeing a statue of some old codger on a horse. It must be to his bravery. You can tell it's not to his horsemanship. Women are twice as brave as men. Yet they never seem to have reached the statue stage. But one is due now.

Will Rogers.

Horsemanship through the history of all nations has been considered one of the highest of accomplishments. Well courage, horsemanship, sportsmanship, and great paternal love, was all embodied in one frail little white haired woman, 67 years old, Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, godmother, mother, and patron saint of American polo, and lover of a horse.

Yours,
WILL.

6 HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two persons were injured last night when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another car on the Steubenville pike, six miles west of Crafton.

Margaret McIntyre, 17, 121 Grasmere street, Crafton, and Charles Champman, 19, Crafton boulevard, suffered bruises and lacerations. They were riding in a car driven by Charles A. Pope, 1830 Crafton boulevard. The latter and W. McCoy, Coraopolis, alleged driver of the other auto, escaped injury.

Police today searched for an auto driver who struck a 4-year-old girl last night and drove away after telling her she was not injured.

Patricia McGonigle, 1260 Stedman street, Woods Run, was playing near her home when she was hit by the car. The driver examined her and drove away without notifying police.

Mrs. Anna Juran, 69, 1140 East Ohio street, suffered a leg injury last night when she was struck by an auto driven by Louis Vidic, 21, of R. D. 1, Russellton, according to police.

Mary Euborits, 7, 1543 East street, suffered lacerations and bruises when she ran against an automobile near her home yesterday, according to police.

PARTY LEADER FAILS TO END FRICTION

Five Aspirants Stand In Fore as Drive Gets Under Way

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, April 3.—The component elements which go to make up what was once the regular Republican party in Pennsylvania is hopelessly split as to its preference for the gubernatorial nomination, with 16 candidates in the field.

To this confusion must be added the additional fog surrounding 14 candidates for Lieutenant Governor, many of them with organization roots.

The spotlighters are Lieut. Edward C. Shannon, Atto General William A. Schna Judge Robert E. Lamberton, Philadelphia; Judge Marion Patterson, of Blair County, former Congressman Thomas Phillips, of Butler.

In a conference which laste nearly all day yesterday, and i which Gen. Shannon participated Gen. Martin made an energetic effort to have the organization get behind the Lieutenant Governor's candidacy.

He made no headway, being blocked by Auditor General Frank E. Baldwin and Representative John M. Flynn a labeled Democrat, who represented the interests of former Senator Joseph R. Grundy in a Republican conference.

GRUNDY BACKS LAMBERTON

When the conference broke up it was learned that Grundy for the moment favored Lamberton, that the Pennsylvania Railroad interests favored Patterson, and that Phillips was the second choice of the Grundy interests. Schnader, favored by some organization elements, became the sole Pinchot entry with the retirement of Hunter.

So far as the Democratic tangle was concerned, the only change was the withdrawal as a gubernatorial candidate of Charles Alvin Jones, of Sewickley.

George H. Earle, of Philadelphia, backed by the organization headed by Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh; Judge Charles D. Copeland, of Westmoreland County, and Judge E. C. Bonniwell, of Philadelphia, anti-Guffey candidates, and Mayor William N. McNair, of Pittsburgh, appealing to the "common people," remained in the fight.

M'SPARRAN REMAINS

John McSparran, Secretary of Agriculture in the Pinchot cabinet, continued as a chameleon, a candidate for Governor in both primaries.

There is a suspicion that the present Grundy favoritism to Lamberton is false, and that eventually the choice of the Bristol boss will be either Phillips or Schnader.

Some Grundy lieutenants in Harrisburg yesterday were boosting Phillips and insisting that Grundy had never been enthusiastic about the Philadelphia judge.

Offsetting this was a statement today by one participant in yesterday's conference usually identified with the Republican state committee leadership, and himself having a vital interest, that the regulars leaned to Lamberton.

PHILADELPHIA SPLIT

There was a suspicion prevailing today that Grundy had promoted Lamberton to keep him in the race and confuse opposition that insured the continuance of the candidacy of Judge Harry McDevitt, of Philadelphia, bitter foe of Lamberton. The candidacy of McDevitt means a serious split in the Philadelphia vote, and there is no candidate now in the field who hopes for more than an even break in the eastern city, where there has usually been an assured majority of more than 150,000 for whichever candidate the organization favored.

With the exception of Martin, no participant in yesterday's conferences exhibited any friendli-

TELEPHONE VET CELEBRATES

J. Howard Moore, of 490 South Highland avenue, district manager of the Bell Telephone Company's southern district, today is observing his forty-fifth anniversary of employment in the telephone industry. He entered the telephone business in 1889. Moore is active in civic and fraternal organizations in Pittsburgh and has done much to advance tennis locally.

Mr. Moore.

Edgeworth Club Leads in Bridge

Despite a loss to the Duquesne Club, the Edgeworth Club today had maintained its lead in the inter-club bridge tournament. Harvard-Yale-Princeton won from the Pittsburgh Golf Club, the Pittsburgh Athletic Association from the University Club and the Keytone Athletic Club won from the Engineers' Society.

VERONA STREET ROW IN COURT

Judge John P. Egan has signed an order requiring Verona Borough officials to show cause why they shall not pay $18,000 to Allegheny County as its share for improving Front street.

John H. Lauer, assistant county solicitor, presented a mandamus petition for the county against Burgess Joseph Gerneth, Borough Treasurer D. I. C. Davis and the members of Council.

It is averred that the borough, by agreement of August 16, 1926, was to pay $20,000 as its share of the improvement.

Of this sum it is stated that only $2,000 has been paid. Council, it is averred, has refused to pass a resolution authorizing payment of the balance.

Homestead Resident Injured by Auto

Albert Mitchell, 3, of 545 Tammany way, Homestead, was in Homestead Hospital for observation today as a result of being struck by an automobile near his home last night. Blair J. Hazen, of North Braddock, alleged driver of the car, took him to the hospital.

Heavyweight Thugs Carry Away Safe

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 3.—(AP.) — Safe-cracking is "sissy stuff" to the five barrel-chested men who strode into Mrs. Hannah Solomon's Daisytown beer parlor.

She reported to the police that the quintet hoisted her 400-pound safe, carried it to their car and drove off. The strong box contained $500.

Duquesne Police Pay Boost Urged

A special meeting of Duquesne Council will be held this week to act upon a request from Mayor James S. Crawford that salaries of police and firemen be increased 10 per cent. The Mayor said the increase would be in keeping with industrial wage increases recently announced. The two departments have been working full time, but only receiving half pay, or about $72 a month, since January.

Hershey Appointed To Zoning Board

McKeesport Council yesterday confirmed J. B. Hershey, former postmaster, as a member of the zoning appeal board, to which he had been appointed by Mayor George H. Lyle. The position carries no salary.

M'CREADY LOT GOES FOR TAXES

Harrison R. (Playboy) McCready today had been relieved of another little worry—that is, assuming, of course, that he ever had worries.

Judge John P. Egan authorized Raymond N. Morley, trustee for McCready's estate, to sell the lot for $3,700 to Edward N. Schumacher, the man who built Harrison's palatial home in O'Hara Township.

The playboy's suit to break the $150,000 trust fund he created for his former wife, Mrs. Margaret Long McCready Welfer, and their daughter, still is pending.

Turtle Creek Tax Increased by Council

After fixing the salary budget for next year, Turtle Creek Council last night set the tax millage at 14 mills, an increase of one mill over last year. President Philip Jones presided.

2 FACE HEARING IN TORTURES

Two men will be arraigned tonight before Justice of the Peace S. J. Anderson, of Oakdale, in connection with the torture robbery of Nickodem Wojpieth and his wife, Margaret, in their home in Noblestown, two years ago.

The two, who gave their names as Alex Zuger and Kost Ostastensky, were arrested by county detectives last week. The suspects were also questioned in connection with the torture murders of Frank and Katherine Kuschulak, an aged couple of Champion Hill. The Kuschulaks were slain two weeks before the robbery of the Wojpieth couple.

The prisoners denied having any connection in the murders.

Ousted Policeman Plans Suit to Regain Job

Daniel A. Ryan, Jr., fired as night lieutenant of the East Pittsburgh police force, today said he was contemplating action against the borough and Councilman Emil Strittmatter, chairman of the police committee.

At a stormy meeting last night Ryan forced Strittmatter to relate the basis of the charge of conduct unbecoming an officer. Strittmatter said he took the action on complaints that Ryan, while allegedly intoxicated, closed the Colonnade Restaurant in Braddock avenue and insulted three women in the place.

Strittmatter said that other restaurants were permitted to remain open all night on Saturday by halting sale of beer at midnight. Tom Conlon, proprietor of the Colonnade, wondered why he had been forced to close, despite the fact that there was no beer served in his place after midnight on Saturday, Strittmatter related.

He said:

"I hate to expose Ryan, but I'm forced too, because Ryan said I framed him."

After the "expose," Ryan declared:

"It's a frame-up. I only did my duty."

He admitted closing the place and ordering some 300 persons out. He denied any women had been insulted, saying that he had many witnesses among the peerless at the meeting to prove that he had not been drinking. Council refused to hear them.

Ryan said he would not resign under fire. Council then ousted him with a 5 to 4 vote.

G.O.P. FACTIONS SPLIT OVER PRIMARY

ness to Shannon. When the parley broke up late in the afternoon one Republican leader insisted that he thought Shannon a weak candidate, not only for the primary, but for the general election.

PLAN NEW PARLEYS

Though yesterday was the last day for candidates to withdraw and though State Chairman Martin seems to have fumbled the opportunity to immediately clear the field, further conferences will be held. Within a week, according to one leader today, it must definitely develop which candidate carries the colors of the organization.

It is recognized that if a rift develops Schnader or Charles J. Margiotti, an independent candidate, may have a chance to steam through the field, or at least to secure sufficient votes to determine the nomination. The source of Margiotti's backing is undetermined. Reports that he would have the aid of Senator James J. Davis have not been confirmed, the junior Senator having been ignored in the conferences of the Republican leaders.

SCHNADER BACKED

Today Republican leaders began an intensive effort to have various candidates whose names will remain on the ballot announce that they did not desire votes, but would like to have their strength thrown to some one else.

The making of anything approaching a ticket is hopeless, with the field for Lieut. Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs hopelessly muddled. Political observers saw in the retirement of Former Mayor John S. Herron, of Pittsburgh, as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, a possibility that the organization might finally determine against an eastern candidate for the first position.

BALLOT BECLOUDED

KREMER GETS DEATH THREAT

Center avenue police today were searching for a Negro who threatened to kill William Kremer, 73, in his grocery at 2117 Rose street last night in revenge for the shooting to death of another Negro during a gun battle in the store last week.

The Negro was killed by the aged man's son, City Detective Edmund Kremer, in an exchange of bullets that followed an attempt to hold up the store, police said. Three accomplices of the bandit fled but were arrested the following day.

The man who entered the store last night threatened to kill the elder Kremer. Drawing a revolver, the man fled when Kremer screamed.

CITY'S TRIBUTE PAID TO DUSE

A resolution honoring the memory of Eleanora Duse, Italian actress, who died April 21, 1924, at the Hotel Schenley while on a tour of the United States, has been approved by City Council.

It will be read at memorial services April 21 at the School of Fine Arts, Carnegie Institute of Technology, where a bronze tablet was placed shortly after her death. The resolution will also be forwarded through the Italian government to the family of the actress.

Arrangements for the exercises are being supervised by the Royal Italian Vice Consul, Nobile Don Leona Sircana, Frank Vittor and Henry Hornbostel.

VOTE REGISTRY OFFICE OPENS

Permanent registration of voters in the office of the Registration Commission for the benefit of those employed downtown continued today its second day—after a gala opening yesterday afternoon in which nearly 100 registered in little more than an hour.

Of these, 52 were Republicans, 41 Democrats, and one a Socialist.

Jacob Frank and Thomas Joyce, commissioners, were the first two to register yesterday, when the innovation brought about by the new permanent registration law was begun. Other employes of the commission followed, and outsiders formed a steady stream until the closing hour.

Edward C. Boyle, attorney for the commission, hopes that 1,000 a day will be registered in the offices in the New County Building, which will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. In addition, general registration days in the 408 city districts will be held April 9 and May 2. The office will register Pittsburghers until May 5 and resume five days after the primaries.

Under the new act, one registration will do for a lifetime, as long as the citizen votes once every two years.

Six Seek Divorces, Three Get Decrees

Divorce cases have been filed by Jesse J. Braun against Frances F. Braun, Audrey P. Irwin against James K. Irwin, Alice Buchleitner again Eugene C. Buchleitner, James Maddox against Gertrude Maddox, Melda M. Watkins against Daniel A. Watkins and Elizabeth Hissem against Thomas P. Hissem, Jr.

Red Light Isn't Sacred When Bull's Wild

SPOKANE, Wash., April 3.—(AP.)—George Wrenchey's 1,500-pound bull, market-bound, caused a traffic patrolman to put his "tag" book back in his pocket.

"This critter tried to get out of the trailer. The only way I could keep him from breaking loose was to keep going, jerking the car every few feet—to keep the bull off his balance. I wasn't stopping at no red light."

"Get out of here, and keep going."

Mansfield Renamed To State Board

HARRISBURG, April 3.—(INS.)—J. Clark Mansfield, Pittsburgh, has been reappointed to the board of trustees of the Pennsylvania Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, the Governor's office said today.

VOTE BY MAIL PLAN DISCUSSED

A new system of casting ballots by mail, similar to the manner of large corporations, was explained at a meeting in the Empire Building at which speakers were A. P. Ingram, head of an advertising firm, the sponsor; Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay and Maj. W. T. Rees, former director of the Bureau of Elections, and others.

By marking ballots at home and sending them through the mails, the risk of fraud will be eliminated, it was said.

The plan would extend the permanent registration law recently put into effect by providing that the signatures and perhaps the finger prints of the voters would be registered. Shortly before election, ballots would be sent through the mails to voters, who would mark them and return them.

Maj. Rees said that many similar plans have been submitted, but that he regarded the one sponsored by Ingram as the most plausible.

Whose Fault?

The Surly or Sulky Boy

Children seldom sulk because they are "bad." Something is wrong with them physically. Crossness is a symptom of biliousness, the same as a coated tongue. So, don't blame your child, do something to help him. Not with doses of any strong physic! Anything that drains the system and saps a child's strength only makes matters worse. There is a way to treat sluggishness in children without using violent medicines, and it straightens them out. See next column:

A healthy child is a happy child. Good health and good behavior go together. A boy whose bowels are moving every day, and moving thoroughly, couldn't stay cross five minutes! To prevent those bilious upsets in children, or to correct the constipated condition caused by the habitual use of some cathartic, just use senna. This natural laxative is preferable to any drug. California Syrup of Figs contains the proper amount of senna. You can get it anywhere, but get the genuine California Syrup of Figs.

TRY CAMAY — CONVINCE YOURSELF!

Janet's telephone seldom rang and her engagement book was nearly always blank. But it's all different now, for the Soap of Beautiful Women entered her life and her skin is lovely to look upon—soft as sable and as slick as silk. And her telephone rings gaily and her date book is jammed.

TELL the truth now—to yourself—is your skin all that it should be? And, if it isn't, why on earth don't you change your soap?

Change to Camay—the Soap of Beautiful Women.

For Camay is unlike any soap you have ever used. It's a beauty soap specially made for the needs of the delicate, feminine skin. It never gives you a "raw soap" feeling and its delicate lather is as gentle as cream. Camay bubbles are Beauty Bubbles.

GET YOURSELF A CAMAY COMPLEXION

WIN YOUR DAILY BEAUTY CONTEST

Life is a Beauty Contest—whatever your age or social position. And the advantage you gain by having a clear, lovely skin can't be estimated too highly. Sweet words of praise—compliments galore. And if Camay can make a difference in your skin as it did in the story of Janet and in the lives of thousands of women, you want to know and use it!

"The girls say I'm just lucky to have such a nice skin," writes a girl from Colorado. "But I've Camay to thank."

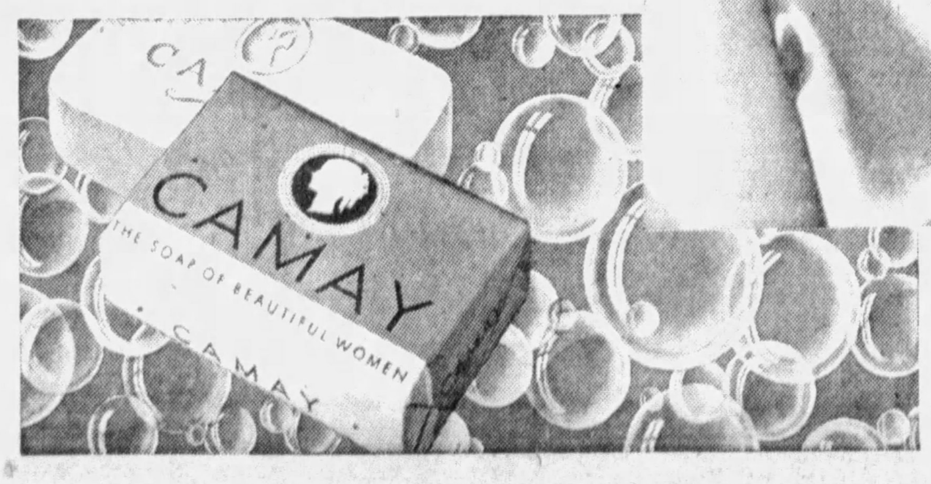
"My husband very much approves my choice of Camay," said a doctor's wife, "and I might add, he approves the looks of my skin."

A few cakes of Camay will lift the veil from your loveliness, will clear the drabness from your skin and reveal the beauty that today is hidden. Turn to Camay—as hundreds of thousands of women have done—and Camay will not fail you!

• Camay Bubbles are Beauty Bubbles

As water comes in contact with a creamy white cake of Camay, a shower of jewel-like bubbles appears. Each drop of water mingles with the pure, white soap to form these fragrant Beauty Bubbles—freshly made each time you cleanse your skin.

Gently, swiftly they glide over your skin, then rinse away, leaving it refreshed and aglow with cleanliness. Camay bubbles are Beauty Bubbles. A beauty lotion in its finest form. Try Camay—and you'll see!



"I know I'm in a daily Beauty Contest. Why, every friend I have judges my looks. So I always try to be my most attractive and lovable self. And a Camay Complexion is indispensable."

RELIEF OFFICER TO FILL JOBS SPEEDILY

With the first assignments for Relief Work Division jobs due to be mailed today, W. N. McDermott, RWD personnel manager, said he expects to have all RWD positions in the county filled in less than 10 days.

McDermott declared he will average more than 2,000 requisitions a day until all vacancies created by the ending of the Civil Works program last week have been filled.

The first lot to be assigned will be drawn from the 12,000 former CWA workers who were on the relief rolls before the beginning of the CWA, according to McDermott, and supplementary groups will be chosen from the relief roster in the State Employment Bureau.

Ralph W. Gibbs, job agency head, said he will have men on the job within 48 hours after they are requisitioned by the RWD. Gibbs has added 100 workers to his staff within the last two weeks, and said he is prepared to equal his CWA record of 2,400 job placements in one day.

When the RWD program is fully under way all workers will be persons who were, at one time, enrolled on the county relief list. Gibbs yesterday repeated his condemnation of the system which calls for the ignoring of the needy who have not applied for welfare aid. He said:

"I think it's unfair for the government to turn its back on those who sacrificed everything to avoid becoming public charges. They should have just as much consideration as welfare cases."

Increase in County Relief Cases Shown

Latest figures compiled by the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board show an increase in the board's case load for the period of March 19 to 24 of this year as compared with the same period of last year. A total of 66,933 persons were on the relief rolls during the March 19 to 24 period of this year. During the same period of 1933 a total of 66,307 were on the rools.

Community Singing Planned at Center

Miss Dorothy Morse will lead a program of community singing in the newly organized Fernando Street Community Center, 43 Fernando street, at 8 o'clock tonight. The institution will be formally opened to the public at a housewarming celebration Sunday.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

Chief Heinz in His Two-Day Banquet

Mr. Heinz, the fire chief, pictured as the guest of honor in the first half of the two-day banquet held by the Pittsburgh Local No. 1, International Fire Fighters' Association. The other half of the banquet comes next Monday night—for the Pittsburgh firemen "on the other shift." Mr. Burnett is the local president, Mr. Lindsay the toastmaster, Mr. Richardson the international secretary-treasurer. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

ALUMINUM SUIT RECALLS WAR

World War days were recalled by the filing of three suits in Federal Court by the Aluminum Company of America, seeking to recover $679,453.60 from the government, alleged to have been erroneously collected as income taxes for the years 1926 and 1926.

Two of the disputed items in one of the suits concerns awards made the plaintiff company by the German government through the Mixed Claims Commission. One was the income tax imposed on $34,174 awarded the Aluminum company because of the seizure of a shipment of aluminum ingots by the German military force at Antwerp, Belgium, in 1914. The other was an award of $11,887 for aluminum bronze powder lost by the sinking of the Lusitania on May 7, 1915, when it was sunk by a German submarine. The tax collected on the two awards was approximately $6,200.

The bronze powder was the property of the Northern Aluminum Company, Ltd., of Canada, a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of America, which had filed tax returns for itself and 30 affiliated companies. The other claims are for depression, depletion and amortization.

Shorter Work Day Boosts Coal Price

The shorter working day for miners will result in an increase of 25 cents per ton for coal in Pittsburgh, according to an order sent out to producers in Western and Central Pennsylvania, Ohio and the West Virginia Panhandle districts by the Coke Code Authority, Division No. 1. Byron H. Canon, of Pittsburgh, is secretary of the division.

Similar action is expected to be taken by Fairmont (W. Va.) operators and those producing smokeless coal in Southern West Virginia, when the conference agreement is signed by their representatives.

Pittsburgher's Body Found in N. Y. River

The body of a man believed to be Robert S. McComb, a former resident of Pittsburgh, was found late yesterday in the East River at New York, according to an Associated Press dispatch. A letter was found in his pockets addressed to Miss Mary McComb, 410 May Building, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Carrie McComb, of 4219 Murray avenue, said a Robert McComb was her husband and that he had left her in 1921.

River Victim's Body Identified by Wife

The body of a man found in the Monongahela River, near South Second street, yesterday was identified as William J. Dell, 40, of 1102 Carson street, a plumbing supplies salesman, by his wife, Manila, at the morgue last night.

Mrs. Dell last saw her husband on March 25 when he told her he was going to jump from the Tenth Street Bridge, according to her statement to the Coroner.

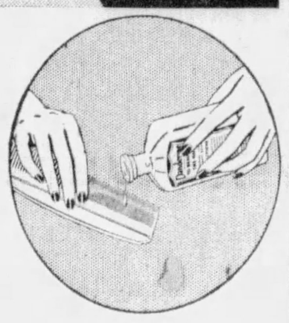
DANDERINE insures your hair for a penny a day



When you pay a dollar for a wave, Danderine will help you keep it. It isn't a sticky dressing, or an oily tonic, and it doesn't leave a telltale odor. Its fresh fragrance goes so quickly after applying, but not that marvelous effect of freshness and cleanliness!

When you've washed your hair, a little Danderine will keep it from going helter-skelter.

Use a dash of Danderine every day—every time you comb your hair—to be sure of your hair all day long! To know it's clean, and looks clean. To know it will stay as you arranged it. And to know there is no ugly dandruff.

That's what moistening your comb with a few drops of Danderine will do. And no amount of dry combing will ever do. Nearly all hair needs the help that Danderine gives it. A dash of Danderine morning and night makes an amazing difference in the way any hair looks all the time! It doesn't affect the color, either.

With all the care you give your hair, it's a pity to omit this last touch that means so much. It's no trouble! Yet you can hardly believe anything so mild and pleasant as Danderine could bring such a change in the condition and appearance of your hair and scalp. Just try it. You can buy Danderine at any drugstore for thirty-five cents; larger sizes, 60c and $1.00.

Do as your dentist does . . .

USE POWDER

- 100% Cleansing Properties Twice that of tooth paste
- No Grit—No Pumice Cannot possibly scratch the softest enamel
- Lasts Longer—Costs Less Outlasts tooth paste 2 to 1

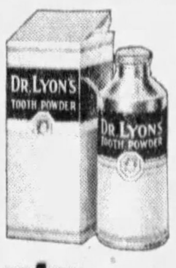
POWDER CLEANS AND WHITENS TEETH—as nothing else can

THERE is nothing known that will clean and polish teeth so quickly and leave them so gleaming white—as POWDER.

That is why your dentist, when cleaning your teeth, as you know—always uses powder.

As it is only the powder part of any dentifrice that cleans, a dentifrice that is ALL POWDER—just naturally cleans best.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is ALL POWDER—100% cleansing properties. This is more than twice the cleansing properties of tooth pastes.



Dentists everywhere recommend Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder, because—teeth simply cannot remain dull and film coated when it is used.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder cleans off all stains and tartar, and polishes the teeth in a harmless and practical way that leaves them sparkling—many shades whiter. Free from all grit or pumice, Dr. Lyon's cannot possibly scratch, or injure the softest enamel.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder keeps your teeth REALLY CLEAN and clean teeth mean—firm, healthy gums and the least possible tooth decay.

Powder leaves your teeth feeling so much cleaner, your mouth so refreshed, and your breath so sweet and pure.

Once you use powder you will never go back to tooth paste. People by the thousands are changing daily.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is not only doubly efficient, but it costs only half as much to use. Even a small package lasts twice as long as a tube of tooth paste.

Clubs Try Many Pilots Use 44 in Five Years Change Seen in Players

High Ranking for Frey New Jockeys Stand Out Floating of Cup Yachts

That a reign of only four years at the head of the Braves makes Bill McKechnie, with the single exception of Connie Mack, the oldest manager in the major baseball leagues in point of continuous service with one club, shows how short is the life of the average pilot in the modern game. Since the start of the season of 1929, the 16 clubs in the big show have had no fewer than 44 managers. McKechnie himself has managed three teams during that time, Rochester and the Cardinals in 1929 and the Braves since 1930. Donie Bush has piloted three clubs in the majors and Minneapolis twice in the minors.

Bill McKechnie

Twenty three men have served as skippers in the National League in the last five years, St. Louis and Cincinnati leading with four each. The Cardinals have employed Billy Southworth, McKechnie, Gabby Street and Frankie Frisch, while the Reds have been directed by Jack Hendricks, Dan Howley, Donie Bush and Bob O'Farrell. The Pirates have been under Donie Bush, Jewel Ens and George Gibson; the Dodgers under Wilbert Robinson, Max Carey and Casey Stengel; the Cubs under Joe McCarthy, Rogers Hornsby and Charley Grimm; the Braves under Emil Fuchs and McKechnie; the Giants under John McGraw and Bill Terry, and the Phils under Burt Shotton and Jimmy Wilson.

During the same period, the American League clubs have seen 21 leaders, the Red Sox heading the parade with five in Bill Carrigan, Heinie Wagner, Shauno Collins, Marty McManus and Bucky Harris. The Yankees have been led by Miller Huggins, Bob Shawkey and Joe McCarthy; the White Sox by Russell Blackburne, Donie Bush and Lew Fonseca; the Browns by Dan Howley, Bill Killifer and Rogers Hornsby; the Senators by Walter Johnson and Joe Cronin; the Indians by Roger Peckinpaugh and Walter Johnson; the Tigers by Bucky Harris and Mickey Cochrane, and the A's by Connie Mack, now starting his thirty-fourth straight season.

VET TERMS MODERN PLAYERS TOO SOFT

Walter McCredie, who has been player, manager, magnate, scout and coach in a long baseball career and is now pilot of the Portland club in the Pacific Coast League, says ball players today are as good as they ever were except that they're soft and haven't got what it takes to keep on plugging. He recalls that in his playing days a club had a man for each position and four or five guys who could pitch. When a man started in to pitch or play he knew he was in there to stick until it was all over. The players went ahead and did their stuff with stoved fingers, bruised hips and twisted ankles. As many games were won on sheer "innards" as on greater ability to play.

But nowadays, McCredie observes, the kids have been pampered and petted until they have lost that old-time determination. As soon as a couple of hits have been made off him, a pitcher starts looking toward the bench for a chance to duck out. If he knew he had to stay in and take it he'd naturally bear down a little harder.

Discussing great hitters, past and present, McCredie joins with other old-timers in asserting that Ed Delehanty was the greatest batsman that ever lived, and says that goes for Babe Ruth and all the rest. Delehanty murdered the ball, Walt declares—hit it past a third baseman before the latter could get his hands off his knees, just like a bullet. With the lively ball, McCredie insists, Del would have hit 100 home runs a season.

Casey Stengel was supposed to have cut out idle talk to become always serious on baseball matters when he took over his present dignified post as manager of the Brooklyn club, but he might be suspected of stretching things when he says that Linus Frey, seriously beaned yesterday, is a better ball player than Lloyd Waner. He is modest enough in his claims to admit that Frey is not so good a hitter as Paul Waner, but holds that he is better than Lloyd and a better baserunner than either of the Pirate brothers.

Lloyd Waner

Casey goes on to say that Frey is second only to Joe Stripp among the Dodgers as a bunter and dragger, and that as a tagger on close plays at the bags Linus has no superior in the National League. Yet Stengel admits that Frey has been throwing in such erratic fashion that it may be necessary to convert him into an outfielder in order to keep him in the lineup. The 22-year-old Dodger hit .319 last year and prior to his injury had been hitting .500 in the games this spring. Casey wants to use him as a regular because of his speed, estimating that only one slow ball club can be found in every 25 pennant winners.

JOCKEY SHINING AS LONG-SHOT WINNER

Eddie Litzenberger is the latest to shine among the apprentice jockeys. He has been keeping up at Arlington Downs the impressive showing made since he started riding on the winter tracks. Litzenberger has stood out particularly as a successful rider of long shots. He has booted home more than half a dozen winners at long prices, and placed with Jen's Son, which paid $108.20 for a $2 mutuel. His winner's included Papyrograph, $56.30; Spicson, $52.50; One Chance, $24.40; Inflate, $21.10; Gallic, $19.30, and Appomattox, $16.60.

Another to sparkle before shifting to Alington Downs yesterday was Elbert Willhite, who made a fine record at New Orleans and recently at Epsom Downs. He is a protege of O. L. Foster, the contract owner of Jackie Westrope. Incidentally, the youngster is a jockey by heritage, as his father, Walter Willhite, was a rider in the '90's.

CUP CHALLENGER TO BE FIRST ON WATER

Even if he doesn't succeed in winning any races when the actual competition for the America's Cup begins, Thomas Octave Murdoch Sopwith is going to have at least whatever distinction there may be in being the first to put his boat on the water. The Englishman's challenging yacht, Endeavour, designed by Charles E. Nicholson, who drew the plans for Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV and Shamrock V, is to be launched on April 16, and that will antedate the floating of any of the other boats in the Cup reckoning.

T. O. M. Sopwith

Rainbow, which is being built for the defense of the ancient trophy by the American syndicate, will not be ready to take her maiden dip at the plant of the Herreshoff Manufacturing Company, Bristol, R. I., until early in May. Yankee, which is being altered to compete in the trial races that will determine the American defender, reached Lawley's yard at Boston only two weeks ago to be put in trim, while Weetamoe, the third candidate for the right to defend the Cup, and which also will be prepared at the Herreshoff plant, may be a month later than Rainbow.

CITY MAY GET PRO SOCCER TITLE FRAY

By TOM BIRKS

Should the Pawtucket Rangers, eastern professional soccer champions, succeed in defeating Stix-Baer, the Fuller team, of St. Louis, in the second game of the national open cup competition, scheduled for Pawtucket next Sunday, it is likely that the third and deciding game for the title may be played in Pittsburgh.

The game will be staged April 15, the day that Heidelberg plays in Philadelphia, provided the German-American club wins the eastern title and becomes Heidelberg's opponent in the amateur final.

The Pawtucket team stopped over in Pittsburgh for a few hours yesterday on the return trip from St. Louis, where the Rangers lost an overtime game to the Stix eleven Sunday.

Evidently dissatisfied with the financial return from the game, Manager Butler, of Pawtucket, is opposed to returning to St. Louis for a third game, unless a guarantee is forthcoming. Six thousand eight hundred fans paid to see the game, and the expenses were $3,800, which included a flat guarantee of $800 for ground rental.

The total sum received by the Pawtucket club over and above expenses was only $700. With no site available in New York, and Philadelphia scheduled to have the amateur final that day, Pittsburgh looks to be a good bet, provided the cup committee of the national body can be induced to agree.

Of course, Pawtucket must win next Sunday's game before any arrangements can be made for a third game.

The Rangers yesterday were a peeved set of athletes. Jimmy McIntyre, the crack center forward, was glum. It was he who missed an open goal three yards out, with three minutes to play and the score tied. Had McIntyre banged that ball into the net, the overtime period would not have been necessary.

The Rangers paid high tribute to Johnny Jaap, stating that Jaap was without a doubt the greatest inside forward that ever kicked a ball in the Eastern Professional League. Andy Auld and Jimmy McAuley, the two veteran stars, were emphatic in their opinion regarding the class of JJaap. Johnny will be pleased to hear such praise from such outstanding stars. McAuley is one of the greatest players ever to cross the water.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE STRANGEST ACCIDENT—Probably the most amazing air accident on record befell Flight Lieut. C. S. Staniland, the famous Schneider Trophy pilot, at Langford, Middlesex, England, on September 1, 1933. Staniland was testing a new type plane when it developed a spin and hurtled toward the earth. Realizing that a crash was inevitable, he bailed out with his chute. He and the plane fell together, he tumbled back into the cockpit and jumped out again. During the descent Staniland watched the empty plane fly two miles and then make a perfect landing by itself.

TOMORROW: HOW MUCH CAN YOU PUSH?

PIRATES BEAT PALE HOSE BY 5 TO 3

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

YUMA, Ariz., April 3.—The Pirates and White Sox carried their diamond warfare into Arizona today. They are to clash in a game here this afternoon.

The third game of the long series, staged at San Bernardino yesterday, brought the Pirates their third triumph over the American Leaguers. The score was 5 to 3.

Waite Hoyt will go over a part of the pitching route in the clash of this afternoon. When the former Yankee finishes up his trick he will be relieved by Bill Swift, who will be making his first start of the training season. Swift was late in reporting owing to illness and contract troubles.

SMITH SHOWS CLASS

Hal Smith was the big figure in the Pirate triumph of yesterday. The right-hander had been in a disappointing stride in two recent efforts, but Hal had a lot of stuff to show the Sox, especially after the first round. Bill Harris relieved Smith after he worked three runless frames. The Sox scored all of their runs in the first, Vaughan's fumble giving them some comfort.

The Buccos reached George Earnshaw for two markers in the third and nicked him for three more in the fifth. Gallivan pitched shutout ball against the Pirates in the closing frames.

Smith gave a masterly display on the slab after getting out of the sand traps of the first inning. Swanson, Uhalt and Bonura hit safely in quick sucession and a walk to Al Simmons on top of the hits indicated that Hal was in for another bad day, but he went into reverse after Arky Vaughan had contributed a fielding error that

Locatelli Victor Over Eddie Cool

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—(AP.)—Cleto Locatelli, lightweight champion of Italy, punched out a 10-round decision over Eddie Cool, of Philadelphia, before 8,000 fans in the Arena last night.

Locatelli, who weighed 140, was given a split decision over his 136-pound opponent. Referee Tommy Reilly and one of the judges voted for the Italian while the other judge called the fight a draw.

Pete Nebo, 141, of Key West, Fla., outpointed Tony Falco, 141, of Philadelphia, in a 10-round semi-windup. Sammy Fuller, Boston, won over Harry Carlton in another 10 rounder.

Small Crowd Sees Tilden Beat Vines

AKRON, O., April 3.—(AP.)—Before one of the smallest crowds they have played before since starting their tours of the country, Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines last night proved to be the main attraction in a professional tennis show as the veteran defeated his Pasadena opponent, 6-4, 6-2.

In the doubles, Vines teamed with Gledhill to defeat Tilden and Chapin, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6.

CARNEGIE TECH GRIDDERS OPEN SPRING PRACTICE TODAY

40 CANDIDATES REPORT TO HARPSTER

By JESS CARVER

Howard Harpster will toss a flock of footballs onto the gridiron in the Tartan Bowl this afternoon and the Plaid's annual spring practice stint will be on.

Despite the loss of nine veterans from last year's team, Tech is looking forward to the 1934 campaign with much higher hopes than prospectus warranted a year ago. A squad of approximately 40 men will report to Harpster and Don Lovewell today, an unusually large crowd for Carnegie, and included among the two score athletes will be a host of promising sophomores.

NINE VETS LOST

Bunny Burzio, Henry Dreshar and Heinzer, guards; Capt. Colin Stewart, star end; Jerry O'Toole, center; Carl Forsman, tackle, and Bevevino, Brewer and Sayles, backs, are among those who will not be present this afternoon as varsity prospects. They'll be perched on the sidelines and listed among the has-beens.

Varsity holdovers include co-Capt. Lib Lewis, Goodridge, Burns, Moore and Schmidt, ends; co-Capt. Thurman Croft, Doloway, Nutter and Hudson, tackles; Anderson and Kohout, guards; Trbovich and Boyd, centers, and Charley and Bill Spisak, Joe Mihm, Goona Sanford, Carlson, Terebus, Spencer and Vorderburg, backs.

A dozen or more promising candidates will report from last year's undefeated freshman team, including Kopscak, Lehman, Green, Magee and Patt backs; James and Kritschler, ends; Jurkowitz, Challinor and Cross, tackles, and Henrion, Chyozewski, Kelly and Glaros, guards.

Charles (Pinky) Martin, athletic director at St. Vincent's College, didn't do Gene Edwards, the fire-topped coach, any favor in lining up the football card for 1934 as announced today. Eight games have been arranged by Pinky, with the possibility of a ninth being added for November 31.

NEWCOMERS CARDED

The Bearcats will open with St. Bonaventure September 20 and close with Davis-Elkins November 24 and in between will take on a tough one almost every week. Three newcomers have been added to the card, these being Waynesburg, Salem and West Liberty. The West Liberty game looks to be about the "softest' on the card. Three years ago it would have been one of the toughest. The complete schedule follows:

September 30—St. Bonaventure at Olean, N. Y.
October 6—Waynesburg at home.
October 13—Clarion at home.
October 20—Canisius at home.
October 26—West Liberty at Tarentum.
November 3—Pending.
November 12—Salem at home.
November 17—La Salle at Philadelphia.
November 24—Davis-Elkins at home.

BEN JEBY DUE TOMORROW

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Ernie Maurer vs. Orville Drouillard, 10 rounds, Detroit.
Eric Lawson vs. Roy Wallace, 10 rounds, West Palm Beach, Fla.

Yarosz is concluding his conditioning in his Monaca gym, where he always has obtained the best results.

BETWEEN ROUNDS

West Virginia will be represented for the first time in the Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. senior boxing championships at the Keystone A. C. This weekend. Woodrow Mills, of Rock, W. Va., has been working out here several days for the tournament. Another Mountaineer entrant is Charles Whitman, of Bluefield.

The following Golden Gloves champions from Erie will compete here: Ralph Costa, Frankie Dunst, Snooky Brill, Frankie Schwartz, Jimmy Clark and Charles Douglass.

Entries for the A. M. A. tourney close tonight. Among the late blanks received are those of Andy Petro, Emil Perlick, Andy Tororico, Frank Vavra, Frank Karnash, Charles Burley, Robert Crosby, Ossie Harrie and Joe Clark.

Ken Overlin and Billy Ketchel box in Philadelphia, Friday night. Benny Bass boxes Jimmy Leto, Johnny Farr meets Harry Serody, Eddie Shea takes on Tony Morgano and Frankie Petrolle engages Young Firpo in four 10-round bouts at the Arena there next Monday night.

News from Louisville is that the reason the boxing commission turned down a Barney Ross-Dominic Mancini fight there in favor of one between Freddie Miller and Paul Dazzo for Derby Eve, May 4, is that the N. B. A., of which it is a member, does not recognize the junior classes, and Ross' junior-welterweight title was to be at stake.

Tiger Joe Randall and Joey Bazzone today were matched for a 10 round bout in McKeesport next Monday night.

Favorites Beaten In North - South

PINEHURST, N. C., April 3.—(AP.)—The underdogs arose and bounced favorites out of the North and South amateur golf tournament right and left as first-round match play was run off.

George T. Dunlap, Jr., the medalist, survived, beating J. Ray Lenehan, of Providence, R. I., 3 and 2, but among other favored players the underdogs yesterday wreaked havoc.

Charley Clare, the Connecticut champion and former New England titleholder, was knocked out of the picture by Johnny Johnson, a little known linksman from Lumberton, N. C., and Alan Smith, of Asheville, former Carolinas' titleholder, was ousted by T. Arthur Johnson, of New Rochelle, N. Y., who squeezed into the championship flight only by the playoff route. In both matches the victors won by 1 up.

TEAM IN FESTIVAL

OIL CITY, Pa., April 3.—Oil City's Y. M. C. A. volleyball team has accepted an invitation to participate in the Cherry Blossom festival at Washington, D. C., on April 14. The team formerly had planned to enter the national tournament at Knoxville, Tenn.

SPORT VIGNETTES

A "local boy who made good" is Harry L. Rumstay, of the North Side, winner of the Western Pennsylvania pocket billiards title in the long-drawn-out tournament just completed at the Ritz Parlors . . . That is, it is all over but the shouting and a playoff for second place scheduled for Thursday night . . . The winner in this competition not only had to be a good pool shooter, but he also had to have the stamina to outlast the field over the route of some 12 weeks, which, at that, is not as long as the soccer season.

Reggie McNamara, Torchy Peden, Fred Zach, Henri Le Page, Louis Cohen and Frank Bartell among the riders who completed in our six-day bicycle race in Duquesne Garden last week also are in the field for a race in Cleveland's Public Auditorium beginning Thursday night . . . Peden is paired with Zach and McNamara with Dave Lands . . . Jules Audy, the Canadian stripling, who rode to victory with Peden here, is not entered because he can't stand the strain of two races within so short a period . . . Peden has the build to compete in two races at one time, if that were permissible, but, of course, not in Pittsburgh and Cleveland at the same time, you understand.

They say that them as has gits, and, if you don't believe it, look at the Boston Red Sox, with three new southpaw pitchers since last season, Lefty Grove and Rube Walberg, obtained from the Athletics, and Herb Pennock, from the Yankees, while poor Connie Mack in Philadelphia doesn't even have a rookie wrongsider on his staff . . . The dope always has been that a manager has to have a lefthander or two around to sort of even up things, or maybe it is to unbalance them.

Al Quaill, local middleweight, has a broken knuckle, which explains why he will not be on the Ben Jeby-Ted Yarosz card in Duquesne Garden Friday night . . . Art Lasky has won nine of his 10 bouts on the Coast with knockouts . . . Kingfish Levinsky is out there to box Lee Ramage at Los Angeles on April 17 . . . Max Baer's mother calls him Mickey, her favorite name for him since he was a little bit of a shaver . . . The Pacific Coast League opens up today, and there's nothing you can do about it.—HARRY KECK.

SEEDED TENNIS STARS WIN

HOUSTON, Tex., April 3.—(AP.)—Seeded stars in the annual River Oaks Country Club invitation tennis tournament won their first-round warmups yesterday with expected ease.

Making his first start in tournament competition in several weeks, Wilmer Allison, of Austin, seeded No. 1, disposed of Israel Elkowitz, of Victoria, 6-0, 6-0.

Lester Stoefen, fresh from triumphs in the national indoor meet and the Biltmore invitation tourney at Atlanta, defeated Louis Letzerich, of Houston, 6-2, 6-1.

Haligonian, Lanakai Win in Yacht Race

HAVANA, April 3.—(INS.)—A several days' program of special boating events was under way today as Cuban yacht Club officials feted visiting soprtsmen who arrived here for the finish of the fifth annual St. Petersburg-Havana yacht race.

The Haligonian, a 45-foot schooner owned and skippered by Houston Wall, of Tampa, Fla., won the race for the third time in the five-year history of the race. Haligonian's elapsed time was 54 hours, 5 minutes.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Philadelphia—Cleto Locatelli defeated Eddie Cool, 10 rounds; Pete Nebo defeated Tony Falco, 10 rounds; Sammy Fuller defeated Harry Carlton, 10 rounds. Harry Dublinsky won by a technical knockout over Frankie Carlton, 6 rounds.

At Lancaster—Frankie Little won by a technical knockout over Spib Styer, 6 rounds; Young Landis defeated Danny Russell, 6 rounds; Ray St. Clair won by a technical knockout over Billy Carter, 2 rounds.

MAYOR GREETS SOUTH FIVE

By JULIUS LEVIN

Mayor William N. McNair today extended the City of Pittsburgh's congratulations to the members of the South High School basketball team, the first local quintet to carry off the state championship, when he greeted the Orioles in his office in the City-County Building.

The members of the starting lineup who were congratulated by the Mayor were Eddie Milkovich and Joe Galiszewski, forwards; Eddie Spotovich, center, and Eddie Czlapinski and Charley Miskevics, guards.

Tomorrow will be a busy day for the members of the South Side quintet. Idle since they won the championship by defeating Reading High School Saturday night, the Orioles will be honored by their fellow students tomorrow morning and afternoon, when classes are resumed.

Prof. J. M. McLaughlin, principal at South High School, has arranged a special assembly for 9:45 a. m., at which time the students will be given an opportunity to pay their respects to their championship team. Classes will be dismissed at 2:15 p. m. to permit the team, students and business men of the South Side to stage a parade. Permission has been granted by the Board of Education and the Public Safety Department for the parade. The procession, headed by the uniformed South Side High School Band, will form in front of the school and proceed to the downtown district.

The state champions will be the guests of the Varsity Clan, of Carnegie Tech, Friday evening, when the Tartan varsity and freshman football squads will be honored with a dinner in Skibo Inn.

Last night the members of the team were guests at a steak dinner given by William Finkel and Fred J. Breitweiser, two members of the committee of the Business Men's Association, who are arranging a public testimonial, tentatively set for April 19 in the high school. Finkel, Breitweiser and Coach Washabaugh made talks.

FREY ESCAPES SERIOUS HURT

ORLANDO, Fla., April 3.—(AP.)—Linus Frey, Brooklyn Dodger shortstop, hit on the head in batting practice here yesterday by one of big Leslie Munn's fast balls, was resting comfortably at a local hospital today, and doctors told Brooklyn officials that he had only a slight concussion of the brain, at the worst.

Baseball Briefs

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—(AP.)—Manager Jimmy Wilson apparently has found the infield combination with which to start the season even if Capt. Dick Bartell's injured leg does not permit him to play. The Phils blanked the Newark Bears yesterday with Lou Chiozza at third, Mickey Haslin at short, Jeffries at second and Don Hurst on first.

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP.)—Joe Vosmik's new title with the Cleveland Indians is "giant killer." His pinch hit home run in the ninth yesterday gave the Indians a 3-to-2 victory over the New York club, just as his home run in the seventh inning of the first game of the series enabled the Indians to defeat the Giants Saturday.

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP.)—The Cincinnati Reds will be patriotic this season. They are to blossom out in red, white and blue uniforms. Their new suits still have plenty of red, but borders of royal blue have been added.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(AP.)—Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, has had an interesting conversation with Billy Evans, business manager of the Cleveland Indians, but Oral Hildebrand, crack right hander, still is Indian property. McCarthy would like to swing a deal for Hildebrand, but he offered nothing Evans would take in exchange.

BRADENTON, Fla.—(AP.)—Reports were current today that the Boston Braves were anxious to obtain an infielder from the Cardinals and the names of Burgess Whitehead and Tom Carey were mentioned most prominently. The Braves need an infielder to replace the veteran Rabbit Maranville, out of action with a broken leg.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(AP.)—Billy Sullivan, Jr., first baseman for the Milwaukee Brewers and son of the famous Whitesox catcher of two decades ago, poled out four home runs to lead his team to victory over the St. Paul Saints in an exhibition game here yesterday.

EL PASO, Tex.—(INS.)—Starting the season at third base for the Chicago Cubs will be Augie Galan, sensational youngster obtained from the San Francisco Club, according to an announcement today by Manager Charley Grimm. The Cubs will reach San Antonio today for games tomorrow and Thursday with the Texas League club of that city.

SCHOOL HEAD DIES

MANLIUS, N. Y., April 3.—(AP.)—Capt. William E. Girton, 39, head football coach, commandant of Verbeck Hall and executive officer of the Menlius School, a boy's military institution, died today of heart disease. He was born at Nanticoke, Pa., February 7, 1895.

VETS IN DUCKS TOURNEY

By PHILIP GRABOWSKI

The American Legion will hold its annual Allegheny County duckpin bowling championships tomorrow and Thursday on the Murray-Beacon alleys, Squirrel Hill. The McKeesport Post, which won the cup last year, and the Kenneth Newman Post, of Mt. Washington, which finished in the runner-up position, have entered the tourney along with other strong teams.

Singles championships also will be rolled. All Legionnaires wishing to enter this event may do so tomorrow by presenting their 1934 membership card and paying the fee requested. Total pins will decide the winner. Semi-final and final rounds will be rolled Thursday.

Tournament Manager Hilary Wertz announces that the closing date for entries in the Tri-State Duckpin Classic has been extended until Thursday. Some of the best local duckpinners have entered this meet. The tourney opens Saturday, and continues daily until Saturday of next week.

Pete Nickolus, of Hagerstown, Md., is out in front in the best bowler contest, the first round of which is on at the Strand alleys, Oakland. The Hagerstown star rolled games of 217, 212, 169, 142 and 183 for a total of 923 yesterday to take the lead.

The contest is being staged to determine the "best bowler" in rubber band duckpin competition in this district. The affair is of elimination character, the lowest 50 in each round being dropped.

LOCALS IN MONEY

PEORIA, Ill., April 3.—The Fort Pitt pinsters, of Pittsburgh, today are singing "We're in the money" as a result of the 2,768 count put over in the annual American Bowling Congress tourney here last night. George Antic, Jr., was the star of the outfit with a 607 series.

Other teams of the Tri-state district did not fare as well, but one—the Stambaughs, of Alliance, turned in a 2,760, while the Bakers, of Erie, were just outside at 2,715. Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., and Akron teams failed to come close.

During the late afternoon rolling C. Aston and A. Johnson, of Akron, whipped out a 1,204 for good money in the doubles. J. Smallwood and M. Su.na, also of that city, had a 1,176. Aston and Smallwood were Akron's best bets in the singles, each getting 613. John Ryan and George Rudolph, of Waukegan, Ill., gained first place in the doubles with a total of 1,321. The scores:

Sport Shorts

Peter De Paolo and Lou Moore today entered the 500-mile automobile race to be run at Indianapolis May 30.

Ralph Graham, former Kansas State fullback, today was appointed to assist Bo McMillin as football coach at Indiana University.

Organization of a professional football league to be known as the American Football Association, for cities of the South, Southeast and Southwest, was in the offing today as sportsmen met at Memphis, Tenn., with S. A. Godman, one of the sponsors of the move.

Primo Carnera has offered Tommy Loughran upwards of $100 a day to help him get in shape for his fight with Max Baer in June. Tommy is considering the proposition.

The Max Schmeling-Paulino Uzcudun fight at Barcelona, Spain, postponed when Max was injured in a fall last week, has been tentatively rebooked for June 5.

Tex Williams Rolls Pair of 300 Scores

Tex Williams, one of the best duckpin bowlers in the district, went on a rampage last night against John Kohen and rolled two 300 scores in a row on the Roxian alleys, McKees Rocks. He had a run of 25 straight strikes.

PAIR IN TIE FOR CUE LEAD

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—Eric Hagenlacher, of Germany, and Welker Cochran, San Francisco star, each scored a victory yesterday to remain tied for the lead in the international 18.2 balkline billiards championship tournament.

After Cochran had conquered Ora Morningstar, of San Diego, Cal., 400 to 209, in the afternoon match to pull ahead temporarily, Hagenlacher defeated Kinrey Matsuyama, the Japanese entrant, 400 to 282, and tie it up again in the night game. Each has won four out of five matches. Both won without much trouble. Matsuyama led for one inning, scoring 27 to 13, but Hagenlacher ran off 47 in his half of the second to take the lead.

Hagenlacher meets Morningstar this afternoon, while Willie Hoppe, of New York, will attempt to improve his position against Matsuyama in the night match.

SLOAN'S BROTHER DEAD

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Cassius Sloan, a brother of the famous jockey, Tod Sloan, who died recently in California, was killed yesterday by falling from a step ladder at his home in Queens. He was 67 years old.

COURT STARS COP JOUSTS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Resumption of first and second round competition comprises today's program in the annual Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U. singles handball title tournament on the courts of the Keystone Athletic Club. An even dozen matches grace the bill, among these being the inaugural fracas of Champion Theos Manos, K. A. C. ace, who, as usual, looms as odds-on favorite. Manos' opponent is S. L. Burgwin, Westinghouse glove and tennis star.

This afternoon's feature jousts are numerous. Parker Smith, home club luminary and third seeded entrant, faces a stiff test in engaging Dr. Phil Lapidus, cagy Y. M. H. A. contender, while Lou Alman, 1933 runner-up, takes on his Bellefield team-mate, Dr. Sam Alpern. Al Bialas, P. A. A. star and former premier, battles M. P. Hinnebusch, wiry Keystoner, and Loren Peterson, Y. M. C. A. darkhorse, attempts conclusions with Mike Hrycko, satellite from the same bailiwick. A promising tussle for the early birds looms for 2 o'clock when Frank Altmar, clever Y. M. H. A. aspirant, meets Regis Wallace, of the Downtown Y.

Peterson spilled the dope violently yesterday by eliminating Harry Kraeling, hard-hitting P. A. A. premier, in straight games, 21-17, 21-10.

Frank Koubek, youthful Keystone driver and fifth on the seeded roster, gained vengeance over Al McCabe, Y. M. C. A. glovester, for inter-club loop defeat. Koubek eliminated the agile Corapolis citizen, 21-17, 21-17. The summary:

First round—Regis Wallace defeated D. J. Richards, Sr., 21-12, 21-14; L. Peterson defeated Harry Kraeling, Jr., 21-17, 21-10; William Mulhern won from Lousek, by default.

Second round: William Rohaly won from Richardson, by default; E. S. Reno defeated F. E. Appleby, 14-21, 21-6, 21-12; E. Curtis Clark won from George Hartman, by default; Frank Koubek defeated A. D. McCabe, Jr., 21-17, 21-17.

PANTHER FLOOR CARD SET

Six new opponents are included in the 1934-35 University of Pittsburgh varsity basketball schedule announced today by W. D. Harrison, director of athletics.

Iowa, Bucknell, Wisconsin, Fordham, Navy and Penn State replace Purdue, Minnesota, Ohio State, Army and Western Reserve. The schedule:

January 4, Duquesne, at Duquesne; January 8, Carnegie Tech, at Carnegie Tech; January 11, Bucknell, at Lewisburg; January 12, Temple, at Philadelphia; January 14, Fordham, at New York; January 19, Notre Dame, at South Bend; January 26, Westminster, here; January 26, West Virginia, here.

February 1, Navy, at Annapolis; February 5, Wash-Jeff, at Washington; February 8, Duquesne, at Pitt; February 16, Notre Dame, here; February 22, Georgetown, at Washington, D. C.; February 23, Temple, here.

BURKE BOXER K. O. VICTOR AT GARDEN

A crack field of amateur boxers went through their paces at Motor Square Garden last night in the Homewood-Brushton baseball club's annual benefit show and of the 12 bouts only one resulted in a knockout victory. More than 2,000 fans watched the action.

The lone knockout was scored in the middleweight division when Frank McLaughlin, of the Burke A. C., won by a technical knockout over Charley Prisalac. Braddock Library Club star, in the first round. A badly cut eye caused Referee Chick Rogers to stop the action.

The heavyweight scrap scheduled between Jimmy Jones and Pete Landini was canceled when Jones was unable to appear due to illness. The summary:

LOCAL STARS WIN

TORONTO, Ontario, April 3.—(AP.)—Pittsburgh amateur boxers showed their superiority over local boys here last night. Three of the four visitors from the Steel City came through with flying colors.

RUNYAN WINS CAVALIER OPEN

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., April 3.—(AP.)—Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., professional, in addition to his championship title in the second annual Cavalier Open golf tournament, could boast today of one of the lowest 72-hole scores in tournament history.

Runyan, in retaining his crown in this tournament, shot a 270 for the 72 holes, or exactly 10 under par total he posted to win last year. His four rounds of 69-68-66-67—270 placed him eight strokes ahead of Harry Cooper and entitled him to the $300 first prize money.

Cooper in placing second scored 278, and on one round turned in a 64 for a course record. He took $250 in prize money. Bill Melhorn and Ky Laffoon were tied for third place with 281. They each won $175 in prize money. Craig Wood came next with 282, followed by Horton Smith and Bobby Cruckshank, of Richmond, with 283 each.

Halbert J. Blue, of Pittsburgh, defeated T. B. Thorsen, of Brooklyn, 5 and 4, while T. S. Jamison, Jr., of Greensburg, lost to Bayard Mitchell, of Philadelphia, 1 up.

FOUR ARE HELD DERBY CHOICES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 3.—(AP.)—Four horses are co-favorites in the future books for the Kentucky Derby, May 5. Mata Hari, Chicstraw, Sir Thomas and Piskulus all are held at 10 to 1 by Tom Kearney, St. Louis handicapper.

Mata Hari, owned by Charles T. Fisher, of Detroit, moved up from 8 to 1, individual favoritism because of strong support for the other three, each of which represents a different section of the country. The Fisher filly represents the Middle West.

Mickey Cochrane Quits Hospital

LAKELAND, Fla., April 3.—(INS.)—Mickey Cochrane, the $100,000 catcher-manager of the Detroit Tigers, who was stricken on the playing field with what at first was diagnosed as acute appendicitis, was discharged from the hospital here today.

Dr. G. C. Freeman, attending physician, said:

Cochrane said he was "feeling fine," and added:

"I'm going to Winter Haven for the game with the Phillies this afternoon, but I won't play for several days."

Col. Winn Again Named Turf Head

ALL-STARS WIN

JEANNETTE, Pa., April 3.—The Jeannette All-Stars, led by Burke at forward, defeated the Charleroi five of the Allegheny County League here last night, 39 to 32. Burke tallied 15 points. The lineup:

MEMORY TEST

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

How good is your memory of sports events, heroes and dates? Can you answer these questions?

1—Who is the owner of the St. Louis Cardinals?

4—When did Cyril Tolley first win the British Amateur golf title?

5—In which year did Honus Wagner last lead the National League in batting?

HOYT READY FOR CHISOX

SOX ON DEFENSIVE

Starting with the second round, big Hal had the Sox jumping through the hoop. He was reached for two runless saffies in the third, but in the other four innings he did not yield a hit.

Smith's fast ball, sinker and curve performed tricks in a big league manner. The lanky right hander had good hitters like Simmons and Dykes helpless.

CHILLYSAUCE

Most of the color owned by the White Sox was supplied by Connie Mack. Jimmy Dykes is one of the most interesting of the athletes on the present tour, and Al Simmons doesn't have to do much offstage stuff to offer a thrill to the fans. Al nevertheless is a good fellow, who seems to get a lot of the fun out of the game. George Earnshaw, sold to the Sox during the past winter, is a rare spectacle on the slab. He has long been one of the game's best right-handers.

For years a fight has raged within the Pirate squad for the first string catching job, but the present competition among the maskmen features a duel for the third string job. All of this has been brought about by the showing of Art Veltman, Oakland recruit, who vies with Earl Grace for the regular job. Tommy Padden and Hal Finney are fighting it out for the third berth, with Padden seemingly having the pole at present.

Paul Waner's absence from the Bucco lineup yesterday is a reminder that the great hitter seldom missed a ball game. Paul was bothered with a stiff neck as the team left Los Angeles, and Ross Gibson told him to take a day off. Gus Suhr is another Pirate who rates 100 in attendance. Gus does not believe in getting sick, and his fine physical trim enables him to throw off minor hurts.

It's always circus day in a small town when the big leaguers perform. This is especially true when two major clubs do their stuff. Pride in their leagues cause the athletes to give the interleague fights an added luster, so that the fans who pay to see games such as those staged by the Pirates and White Sox are getting the "Real McCoy." The only drawback en route is encountered when the clubs have to play on a hard scrabble field, which makes base running and fielding dangerous.

As the above paragraph was written, Fred Lindstrom, one of the Pirate greyhounds, came tearing pluteward from second on a hot single to center off the bat of Jenkins. Lindy was carrying the tying run, and his slide could not have been more desperate had Fred been fighting for a flag. And Lindy's efforts have resulted but when a player is hustling he looks for no soft spots.

STANLEY CUP SERIES ON

DETROIT, April 3.—(AP.)—Hockey's two birds of prey, the Detroit Red Wings and the Chicago Black Hawks, had their claws all sharpened for tonight's first clash of the best-three-out-of-five games series for the Stanley Cup, symbolic of world hockey supremacy.

The Hawks, who won the right to meet the National League champion Wings by defeating Montreal's Maroons Sunday night in Chicago, face at least a psychological disadvantage in the first two games of the Stanley Cup series.

Not since February 2, 1930, have they won a game at Olympia, scene of the battles scheduled for tonight and Thursday. Since then, they have tasted defeat nine times on the Red Wings' home ice.

The record of the two teams on Chicago ice is more favorable to the Hawks. In three games there this season, the Hawks have won one, the Wings one and the third was a tie.

The scene of the Stanley Cup warfare moves to Chicago after Thursday night's game, while the fifth game of the series, if a fifth is necessary, will be played here.

American League Drops Van Graflan

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—President Will Harridge has disclosed that Charles H. Donnelly, former National League arbiter, would replace Roy Van Graflan on the American League's umpiring staff for 1934. All other umpires on the American League staff, including Umpire-in-Chief Thomas H. Connolly, were retained.

No reason was given by Harridge for Van Graflan's dismissal, although it was known that several of his decisions brought protests from club owners last year. Van Graflan, the youngest umpire on the staff, broke into baseball as a pitcher for the Van Graflans, a team composed of Van Graflan, Sr., and his eight sons. He was on the world series umpiring staff of 1929.

FRENCH ACES WIN

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 3.—(AP.)—The French tennis professionals, Henri Cochet and Martin Plaa, made a clean sweep of their matches here last night with Bruce Barnes, of Texas, and Vincent Richards, of New York. Cochet defeated Richards in the feature singles, 6-4, 6-1, while Plaa downed Barnes, 6-4, 6-2. In the doubles Cochet and Plaa whipped Barnes and Richards, 6-2, 6-3.

Recent Gains In Dividends Break Record

By B. C. FORBES

MORE FAVORABLE changes were made in dividends during the first quarter of this year than in the first quarter of any other year in our history, this column's records reveal.

Mr. Forbes

In the last three months the upward revisions have well exceeded half the total for the whole of 1933. The contrast with a year ago is most impressive. In March, 1933, only 29 cheerful dividend declarations were made; this March they reached 148.

Unfavorable dividend news reflects equally emphatically the change in conditions and expectations. Twelve months ago there were no fewer than 211 disappointing dividend decisions, whereas last month there were only 20. For the three months the 1933 total was 381; this year's total only 64.

Examination of the type of enterprises now in a position to treat their stockholders more generously suggests that Americans are spending more freely on the necessaries of life, and on comforts and luxuries for their homes. They are also spending more freely for entertainment, recreation, travel and the like.

	1934	1933	1932	1931
February	111	42	31	70
March	148	29	43	80
Totals for first quarter	466	101	143	267
April		21	24	38
May		39	20	46
June		75	30	58
July		41	13	47
August		70	22	31
September		103	32	55

THE MAN WHO got the biggest "hand" of all at a recent insurance dinner I attended in Boston, was Walton L. Crocker, president of John Hancock Mutual Life. He has risen from the ranks of his company, drawing it upwards with him. He told me:

"In our experience, business has been improving. There are signs indicating an economic revival. Its continuance will depend on whether the recovery is natural or artificial."

I am running up against an increasing number of men who earnestly hope that Washington will, from now on, inject as few artificial restoratives as possible, that Washington will give the business and industrial and financial and investment worlds more opportunity to try to work out their own salvation, that law-makers and bureaucrats will shortly back away from the center of the national stage and permit the people to resume their daily activities less distracted by revolutionary innovations at the capital.

WALL STREET OPENED the week by marking time. Professionals still hesitate to take a definite stand.

U. S. Gold Output Up for February

NEW YORK, April 3.—The American Bureau of Metal Statistics estimates world gold production in February at 2,006,000 fine ounces as compared with 2,094,000 ounces in January. Output in the United States is placed at 268,000 ounces against 235,000 in January and Canadian production at 220,000 ounces, a decrease of 13,000. South Africa dropped to 826,000 ounces from 908,000.

STOCKS DULL IN FEEBLE TRADING

The dullness was pronounced and prices, as a whole, recorded inconsequential variations. While there were scattered soft and firm spots apparent, the list was virtually at a standstill.

Grains were again a little depressing, with wheat and corn falling nearly a cent a bushel at one time. Cotton, silver and rubber traveled in a small fractional range. Bonds were quiet and a trifle mixed. Sterling developed strength in terms of the dollar, but other exchanges were narrow.

Some of the alcohol shares, including Schenley, American Commercial and National Distillers, got up around a point. The rails were somewhat higher, as were several of the oils. Chrysler and Nash eased, but General Motors was about steady. A few specialties were relatively active.

Some mild selling of the steel stocks was attributed, of course, to the estimates of the American Iron and Steel Institute that this week's operations would average about 43.3 per cent of capacity, compared with 45.7 a week ago, and 47.7 a month ago. At the same time most steel authorities felt that the decline may be only temporary.

Although the utilities had few friends, due probably to the various inquiries now under way into rate-making and other activities of this industry, the majority did not exhibit particular heaviness.

Followers of the rails were encouraged by the American Railway Association forecast that freight car loadings for the second quarter would exceed the total for the same period of 1933 by 10.7 per cent. The estimate was based on information obtained from shippers through 13 regional advisory boards. At the beginning of the first quarter, however, shippers figured their demands at about 6.5 per cent over that of a year ago, while the actual advance for the 1934 period was around 20 per cent.

Market observers generally were in agreement that backing and filling sessions of the securities exchanges could be expected for awhile, at least until Congress acts on the control bill which has kept Wall street in a state of nerves for the past several weeks.

WHEAT CLOSES AT DECLINE

CHICAGO, April 3.—Trade sentiment regarding grain values became notably pessimistic today, and downturns of quotations predominated, with shrinking of speculative interest a conspicuous feature.

Attention of traders focused a good deal on Washington reports that experts of the Department of Agriculture were in favor of the newest bill to enforce further drastic regulation of commodity exchanges.

Wheat closed nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to 3/8c lower, May 85 3/4@85 7/8c, corn 1/8@1/2c down, oats 1/4@3/8c off and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

LONE STAR GAS PROFIT DROPS

Lone Star Gas Corporation reports for 1933 net income after taxes, depreciation, depletion and after cash dividends on the preferred and on the convertible preferred stocks of $2,837,818, equal to 52 cents a share on the 6,380,723 shares of common stock. This compares with 72 cents on the common in 1932.

'Gas' Control Plan Hearing Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(INS.)—The Petroleum Administrative Board will begin hearings Wednesday morning on two plans of the oil industry for voluntary control of surplus gasoline stocks These plans include:

1—A proposal of the planning and co-ordination committee for gasoline production control at the refineries.

BUSINESS STILL ON UPWARD CLIMB

By LEWIS HANEY

Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK, April 3.—Despite the fact that the latest weekly statistics now available still reflect recent labor uncertainties, the showing made last week was favorable. Business indexes pointed up.

The present indications are that data for the month of March will show a gain over February, although the rate of gain was retarded. March industrial activity seems to have been similar to the average for the year 1931.

Last week's report probably reflected the end of the recent letdown in steel production. The announcement of price advances to come is certain to bring a rush of orders. PWA activity will now be increasing as milder weather sets in. The railways are using money borrowed from the government for buying rails, track supplies and equipment.

Automobile production lagged a little behind the usual seasonal gain, but the manufacturers are now rushing to furnish dealers with the stocks of cars required for the usual April and May peak of the trade.

LULL TEMPORARY

Electric power production did better than usual for the season. Railway carloadings, it is true, dipped a little, but this may be attributed to the preceding labor uncertainty and some natural reaction in coal loadings. Miscellaneous and merchandise loadings did well.

As anticipated, wholesale prices were irregularly lower. But this was plainly due to a temporary lull in buying, and a resumption of the rise is practically certain.

The impression I get from reports on retail trade is that, considering the high prices, the volume was fair. Weather retarded pre-Easter sales. March, as a whole, however, seems to have been a good month, and especially so for the mail order houses, which benefited by government farm bonuses. Thus Sears, Roebuck, in the four weeks ended March 26, had sales 57 per cent above the same period last year, which is so far above the rise in prices as to be striking.

All in all, moderate gains in business activity seem probable for at least another month or two.

Probably the outstanding event of the week was the move to advance wage rates made by steel companies and other large industrialists. Doubtless this step is partly designed to forestall labor difficulties, political and other, and to keep control in the hands of the managements.

The move, however, fits in with the general idea of boosting prices and "creating purchasing power." From this point of view, it is a doubtful experiment.

STEEL PRICES HIGH

An immediate result has been a mark-up in steel prices, which are already high. That will drive in forward buying, and thus induce speculation and accumulation of inventories at a time when fundamental uncertainties remain.

And what about consumers? When you put more men on the payroll, you may increase the total paid. But at the same time you increase your costs and have to raise your selling price.

Then each individual laborer comes to market with his wage dollar. There he finds high prices. What can he do? The total payroll of the employer is larger, but his part of it is small. (It is smaller than it would be if he worked longer hours and did not have to divide up with so many among whom the work is "spread.") His wage dollars do not buy so much. "Consumer resistance" results.

Can a manufacturer make money by advancing wages to his employes on the theory that they will buy cars they help to make, thus merely giving him back his wage payments?

My thought is that this idea of spreading work and creating purchasing power looks toward inflation and another speculative upward spiral in prices.

Corporate Earnings

Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Corporation for 1933 shows net loss of $101,962 against loss of $274,887 in 1932. Surplus equity in earnings of subsidiaries total net loss for last year was $181,787 compared with loss of $274,800 in the preceding year.

Dow Drug Company and subsidiaries report for 1933 shows net profit of $78,806 after charges and taxes equal to 31 cents a share on the common stock, comparing with net loss of $194,323 in 1932.

Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates report for 1933 shows consolidated net income of $5,941,306, equivalent after preferred and preference stock dividends to 43 cents a share on the common. This compares with $3,125,914 or 68 cents a common share in 1932.

American Gas and Electric Company and subsidiaries report for 12 months ended February 28, 1934, net income of $9,686,859 after taxes, depreciation, interest, subsidiaries dividends, etc., equal to $2.72 a share on the common. This compares with net of $10,956,213 for the 12 months to February 28, 1933.

Universal Pipe and Radiator Company and subsidiaries net loss for 1933 was $594,205 against net loss of $1,294,924 in 1932.

Curtiss Wright Corporation 1933 report shows net profit $135,896 after depreciation, amortization, interest, development expenses, etc., equal to 12 cents a share on class A stock, against net loss of $594,874 in 1932. Unfilled orders as of March 27, 1934 totaled $6,504,763, compared with $5,345,890 on March 31, 1933.

Miami Copper Company for 1933 shows net loss of $531,137 after taxes, depletion, expense, depreciation, etc., against a loss of $1,418,956 in 1932.

STEEL OUTPUT INCREASES

Steel production in the Pittsburgh district increased sharply this week. Under stimulation of railroad buying and expanding demands from other consumers of heavy steel, output jumped to 36 per cent of capacity, the highest rate of the year. Last week production was at 32 per cent of capacity.

Steel plant executives are confident that further gains will be shown in coming weeks as various federal construction projects as well as additional railroad programs get under way.

Price advances announced last week will not help the industry for three months since most consumers are covered by contracts at old prices, but the industry expects the advantages of a higher operating rate to compensate them for the recently announced 10 per cent increase in wages.

BANKS' 'OTHER' LOANS GAIN

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP.)—The Federal Reserve Board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks in 91 leading cities gave the following summary of the principal assets and liabilities with changes for the week and the same week last year (in millions of dollars):

Davison Coke Cuts Loss for Past Year

Davison Coke and Iron Company reports for the year ended December 31, 1933, net loss of $1,567. This compared with net loss of $295,147 in 1932. No depreciation was charged on the Neville Island plant in either year. George S. Davison, chairman, said that through the issuance of prior preferred stock, interest on the $1,910,700 principal of three, four and five year notes was prepaid to April 1, 1935, when $1,060,700 will mature. This interest is therefore not reflected in operations. Sometime in the near future provision will have to be made for the payment of maturing notes as well as the balance due deferred creditors in the sum of $436,281, he declared.

Pennsylvania Railroad Increases Profit

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

Business Editor.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD made further strides in increasing efficiency in 1933. This is reflected in the annual report released today. The report shows that net income was increased in spite of the fact that traffic declined. While the road has suffered from the general business decline, its ability to show profits under the adverse conditions of recent years makes it one of the outstanding carriers from an investment standpoint.

Railway operating revenues declined $6,677,644 to $324,715,814. This was more than offset by the fact that $19,522,464 was saved in operating expenses.

After providing for all charges the net income available for the capital stock was $19,281,169. This was equivalent to $1.46 a share, or 2.93 per cent on the stock, which has a par value of $50. In 1932 net income was $13,573,536, equivalent to $1.03 a share, or 2.06 per cent. The increase in net income was $5,707,633.

* * *

System Reduces Operating Ratio

THE REPORT DECLARES the Pennsylvania System reduced its operating ratio to 69.6 per cent for the year. The operating ratio is the percentage of operating revenues required to pay operating expenses.

This was the lowest operating ratio since 1906, when all unit costs of operation, from material prices to wage scales, were on a much lower level. The ratio compares with 87.6 per cent in 1921, the first full year of corporate operation following the period of war-time federal control.

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the company, in his remarks directs attention to the great extent of the decline in business during the four years of the depression. As compared with 1929 the total operating revenues of 1933, amounting to $324,715,814, registered a decrease of $368,422,917, or 53.2 per cent. In the same period, however, operating expenses were reduced 54.7 per cent.

Paid Off Loan From Government

THE BALANCE SHEET shows the complete repayment, during 1933, of the $27,500,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan of 1932. This obligation was met out of the company's cash and the sale of United States Government bonds held as temporary investments. Cash at the end of the year, however, aggregated $19,167,337, and the total current assets were $85,874,310 as compared with current liabilities of $48,449,621.

The New York-Washington electrification project is to be completed south of Wilmington by the use of a $77,000,000 loan to be obtained from the Public Works Administration through the sale of the railroad's securities.

Chickie's Daughter

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Pippin kept awakening from brief intervals of sleep. Each time startled and her heart bounding as the desolate memory returned.

It was morning at last. She went over to the window and looked into the chill, gray light and the poplar tree bowing in a wind.

"Are we to do nothing, mother, even if today goes and we don't hear? Days and days may pass. We may never hear—"

At nine o'clock the bell rang—a sharp, piercing assault on their jagged nerves. Pippin sat with white, haggard face and clenched hands as Helena opened the door.

There was a letter. It was for Pippin. The writing was Vivian's. Shaking, and terror making her mind weak, Pippin tore the envelope.

Vivian Sends Letter

This was the letter:

"Forgive me for the night you have passed, Pippin. It is too late now to undo the bitter wrong I did in telling you. You were loyal and strong and precious. Stand by me a little longer, Pippin, and do nothing to make my departure public. I have gone away to settle things in the way that seems best to me. My mother does not know. I told her I would not be home for the weekend, so she will not worry. Don't communicate with her. I know that you and Sherry suffered awaiting my return. Now you may get desperate and feel you must go out and search for me. DON'T DO THIS! You will not find me. Keep faith with me, Pippin, and make Sherry see that he, above all, must be absolutely quiet. Tell him to go to his classes and act as though nothing had happened. I will send you a letter with all details of my plans tomorrow. I will address it to your own home. Sooner or later, my disappearance will be revealed, but I want this to be at a time which will not defeat my purpose in going away. Help me in this, Pippin, and take comfort in the assurance that any effort you might make to trace me would be absolutely futile. Love to you, Pippin, and a deep, deep gratitude. Vivian."

Pippin looked at her mother with stunned, burning eyes: "What does it mean?"

"It may mean she will go away until she gets over her heart-break."

"And it may mean — oh, mother—it may mean she is dead."

Feel Helpless

They sat there facing each other; this stark fact driving like a nail between their eyes. Dare they wait? Dare they take the awful chance? But what could they do to block her? Where look and how? If she has gone away to die then this purpose must already be accomplished; but if she wants to disappear, is it right to stop her?

Finally, exhausted and with a sense of cold depletion, Chickie murmured: "We can only run around like children frightened of the dark. Vivian has, perhaps, the best right to say what we should do."

So Pippin met Sherry and let him read the letter. He blinked and folded it, looking up with a sudden, heart-breaking relief. He thought the message hopeful. He was incredibly cheered.

Pippin returned to the apartment. She gathered up all her things. Then she stood in the middle of the living room and glanced about to see that all was in order. It had been such a gay little place with pots of waxy begonias hanging from the walls and nasturtiums flaunting at the window. Now the sunlight fell across the desk and she could see the envelope with the key protruding from under the blotter. She leaned on the table, shaking, and her mind a cold, mute lump of dread.

As they went to the door she said, dragging and reluctant: "This is a terrible thing we do, mother—this doing nothing—a blind, wrong, ruthless thing."

She drove her own car home, a high October wind in her face. She drove swiftly, fighting against a mad impulse to plunge into a ditch, to drop against the wheel and sob wildly.

She did not know how she could wait till tomorrow. She walked about her room telling herself in hot, smothering alarm: "It's all over—I know it is!"

Dreams of Vivian

The urge for activity — do something—anything—sent her again to Helena: "I can't bear it! Can't you think of something that might help?"

"No—nothing that would help. Plenty that may hurt."

She went back and threw herself on her bed. She fell into a deep, profound sleep. She dreamed of a forest — a great, black forest with all the trees distorted and casting frightening shadows. She went wandering about dazed and troubled. She was searching for something. But she couldn't remember what. Suddenly Vivian, in her tan dress and the little green feather in her hat, sauntered down a leafy path. Pippin cried out: "Oh you! I was looking for you!" Vivian said with a happy laugh: "Everything is all right. There was nothing the matter. We just imagined that!"

She dreamed this over and over. Sometimes Vivian passed, placing her fingers across her lips in a command for silence. When Pippin turned, she had vanished. Once she was looking through a building for her. At first it was the library. Pippin went through the corridors, catching phantom glimpses of Vivian's retreating form. She was finally on the roof. It was a skyscraper in the city. Vivian was standing at the edge and about to jump. Pippin ran toward her, giving out a scream

She awakened, her heart going wildly, her face and her hands dripping. She lay there with her eyes shut, taking in thoughts. They went into her brain in deadly, assaulting gushes like some poisonous drink poured swiftly between her lips.

"Did you call?" said Helena, standing at the door. "I thought I heard you."

"What time is it?"

"Nine o'clock."

"Is it still Friday, mother? Did you undress me?"

It was still Friday. Helena brought a tray and sat on the bed while Pippin ate.

She looked up and asked—knowing what the answer would be: "No news? I think I'll get up. I want to take a walk."

At 11 o'clock David came home. He brought the first edition of the morning papers. There was a headline: "San Francisco Woman Missing from Ship."

The account was meager:

"Linda Crane, attractive young woman who left San Francisco on the Yale, Thursday at 5 o'clock was missing when the boat docked at Wilmington Friday morning. A search of Miss Crane's stateroom revealed that her bed had not been slept in and the brown suitcase which she carried was completely empty. She left a small brown hat. According to a description furnished by the purser, the woman was about 22, well-dressed, good-looking and of blonde complexion. No one saw Miss Crane after she boarded the ship, but one of the crew remembers a young girl of this description promenading the lower deck near the stern about two in the morning. She is thought to have jumped overboard sometime in the middle of the night, when in the absence of a moon, it was very dark."

Had Brown Suitcase

Pippin sank into a chair, the room in a fog and her mind swooning.

Chickie took the paper from her limp grasp: "That's the third girl missing from a boat in a month. Why must you think it Vivian?"

"She had a brown suitcase—nothing in it."

But the vision of Vivian jumping from a boat; being sucked down and drowned; being so utterly blotted out and lost was more than her mind could take. She sat there fighting against thought — blank, shaken, emptied.

"No matter. It probably has no connection. I'll let you know the moment I hear."

At 2 o'clock Vivian's promised letter was brought in a special delivery.

Synopsis

Pippin, pretty daughter of Chickie, falls in love with Kevin McPike. Pippin and Kevin's sister, Kathie, are fast friends. Pippin is thrilled by the first real kiss she ever had—from Kevin. When Kevin goes to Europe to pursue his studies, Pippin meets Bill Lodge, a young ensign. He says he loves her, but Kevin is first in her thoughts. At a friend's home, Chickie meets Barry Dunne, the man who caused her so much sorrow. Chickie is afraid she will have to tell Pippin of her past. Pippin goes to a party with Bill, but after returning seems unhappy. She tells her father what she heard about her mother, and that she thought him responsible. David explains to her what really happened and Pippin is again happy. Chickie tells Pippin the real story of her life. Pippin goes on hikes with Gregg McClintock, senior at college. She then returns to college and has Vivian Drake as a room mate. Vivian's love affair with Sherry wanes. Vivian disappears.

Now Go On

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Enlarged pores head the list of stubborn complexion ills. To correct them the very texture of the skin must change. They arise through neglect of the complexion's needs or the habit of eating too much rich food. Be sparing with hot water. Use a mild, bland soap. Iron with ice once or twice a day. After the washing and the icing, lave with an astringent made by combining one ounce of witch hazel, one-fourth ounce of boric acid and one-half pint of camphor water. Let the lotion dry on.

Delicate perfumes are staging a comeback. Gardenia, lily of the valley, verbena, jonquil and mimosa are reclaiming their rights to grace the dressing table. Even violet is doing a return engagement. Such a revival of old time notions since the tiara has been hauled out of its hiding place and skirts have taken on fish tail trains. It's all rather romantic.

DOWNFALL OF NAPOLEON—ABDICATION—FAREWELL TO FAMILY, TROOPS AT FONTAINEBLEAU (Near Paris)

The disaster of Napoleon's Grand Army (1812) encouraged Prussia, Russia, Sweden, Great Britain, Austria, and Spain for a united drive against Napoleon. Successful at first, he was defeated decisively in the "Battle of the Nations" at Leipzig (1813). Retreating, Napoleon gathered a new army, only to be defeated again on several fronts, the British Gen. Wellington and Russian Emperor Alexander I entering Paris. Napoleon was forced to abdicate, April 11,1814 in favor of his infant son the "King of Rome", and received the Island Elba in the Mediterranean retaining the title emperor.

Taking leave from his second wife, the former Austrian Archduchess Maria Louise (whom he married 1810 after divorcing Josephine), his little son and reviewing (what was thought) the last time his troops, he embarked for Elba (location shown at right). (World Hist.)

WALLS—THEIR ELEMENTS—ARCH, GABLE

Above: Various bearing and non-bearing walls and their parts. Watertable is a horizontal projection to deflect water; course is a continuous horizontal layer of masonry. Arch is a bridge which takes up the load and distributes it to the abuttments. Coping of wall is the top cap to shed water and give a finished appearance; cornice is the projection at top of walls; gable is the triangular piece of wall under the gable roof. A pilaster (wall pier) is a vertical projection increasing rigidity of wall. A buttress is a pilaster with greater outward projection. A flying buttress is a masonry pier at a distance from wall, connected with it by an arch. (Gen. Science)

COMMON SALT (NaCl)

Common salt, sodium chloride, the raw material of most sodium compounds, is produced by mining solid deposits or evaporating salt water. Oceans carry about 3%, Great Salt Lake, Utah, about 20%, obtained from them by solar evaporation.

Most salt is produced by artificial brines, prepared by pumping water down to rock salt (above, in outer pipe) and recovering a saturated solution (inner pipe). This is called a salt well. Right: A Louisiana salt mine. (Chemistry)

THE DEATH OF MINNEHAHA

"Then he sat down still and speechless, On the bed of Minnehaha, At the feet of Laughing Water. At those willing feet, that never More would lightly run to meet him, Never more would lightly follow."

A gripping passus of Longfellow's Hiawatha, son of Wenona and West Wind, who married Minnehaha, the beautiful Dacota maiden, only to lose her.

DAVIS DEPARTS FROM ESCORT TWO DAYS BEFORE CAPTURE

Jefferson Davis (1808-1889), a Kentuckian, served as Congressman, Senator, General (Mexican War) and Secretary of State. On February 9, 1861 he accepted the presidency of the seceded states acting as such throughout the Civil War. On April 2, 1865, escorted by cavalry, he fled from Richmond before Grant entered. May 8, Davis departed from his escort; May 10, he was captured at Irvinsville, Ga.

Indicted for treason but never tried, Davis was held at Fort Monroe, Va., then released on bail, Dec. 25, 1868. (U. S. History)

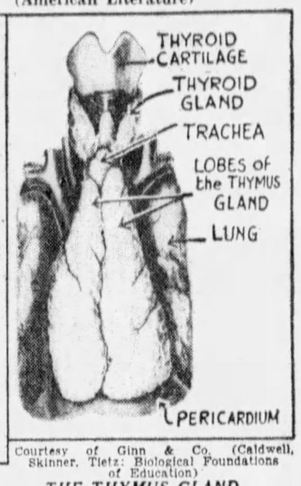
THYMUS OF TWO-YEAR-CHILD



Courtesy of Ginn & Co. (Caldwell, Skinner, Tietz: Biological Foundations of Education)

THE THYMUS GLAND

It is a two lobed structure in upper chest cavity along trachea, similar to that of a lymph node. It is a temporary organ, reaching its greatest size (1¼ ounce) at 10-14 years age after which it begins to atrophy.

Little is known about its functions. Prevailing theories: 1, It produces lymphocytes (a kind of white blood corpuscles) in the young, which start the lymphoid tissues (containing lymph) at various places of the body. 2, It removes excess guanidine (CH_5N_3) from blood and regulates its calcium content. 3, Prevents premature puberty.

Removal or disease of the thymus results in softening of bones, its over activity in enlargement of lymphoid structure (status lymphaticus) with marked tendency for sudden death from minor causes. (Gen. Science) 44-III-A

Going in the King Business

They say an American tried to buy a mountain kingdom in Europe so he could be king and sleep late.

The country he wants to auction in ain't so big. It consists of six hills on top of each other.

There is an army which is outnumbered by its own uniforms.

The purchase didn't come off. There was an argument over whether the queen went with the goodwill and fixtures.

There was a clause in the contract reading that the old king agreed not to start another kingdom on the next corner.

We were hoping that the deal would go through because no

American has been a king for a long time. He might make us a premier and educate us in the technique of resigning before revolutions.

It must be thrilling to have a menial bite his own shoes and say, "Your majesty, how would you like your weather today?"

We know some rich fellows have tried the kingdom stunt with an island. But it didn't work out.

There is a lure about the ermine and the deep purple that even a campaign speech cannot dull.

If the king finally puts the proposition over we will enroll as a non-resident subject. When war starts we will carry the mail.

Farley's Contracts

Upon the ground that they are unfair, Edward V. Rickenbacker—an American ace in the great war—publicly protests the terms upon which the Postmaster General calls for temporary bids by private companies to carry the federal air mail.

The seriousness of this charge lies in the fact that it not only reflects upon the efficiency of the Postoffice Department as now administered but challenges its integrity.

And this challenge finds support in the call for bids as issued by Postmaster General Farley.

In this call, Mr. Farley serves notice that where a corporation or association bids for one of these temporary contracts, it must submit with its bid an affidavit to the following effect:

That it has no officer or director who has heretofore entered, or proposed to enter, into any combination to prevent the making of any bids for carrying the mail, or who has made any agreement, or given or performed any consideration whatever, to induce any other person not to bid for any such contract.

If the purpose of this proviso were simply to exclude felons from bidding, it would seem to be superfluous, for under existing law no person convicted of a felony would be eligible to receive any government contract.

But Mr. Farley goes further in his ultimatum and reveals what appears to be its underlying purpose.

Mr. Farley clinches this ultimatum with the boast that he is vested "with sole authority to make temporary contracts" and that his decision concerning the eligibility of all bidders for these contracts will be "final."

This is, apparently, only Mr. Farley's way of saying that, having canceled all domestic air mail contracts as of the nineteenth of February last upon the UNPROVED ALLEGATION that they were obtained by "fraud and collusion," and having condemned, convicted and punished WITHOUT A HEARING the officials of the companies which held those contracts, Mr. Farley now proposes, by setting himself up as the "sole authority" and "final judge," to make his CONDEMNATION, CONVICTION and PUNISHMENT of these officials PERMANENT.

This is precisely what Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, and Senator Black, of Alabama, attempted to do when they introduced a bill in Congress to exclude by law from future bidding for air mail contracts any companies or citizens pressing a suit against the government, meaning, of course, the holders of air mail contracts which were canceled without a hearing.

This McKellar-Black legislative proposal aroused such a protest in Congress that it was finally eliminated from the bill.

NOW IT REAPPEARS IN THE POSTMASTER GENERAL'S INVITATION FOR BIDS FOR TEMPORARY CONTRACTS.

Congress forced the elimination of this provision from the McKellar-Black bill on the ground that it was unconstitutional, in that it would impose "legislative punishment without judicial trial."

The Supreme Court many years ago decided that such punishment constituted "a bill of attainder," which the Constitution prohibits the Congress from issuing.

If it was unconstitutional for CONGRESS to impose legislative punishment without judicial trial, how much more unconstitutional and intolerable it is for ANY OFFICIAL OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH to impose executive punishment without judicial trial.

If Postmaster General Farley has never read the federal Constitution, someone should read it to him.

If he does not know the meaning of a bill of attainder, someone should explain it to him.

If he so misunderstands the temper of the American people as to labor under the hallucination that they will tolerate "autocracy in the raw—despotism in its most offensive form," the sooner an investigating committee of the Congress summons Mr. Farley to the witness stand and reminds him of his error, the better it will be for the administration and the Congress now in power at Washington.

A Crime Prevention Plan

Some Plausible Arguments Are Offered in Favor of the Proposed Police Division

The Penal Affairs Committee of the Public Charities Association, the same committee which sponsored and put through the Juvenile Court bill, has asked City Council to create a protective division, or crime prevention bureau, in the Bureau of Police.

The Mayor, the Director of Public Safety, the Superintendent of Police, the City Solicitor and several of the councilmen have indorsed the plan in principle, and an ordinance putting it into effect has been drawn.

To disarm critics who may say that the city's financial condition does not warrant the creation of new places on the payroll, authority is given to postpone the creation of the division until "moneys appropriated for the Bureau of Police become available by reason of vacancies or otherwise."

The object deserves careful thought because of the standing of its sponsors as well as because of what it is said it will accomplish. They present some plausible arguments in it favor.

The most revolutionary feature of the plan is the part that women are to play in it. The sponsors have in mind a unit in the protective division to be headed by a woman with the rank and pay of a captain of police and a force of not less than 10 policewomen. To qualify for the positions candidates must have a college education and professional experience in social work.

It will be their duty, among other things, to keep a watchful eye on dance halls, night clubs, restaurants, hotels, parks and amusement resorts where boys and girls congregate. They are to devote themselves primarily to the protection of women, girls and small children.

The most impressive argument in favor of the plan is the statement that it has been tried and has proved successful in New York, Detroit and other large American cities. Crime has been reduced, it is said, and women and children kept out of the morals courts. Trained women social workers are better able to handle cases involving women and children than ordinary policemen or policewomen.

A plan for which such strong evidence is presented that it will save women and children, girls and boys, from crime and moral ruin is worth trying.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 3.—Paul Block, dividing time between running a great advertising agency and publishing a group of newspapers, has become a near neighbor. I see him frequently pulling up in his car or scurrying away to his office. He seems to get much out of life.

A rather shy gentleman, he flung himself into a career that has been largely farmed out to sharing his success with associates who helped him on his way up. Everybody at some time or other goes to Paul Block for guidance out of the morass. And he's never out.

In his middle 50's, he is a product of Elmira, N. Y., and, swamped in petty affairs, took a lot of the world's cuffings before he found his niche. This probably accounts for his deep reservoir of sympathy. In appearance he strongly resembles James M. Barrie, even to the robin bright eyes.

Quick, fluent and moody, he nevertheless broods over the affairs of men like a cloud of grave wisdom. Now and then he circulates at heavy expense a signed editorial expressing his contempt for a current injustice. His relaxation is the theater, there being few first nights he is not well down front.

Recently at a private ringle-jingle I had a close-up of the great he-man of the screen, Clark Gable. He seems entirely unaffected but rather bewildered by sudden recognition. There are still evidences of his knock-about career in the rubber plants and oil fields. One imagines he has a pronounced distaste for the dinner jacket. I forgot to ask if he knew Percy Hammond, but he likely does, for Cadiz, O., their native birthplace, must be the sort of community where everybody knows the other fellow. Incidentally, the Titian haired Mrs. Gable is not rough on the eyes, my masters!

How much more pleasant that is than to be linked in misery like a married couple I know. For 19 months they have occupied the same apartment without a word between them. During this farcical and nerve-strained stretch, each has formed other attachments, and before going out evenings the maid informs each where the other is going so they will not be thrown together. Yet night after night they sleep in adjoining rooms.

I think there is no place where a largesse of luxury is so pronounced since repeal as the new Ritz cocktails salons. All the heroes and heroines of modern society novel are there—the polo player, the hand-kissing nobleman, the newest divorcee and the Wall street nabob—brilliant as an electric light is brilliant. None of the dubiety that is the tissue of ordinary lives is apparent. The radio, the walk in the park, the neighborhood movie and other precious minims of the proletariat seem way out yonder.

Max Gordon, once a small-time vaudeville agent, has pumped more life into the legitimate theater these days than all other producers combined. He rolled up a total of four smash hits out of that many productions. To the Rialto he is a strange new figure from the clatter of the East Side flagstones. One of his phobias—a favorite among the artistic—is never to be alone. If he goes to the corner for a cigar he will hail someone to accompany him. He is least obtrusive of his guild. I doubt if a half dozen newspapers in the country have his photo in their morgues.

* * *

Max Gordon's brother Cliff was my favorite Dutch comedian in vaudeville's happier epoch. Tricked out in his Teutonic make-up, he exploded like a bottle of pop with grotesque hilarities. Yet he, too, had a surplus of inward biology that off stage made him the same shrinking figure of fog-like elusiveness that Max is. They came of an era of showmen not constantly exploiting themselves in cafes and night clubs.

ISN'T IT SO?

Another advantage in behaving yourself is that you seldom need ask the public to reserve judgment.

The girl who marries a man just to keep some other girl from getting him, lives to see the day she wishes the other girl had gotten him.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

What's the Cure for 'Going to Pieces'?

You're nervous, you say. Things upset you easily. Particularly strange things. New people. New situations. And of course this gets you into a lot of trouble.

You "act like a fool when you have to go strange places . . . don't know what to say, people think you're dumb." And "almost any little thing gets your goat." You flare up at trifles. Afterwards, you could "kick yourself all over the block"—but then it's too late.

That's why you can't ever hold a job for long. And why you make people so sore at you because you seem to fail them when they need you most. You don't want to fail them. You're not deliberately slow, or stupid, or stubborn. And you're positive it isn't because you're cowardly.

"It hasn't anything to do with fear," you insist. "I'm no hero but if I know I have to face real danger, I can be as brave as anyone. But it's the unexpected things that upset me. And that's because I'm high strung.

"I've always been that way. I take after my mother's side of the family; they were that way, too. So I can't help myself. I can't take things the way some people can. I'm different . . . I feel things a lot more; I'm more sensitive. I want to stand things, but I seem to go all to pieces.

"And it certainly isn't fair to blame me for feeling that way. I'd like to be like other people, but I can't. You can't help the way you're born. If people would only be a little more patient and considerate, I'd get along all right. I wouldn't have a bit of trouble if I could only take my time about things . . . get used to them, and then do them in my own way."

That's the way you feel about yourself, isn't it, partner? And you're honest—but you're wrong.

You're wrong, first, in thinking that you're "different" from most other people . . . that you "go to pieces" because you "were born that way." It is true that some people have more sensitive nervous organization than others, but ALL children are born timid . . . ALL children "go to pieces" easily . . . ALL children want to "take their time about things, do things in their own way."

Which simply means that WE'RE ALL BORN SAVAGES . . . UNCIVILIZED . . . DISLIKING CHANGES AND PRESSURE . . . DREADING STRANGENESS. And no matter who we are or what we are or what our station, we can only acquire poise and self-control by painful discipline.

You don't "go to pieces" because you've had too much pressure, but because you haven't had enough. You're not supersensitive . . . You're suffering from exactly the same self-consciousness, clumsiness, slowness and general peevishness from which a savage would suffer if removed from his jungle and forced to face Big City problems.

Nor will kindness cure you of that jungley shyness. Kindness is a gracious thing and we should all give and receive it. But it isn't the medicine for what ails you. If you want to think more easily, act more quickly, coolly and competently, what you need is not more kindness and consideration . . . . BUT MORE CRITICISM AND COMPETITION. There's only one way to learn how to live and that is by LIVING.

You can't learn how to get along with other folks by living in a padded cell and allowing only precise and polite people to contact you. If you want to get along with folks, you'll have to take them as they are . . . . hurried, worried, rude and rambunctious.

So what? So if you REALLY want to "be like other people," you'll have to be willing to live like other people. Which means:

Make up your mind to take life on the chin like the rest of the gang. GET OUT AND GET REGULAR!

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Her Face

What can I say to show
Her face, so you would know
If she should pass some day?
What word can fitly paint
Her charm: madonna, saint?
What phrase her grace portray?

I find no sentence sure,
All words seem weak and poor
And someway wrong;
This only I can tell,
And it should guide you well:
Her face is like a song!

Ah! Have you ever heard
The linnet, when dawn stirred
Across a leafy place?
Each note a ringing bell
To sound love's miracle!
That song is in her face!

Mayor LaGuardia's Lottery Proposal Calls Attention To the Wide Use of Lotteries by Governments

By Edwin C. Hill

AN INTERESTING tendency of the times is reflected in the special visit paid by Mayor La Guardia, of New York, to Gov. Lehman of the state. For the Mayor went to urge the Governor to support a legal lottery which would raise from 10 to 15 million dollars for the benefit of the unemployed. They don't call the scheme a lottery, but that is what it is. Lotteries were once labeled by Henry Fielding as "a taxation on all the fools in creation." Yet, about 30 governments in the world today are conducting lotteries, and taking their cuts as the most painless form of taxation possible in these times.

And, surprisingly enough, nowhere is the lottery as overwhelmingly successful as it is among the thrifty, gold-loving conservative French. What with the unbalanced budget, gold headaches, and so on, the French government has been desperate in its search for new revenues. A lottery was suggested. The tickets were gobbled up by the thrifty French with such feverish speed that even the pro-lottery people were amazed. The French seized on the national lottery, as a new amusement, with delirious enthusiasm, and forgot their troubles to speculate wildly about their chances in this new, gay national game.

The government rushed new issues, and the series proved such a success that at the end of 1933 those in charge estimate two billion francs, or around one hundred and forty million dollars worth of tickets were sold. From the total received, the French government gets 40 per cent for pensions and farm relief—a new revenue, falling like manna. But France isn't the only country astonished at the response to this reborn form of getting money.

* * *

Panama Wins With Sweepstakes

THE REPUBLIC of Panama participated very profitably in a sweepstakes on the Christmas Handicap run at Panama City on December 24, last. Tickets, sold in issues of $500,000, each, were peddled throughout the United States, thus painlessly taxing plenty of citizens of the United States for the upkeep of Panama public hospitals.

For years, the Irish Free State has taken a four million to five million-dollar slice of revenue annually from the thirty-five millions spent throughout the world for the several Irish hospitals sweepstakes based on the Epsom Derby, the Grand National and other horse races in England—where lotteries are forbidden. Most of the money invested in the Irish sweeps is spent by Englishmen and Americans.

Down in Mexico, a successful 20-million-dollar-a-year lottery is operated by the government. Around three and a half million is taken annually from total subscriptions for the support of public hospitals. Spain has enjoyed its 25-million-dollar Christmas lottery, once the biggest in the world, and sliced considerable revenue from it. Cuba has its lottery, and it flourishes even when governments are changing and people are being butchered in Havana streets. Mussolini is conducting more and more lotteries for various public works in Italy? Hitler, in recent months, conducted a national lottery to raise funds for unemployment relief. Sweden's national lottery is extremely popular, and the government's slice from it goes for the support of literature, art, drama and music.

With most of the rest of the world enjoying the dreams and revenues incident to lotteries, lotteries and sweepstakes of all kinds are prohibited in Japan, England and the United States. The serious-minded Japanese are notoriously poor gamblers.

Once, our forefathers, of both church and state, esteemed lotteries as a valuable institution of our national life. George Washington, in 1776, bought one of the first tickets in the Continental Congress five-million-dollar lottery, when Congress needed money to fight the redcoats.

In those days public lotteries constituted the most popular and effective method of raising money for the worthiest causes. King's College, now Columbia University, was founded directly on the proceeds of a widely advertised lottery. Harvard, Yale, Brown and Dartmouth repeatedly invited the public to take a chance for the benefit of higher education. John Hancock and Benjamin Franklin were among the chief patrons of various gambles for public progress and improvements.

* * *

Peak Reached in Louisiana Lottery

THE POPULARITY of lotteries reached a peak during the Civil War reconstruction period in the days of the Grand Extraordinary Louisiana Lottery. Once a ticket in this gamble reposed next to the small change in the old cracked sugar bowl on the shelf, in at least one out of every four kitchens in the United States. The lottery promoters, a private corporation, abused their privileges flamboyantly and extravagantly. At a time when the Louisiana Company was doing a twenty-eight million dollar a year business, the state collected only $40,000, annually, as its revenue. As a result, the Louisiana Lottery was exiled to Honduras, by Act of Congress in 1893.

The New York state law holds that anybody who "participates" in a lottery is guilty of a misdemeanor. The giving of "any consideration" for a chance to win a prize constitutes participation. If the Ladies' Aid Society of a Baptist Church in Zion City, New York, gives a charity entertainment, charges no admission whatsoever, but nevertheless gives a "chance" on a crazy quilt to everyone who attends, is that a lottery? It certainly is, under the law.

U. S. Defenses Weakened By Foreign Intrigue

By James T. Williams, Jr.

My ardent desire is . . . . to keep the United States free from political connection with every other country, to see them independent of all and under the influence of none. —George Washington.

AGITATORS FOR unpreparedness, north, east, south and west, have enlisted a new sapping expedition to undermine our national defense.

Balked in their recent attempt to prevent the passage through the Congress of the Vinson bill, which authorizes the building up of the Navy to equality with the strongest within the next five years, this band of sappers is now trying to prevent the voting by the Congress of any appropriation at this session to start this new naval construction.

These are the same sappers whose influence upon the House Committee on Military Affairs has been so strong in recent years as to make it the chief obstacle to the building up of the Army.

These are the same sappers who are waging an insidious campaign to deprive the Reserve Officers' Training Corps and the Citizens' Military Training Camps of the life-blood of federal support and federal control.

These are the same sappers who are flooding the country with propaganda which misrepresents as obsolete the policy of Washington and the doctrine of Monroe, and the advice and counsels and warnings of the Farewell Address.

* * *

Domestic Dupes And Alien Agents

HOW MUCH of the agitation of these sappers against American institutions and American policies and American defense is the work of domestic dupes, and how much is the intrigue of alien agents, only a congressional investigation by a joint committee of the Congress will reveal.

Such an investigation, if conducted by a committee composed of patriotic senators and representatives who put their country above their party, will show where the tail of the snakes of alien intrigue leads, and who are the domestic dupes of all such intrigue.

Such an investigation will show what alien agencies of various sorts, subsidized by the debt-dodging governments of the Old World, are now operating on American soil under camouflages that fool many innocent but gullible Americans.

Such an investigation will throw a flood of light upon the sources of a polluted tsream of anti-American propaganda that is now flowing from the Federal city, the cities of New York, Boston, Chicago, and other metropolitan centers, to Central and South American countries, to our insular possessions and to the war threatened countries of the Far East.

Such an investigation will unmask the secret instigators of a series of mendacious attacks that have appeared in this country and abroad within the last nine months upon the competency and loyalty of President Roosevelt's Secretary of War, and upon the chief of staff and general staff of the American Army.

* * *

European Plot Blocked at Geneva

THESE ATTACKS upon Secretary Dern, Gen. McArthur, and the Army general staff began soon after the United States, under their leadership, blocked at Geneva the attempt of certain debt-dodging governments of the Old World to hamstring the land forces and cripple the air forces of the United States.

These attacks upon Secretary Dern, Gen. McArthur and the Army general staff, which alien intrigue has incubated and disseminated, bear a suspicious similiarity to attacks which these loyal officials have recently suffered at the hands of certain noisy but fatuous politicians.

If the present Congress is fearless and sincere in its professed desire to explore and expose all sapping expeditions which seek to undermine the government of the Constitution, it will begin by turning the searchlight of an investigating committee upon alien intriguers and keep that light turned on until the domestic dupes of these intriguers are also identified and their eyes opened to their own deception.

And in so doing, the Congress will heed the warning of George Washington in the farewell address when he said:

"Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence, I conjure you to believe me, fellow-citizens, you ought to be constantly awake; since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government."
